

Greeters' Club Protests Dance

Cabinet Reviews Finance Hello Spirit, Lion Coats

Delegates from the Greeters' Club enlivened an otherwise routine session of All-College Cabinet Thursday night, when they requested that President Vaughn Stapleton verify the All-College dance reportedly set for May 24.

The Greeters' Club, a group of Hotel Administration students, has an All-College dance scheduled for Saturday night, May 25, and felt that Cabinet's dance would interfere.

At this point Stapleton announced that he had signed a contract with Les Brown and his orchestra Thursday afternoon, which could not be canceled.

After several minutes of discussion between the two groups, Stapleton delayed action on the issue, at the same time assuring the delegation that the Les Brown dance would help, rather than hinder the Greeters' hop. Stapleton's opinion was echoed by Cabinet members James Sheehan and Priscilla Wagner.

Student Finances

Before the discussion of the dances, Cabinet spent a two-hour session on regular business. Neil Fleming, graduate manager of athletics, explained the financial set-up of student government, including assessments, compensations, and class gifts. Col. Guy C. Mills, secretary of the State College Commence Club, spoke on the organization and purpose of the Club, of which five students are now members.

James Sheehan, chairman of the Lion coat committee, announced that the senior jackets could not be purchased because of a shortage of material, but the 161 Lion coats now on hand will be sold to eighth semester seniors.

These Lion coats will be sold at Student Union this afternoon and all day tomorrow for $1.00. The white box-style jackets will be available in sizes 16 and 18 for women, and 38 to 42 for men. A black lion will be stamped on the (Continued on page eight)

Froth, Humor Magazine Requests Contributions For First Issue In May

Froth, campus humor magazine, is calling for contributions for the first issue which is to be published early in May, William Brown and Hugh Ridall, co-editors, announced today.

Any student with a humorous article, material for Mug and Jester incidents (patterned after the New Yorker's "Talk of the Town"), photographs pertaining to student life of any size or cartoons should contact the Froth staff in 4 Carnegie Hall after three o'clock today.

According to Ridall, more than 100 people indicated their interest in Froth by turning out for the initial meeting Friday afternoon.

Since the magazine is a student publication representing the "Pulse of Penn State," Ridall said that it was not too late for students who failed to attend the last meeting to contribute if they contacted the Froth office this afternoon.

In traditional Dogpatch style, coeds will call for their dates and send them vegetable corsages. The corsages can be ordered from any of the local florists. "They'll be inexpensive," promised Mary Lou Waygood, Owens president.

Trailer Boro Plans Swims

Plans for a recreation program to feature a weekly swim at the Glennland pool were discussed at a meeting of the Windcrest borough council Friday night.

Other matters under discussion at the meeting included the improvements now under way in the trailer camp under the supervision of George W. Ebert, superintendent of grounds and buildings. It was decided that signs, warning drivers of a maximum speed of ten miles per hour in the trailer borough, will be erected.

The play yard and its fence have now been completed, and it is being used although the swings and see-saws have not yet been installed. The wives of Windcrest have agreed to take turns in acting as playground supervisor.

Approximately a half-acre of ground on the hill above Windcrest has been plowed and fertilized by the college for use as garden plots by the trailer residents. Stanley Gross, burgess of Windcrest, has staked out 88 plots, approximately 20 feet by 35 feet each, and 58 of these have already been claimed. The remaining ten will probably be used by persons moving into the trailer camp during the summer.

The plots are arranged in two tiers, with a three-foot path dividing the tiers and two-foot paths separating the individual plots.

The gardening project will be conducted on an individual basis, each person planting and caring for his own vegetable garden, but an advisory committee will be appointed to help those who have had no previous gardening experience. Gardening tools provided by the College include 14 rakes and 8 cultivators.

The trailers are now being painted by the grounds and buildings department, a number of the trailers having received the first coat. They will be painted cream edged in green.

Powers' Choice

Marilyn Globisch

Globisch Named Nocturne Queen

On a flower-bedecked bandstand, Marilyn Globisch, John Robert Powers' choice for Spring Nocturne Queen, was crowned by Wesley Turek, President of the X-G-I Club at Recreation Hall on Friday night.

Mr. Powers' choice, according to a letter received by Ralph Lewis, dance chairman, "was selected on the basis of personality, character, and intelligence, as well as for natural beauty."

The New York model agency head stressed that his choice was influenced by his great interest and admiration for the "Natural Girl."

The queen, a swimming champion, holds the world's record for the 50 meter breast stroke, which she won in 1941, and the Middle Atlantic records for the breast stroke on the 100 yd, 100 meter, 50 yd, and the 50 meter distances.

She was also selected as the Soph Hop Queen in 1943 and the Air Corps Queen in 1944.

Marilyn, an eighth semester Physical Education major, is a member of Lakonides, the Physical Education Honorary and the Physical Education Student Council.

She was sponsored by Phi Delta Theta fraternity, and was escorted to the dance by Thomas C. Smith, a former State all-american lacrosse player who graduated from the college in February.

Cabinet Signs Les Brown

Les Brown and his orchestra have been booked for the all-college dance on May 24.

The "Band of Renown" was contracted by a turn of events, as Brown was tentatively scheduled to play in Jamestown, N. Y. that evening. When informed of the dance at the College, he decided to accept this engagement instead and will play at the Hershey Park ballroom the following night.

A native of Lykens, Pennsylvania, Les Brown started orchestra work there in his father's dance band. While a student at Duke University, he formed his own musical crew and since then has risen steadily until he now rests near the top of the nation's dance orchestras.

Last summer, Brown recorded "Sentimental Journey" and so popular was this recording that his outfit was termed "The band all America wants to hear." He now uses this tune as his theme song.

Lately, the "Band of Renown" has recorded "You Won't Be Satisfied" and "Come To Baby, Do." Vocalists with Les Brown are Doris Day and saxophonist "Butch Stone."

Preliminary arrangements for the dance have been completed by the committee, which includes: Vaughn Stapleton, temporary chairman; Walter Falkenburg, June First, Albert Green, Jeanne Hirt, Richard Lose, Charles Pfelegor, Michael Rosenberger, and Dick Sarge.
