

Youthful Editors Hold Convention

More than 400 Pennsylvania high school editors and advisers will hear 20 professional newspapermen, high school editors and scholastic newspaper advisers discuss high school newspaper problems in the 16th Annual High School Press Convention at the College, tomorrow.

First since start of the war, the convention is sponsored jointly by Sigma Delta Chi, national professional journalistic fraternity, Theta Sigma Phi, national journalistic sorority, and Alpha Delta Sigma, national advertising fraternity.

Speakers Head Program

Leading the speakers will be Stanley W. Calkins, president of the Pennsylvania Newspaper Publishers Association and publisher of the Uniontown Herald and The Standard, to keynote an all-day program with a "Welcome from the Pennsylvania Publishers."

Other speakers include Don Rose, Philadelphia Evening Bulletin columnist, and George Scott, College alumnus from the Associated Press' Washington Bureau.

Registration of delegates in the Daily Collegian office, Carnegie Hall, at 10 a.m. will be followed by a general assembly in 121 Sparks at 11 a.m., with Lambert Joseph, Indiana High School, president of the Pennsylvania School Press Association, as chairman.

Before adjourning at 11:50 a.m., the assembly will hear Mr. Calkins; A. O. Morse, assistant to the president of the College, discuss "Why Colleges Are Refusing You Admission;" Mr. Scott speaks on "Journalism as a Career;" and brief speeches of welcome from Jeannette Bosch, Theta Sigma Phi president, Stanley Ziff, Sigma Delta Chi head, and Carl Colombo, newly-elected president of Alpha Delta Sigma.

Discussion Groups

The 11:50 a.m. to 1 p.m. discussion groups led by Charles A. Paris, Altoona Senior High school, will include "Does My High School Newspaper Represent a True Cross Section of the School?" by Miss Evelyn Love, Vandergrift High school; general discussions on adviser and editorial problems, and a seminar conducted by Miss Isabelle Har-

(Continued on page eight)

Nippy, Spitz Player, Causes Dog Days at 'Kiss and Tell'

The calendar says it is spring but to Margaret Witt, director of "Kiss and Tell," these are 'dog days.' It is Marchbanks who is causing all the trouble.

Marchbanks comes in at the beginning of the second act. He must be petted and mauled around. He must be good natured. He must look like the Archer's family pooch.

A little blond cocker spaniel first tried out for the part. Penny was cute but he also had stage fright. He quivered and shook and squatted and wouldn't budge.

Corliss (Meg Marcy) tried to lead him across the stage. It was like pulling a muff on the end of a leash.

The next Marchbanks was a snowy white Spitz. His first act was to jump up on a folding seat. It folded. After being released Marchbanks held his left hind paw to his side and looked mournful. Then he put his paw down and started to play.

For calmness in a crisis, he was cast Nippy Keim, as he is called, is the dog of Mr. and Mrs. James Keim of High street.

"Visitors to rehearsals at the Little Theater must get a jolt," said Peggy, as Director Witt is known to the cast. "They hear voices coming from dark corners completely out of view of the au-

Harvey Fishing Class Poses For Life Cameraman

Seldom can a photographer representing the nation's leading picture magazine stroll around a college campus for two days without being detected, but it happened here this week. And what's more, Allen Grant, Life photographer, found girls at the College "very interesting and most cooperative."

Of course, he met only seven while on campus to do a picture story of George Harvey's fishing class—but all of them, he insisted, were "really wonderful."

Spends Two Days on Campus

Grant spent two days on the campus, and completed his picture assignment in one day, working from 10 o'clock Wednesday morning until 10 o'clock Wednesday night with only one-hour "breaks" for lunch and dinner.

A 26-year-old New Yorker who has been a professional photographer only four years, Grant said he was not considered a staff man but worked for Life almost continuously via an agency operating under the name of "Graphic Arts."

He explained that there are only 20 to 30 photographers on Life staff, but that there are 20

(Continued on page eight)

7th Semesters Plan Dance

Seventh semester students will hold their semester activity at the Phi Kappa Psi house on Locust Lane from 9 to 12 p.m. tomorrow. It will be a Vic dance and refreshments will be served.

James Sheehan, president, urges all to attend the affair. He announced that many were sent post cards notifying them of the dance. While his list is incomplete, he and his committee have been trying to contact as many seventh semester students as possible. He also stated that only seventh semester students and their dates were invited.

Sheehan appointed the following to handle the entertainment for the affair: Philip Hampe, chairman; Mary Louise Lamade, Catherine Stahl, and Patricia Treaster.

Mortar Board Holds Carnival

Pollards to Reign at May Day

Committee Names Coeds To Serve in Coronation

May Day will be a sister act this year, as Sally Pollard is crowned May Queen, and her sister Jayne serves as Maid of Honor.

This announcement was made last night by Ann Berkheimer, chairman of May Day, at a mass meeting for all coeds. Sally and Jayne were selected this week at elections sponsored by W.S.G.A. The coronation ceremonies are scheduled for 4:30 p.m. next Saturday.

The Queen's attendants will be Betty Rank and Barbara Smith, seniors; Shirley Kruman and Joyce Parker, juniors; Madelyn McCall and Virginia McCluskey, sophomores; and Nancy Romig and Mona Smutyan, freshmen.

To round out the Queen's court, Cynthia Dean and Marjorie Gamby will act as heralds, and Ann Garman and Aletha Potteiger as jesters.

Twenty outstanding coeds were named by the committee in charge to form the Honor Arch. They are Mary Eldrid Anderson, Anna Atkins, Nancy Bartch, Jean Barinott, Woodene Bell, Ann Berkheimer, Ruth Bollinger, Marjorie Blackwood, Jeannette Bosch, Mary Forrest, June First, Rita Grossman, Jeanne Hirt, Jan Jansson, Joan Schearer, Doris Stowe, Doris Stack, Jeannie Weaver, Rebecca Walker, and Priscilla Wagner. Senior women will form the Hemlock Chain.

Traditionally, the coronation of the May Queen highlights Mother's Day weekend. Prior to the crowning ceremonies, each women's dormitory has scheduled a Mother's Day tea, from 2:30 to 4 p.m.

Music Groups Plan Concerts

A series of five concerts will be presented by musical organizations of the College during the remainder of the semester, the music department announced today.

The seventy-piece College Symphony Orchestra will present a program in Schwab Auditorium May 12 as a part of the Mother's Day weekend activities. Featured at the concert will be Paul Teare, a senior in music education, playing the Grieg Piano Concerto in A Minor.

Prof. Frank Gullo will conduct the reorganized Penn State Glee Club in their first public appearance since May 19, 1942. On May 26 the annual Panhellenic Sing will be held.

The Blue Band will give an outdoor concert in front of Old Main June 2, and the series will close with a concert by the Treble Singers June 7, under the direction of Prof. Guy Woods.

ROTC Candidates To Get $500 In 2 School Years

Under the reactivated Army ROTC, candidates in the course receive approximately $500 in the two academic years of their training, the College military department announced today.

In addition to a commission, officers' uniform and 14 credits toward graduation, the candidate gets $20 per month throughout his first year. Camp pay is the rate of a seventh grade enlisted man, $50 or $75 plus travel pay of 5c per miles to and from camp.

(Continued on page eight)

Mortar Board Prexy

Marjorie Blackwood

Honorary Taps 16 Engineers

Tau Beta Pi, national engineering honorary, initiated 16 men students last night in the Penn State Club Room. The local chapter, Beta of Pennsylvania, is celebrating the thirty-fourth anniversary of its establishment at the College today.

Initiates are Frederick Andrews, Jr., Robert Barefoot, Robert E. Barnum, John DeLong, Wilbur Ebersole, Alden Emery, William Frankhouser, John H. Householder, Winfield Kilgore, Walter Kish, Sheldon Kohn, Robert A. Logan, Allison R. Palmer, Felix Roth, Samuel E. Tyson and Ernest L. Yost.

A semiformal dinner dance is being held this evening in honor of the anniversary and the new initiates at the State College Hotel. Thomas D. Bowman, associate professor of English literature will be the guest speaker.

NROTC Farewell Dance Features Campus Owls

College Naval ROTC unit will hold its farewell dance in the Nittany Lion Inn tonight from 9 to 12 o'clock.

Guests of the unit will be ship's company, officers and men, and College personnel who have worked in close contact with the Naval ROTC. Music for the dance, open only to present and former members of the unit, will be supplied by the Campus Owls.

Intermission entertainment will be provided by the committee under Edward LaVoice. Serving under Henry Brenner, chairman for the entire dance, are: Burton Ty-singer, programs; Edward Soza and Robert Stabley, refreshments; and Joseph Eastlack, invitations.

Junior Service Board To Hostess at Dance

Members of Junior Service Board will act as hostesses at the weekly dance sponsored by the Saturday Night Club at White Hall from 9 to 12 p.m. tomorrow.

The dance will be a stag or drag affair, as usual, with Tex Beneke, Tommy Dorsey, Benny Goodman, Woody Herman and many other bands "on the discs." An entertainment will be presented during intermission.

Freaks, Nylons Appear At 'Parking Lot Prom'

Throw the hoop over the lady's leg! See the freaks of the campus! Have your fortune told!

These calls and many more will issue from the "Parking Lot Prom" tonight as all sororities compete for business at Mortar Board's combined carnival and dance, set for the macadam parking lot behind the Sigma Chi house, from 8 to 11 p.m. In case of rain, the Prom will be postponed until tomorrow night, same time and same place, announced Marjorie Blackwood, president of Mortar Board, today.

Strip tickets for the dance, priced at 10 cents per ticket or $1.00 per strip of ten, are being sold in front of the Corner Room today. Three of these tickets may be used for admission to the dance, and others for entry at the individual sorority booths. Tickets will also be sold at the gate.

All proceeds from the dance will be used for the Charlotte E. Ray Scholarship Fund, Miss Blackwood announced. Music will be supplied by a juke box, and cokes, doughnuts and pretzels will be sold by the sponsors.

Caricatures and Raffle

Nancy and Joan Harrington will draw caricatures at the Alpha Chi Omega booth, while Ruthie Rosenbaum will raffle off nylons for the Alpha Epsilon Phi's.

Rustam Roy will tell fortunes at the Alpha Xi Delta booth, aided by two "harem girls" supplied by the sorority. Betty Ann Sheesley will sell ice cream cones for Beta Sigma Omicron.

At the Kappa Alpha Theta stall, Jane Spicher will be in

(Continued on page eight)

IFC Revives Trophy Prize

The Inter-Fraternity Council will award a scholarship trophy to the fraternity attaining the highest average this semester. This resumes the IFC's pre-war policy.

It was decided at a recent meeting of IFC, now that the fraternities have resumed their normal activities, to again make the award, beginning with the present semester.

"Fraternity men have always shown their desire for this trophy as it is a credit to the fraternity that wins the award," stated Jack Fore, chairman of the IFC Scholastic Committee.

To be eligible for competition for the scholarship trophy, each fraternity must turn a complete list of the active undergraduate members and pledges of the chapter in to Student Union or to Jack Fore at the Tau Kappa Epsilon Fraternity, not later than May 15.

Men's Athletic Honorary Initiates 14 Pledges

Druids, sophomore honorary society, recently returned to its former status as an honorary athletic society. Pledges for this semester who were initiated Tuesday night include the following: Milton Becket, swimming; John Benglian, boxing; Peter Berletic, baseball, football; William Bousall, gymnastics; David Faloan, wrestling; Donald Harris, track; Charles Krug, track; William Levy, ice hockey; John Rusinko, basketball; John Slusarczyk, boxing; Albert Spinner, football, track; Carl Stokes, swimming; Wallace Triplet III, football; and James Wolf, football.