

SU Representatives To Witness Alumni-Trustees Conference

Representatives of the student body have been granted permission to sit in on the second meeting of the alumni-trustee committee which will meet on campus Saturday morning.

The student delegates are primarily interested in discussing the proposed Student Union building, and stating the student's attitude toward the project. "We'll do all in our power to convince this committee that Penn State needs a Student Union building, and soon," announced Lawrence Foster, chairman of the all-college Student Union committee.

Tags, Petitions, Exhibit Mark 'Student Union Days'

A concentrated effort aimed at impressing the visiting alumni-trustee committee is the reason that today and tomorrow has been designated "Student Union Days" on campus. For the first time in recent years, the student body will have an opportunity to prove that they are backing the Union project by:

1. Wearing the Student Union tag which may be obtained from a member of the Student Union committee, or from the Student Union office.
2. Signing the petition that is currently circulating around campus, or the one at a booth in front of the Corner Room. Today is your last chance.
3. Visiting the Student Union exhibit on the second floor of the Main Library.
4. "Talk Student Union" to everyone you see. Who knows, one may be a Trustee?

Tomorrow afternoon, an open forum will be aired over WMAJ from 5:45 to 6 o'clock. Both students and faculty representatives will take part in a discussion about Penn State's proposed Student Union.

All members of the Student Union petition committee are urged to turn in their petitions at the booth in front of the Corner Room before 5 o'clock tonight. The petition will be presented to the alumni-trustee committee tomorrow morning.

Jack Harper

The Choicest at . . . Wagner's

FRESH FRUITS

Just Right For Those Sunny Days Ahead

WAGNER'S MARKET

204 E. College Ave.

The alumni-trustee board was appointed by the Board of Trustees two months ago.

Their assignment is to study the need for campus buildings other than those that accommodate the educational program of the College. The Student Union building is considered foremost on the list.

Permission for student representatives to attend the meeting and express the sentiments of the student body came from Trustee George H. Deike, chairman of the alumni-trustee committee. Deike stated that the action taken by the undergraduate committee on Student Union affairs gives evidence of the spirit which is prevalent among the students.

Tonight at 7 o'clock, a special sub-committee consisting of George Arisman, trustee, and B. C. Jones, representing the Alumni Association will meet with student leaders in the Alumni office to discuss their ideas as to what should be contained in a Student Union building.

Among the student leaders who will be present are, Vaughan Stapleton, All-College president; Joseph Steel, IFC president; Woodene Bell, Collegian editor; Joan Scheerer, chairman of Judicial; Charles Hill, second semester president; Jean Edelman, IWA president; Lawrence Foster, chairman of Student Union Committee; Eugene Fulmer, vice-president XGI Club and president of ISC; and Sidney Gold, Student Union publicity chairman. George Donovan, manager of the Student Union office will also take part in the discussion.

Among the points that student leaders will stress, is emphasis on having the proposed Union building dedicated as a memorial to the veterans of World War II. The idea was unanimously accepted by the XGI Club, All-College Cabinet, and ISC, at recent meetings.

Ag. Hill

Contribution to the festivities of the May Day week-end is the annual Dairy Exposition, an all-student show, which will be held in the Stock Pavilion at 1 p.m. tomorrow.

Redheaded Queen Reigns At May Day Ceremonies

By JANE WOLBARST

She's lovely, she's a red head, she's the May Queen of Penn State. Her name is Sally Pollard and her reaction to this honor is an enthusiastic, "It's wonderful!"

Sally hails from Mercer, one of those "wee little towns near Pittsburgh," and is the eldest of three children. She's never been a queen before so naturally it's a big thrill. And the fact that her sister, Jayne, has made May Day a family affair by being elected maid of honor adds a lot more thrill.

The May Queen is in the department of Home Economics, majoring in institutional administration. She seems to be the domestic type through and through for besides making her own white dress for May Day, she lists cooking as her favorite pastime.

"I love to cook, and collect recipes like mad. The only thing is I haven't tried nine-tenths of them."

Also on her roster of favorites is tennis and piano.

For the more personal statistics, Sally is 5'7" tall and weighs 130 pounds. Her hair is a deep red, more of an auburn, and she wears it long.

Probably the male animal on campus will be interested in Sally's idea of a good date.

"I don't like the smooth, play-boy kind. The type I like is sincere, wants to have a good time, and likes to enter into college activities."

This miss has brains as well as beauty. Her activities list is long: Mortar Board, Omicron Nu,

Art Students To Plan SU For Next Project

Through the cooperation of the Architecture department and Kenneth J. Heidrich, associate professor of Architecture, a Class B group of art students will use the proposed Student Union building as their next project. They will begin work on it Monday.

The all-college Student Union committee has offered a first and second prize for the two best projects.

SATURDAY NIGHT FIRESIDE AND OPEN HOUSE
Fireside Room—7:30 P.M.

STUDENT DEPARTMENT
Sunday Morning—9:30 A.M.

Westminster Fellowship
Sunday Evening—6:20 P.M.

Guest Speaker
Miss Ione V. Sikes
Philadelphia, Pa.

Thursday Matins—7 A. M.

"Don't be alarmed, Madam—all our copies of 'Duchess Hotspur' do that!"

COLLEGE BOOK STORE AND

RECORD SHOP

129 W. Beaver
Open Even'ngs

THE ALL-COLLEGE STUDENT UNION COMMITTEE

URGES EVERY STUDENT TO OBSERVE

STUDENT UNION DAYS

Today and Tomorrow

WEAR YOUR STUDENT UNION TAG

The Alumni Trustee Committee meets tomorrow morning. Prove to them we need and want a Student Union Building by wearing your tag.

Listen tomorrow from 2 to 3 p.m. to the Student Union Broadcast.

WEAR YOUR STUDENT UNION TAG