Meet 2 of the Men in Ath Hall

By LOIS MARKS

In spite of all prevalent opinion, there are men that see the second floor of the largest girls dorm on campus. They walk nonchalantly in the back door three times a day, and no one ever challenges them. They are the Ath Hall waiters, the only men on campus who stand for hours at a time waiting for women.

Bob Barnum and Ed Lucas are probably the two waiters best known to the women who eat in Atherton Hall Dining Commons, not because of any outstandingly nasty characteristics, but because they are always together. Bob and Ed are closer than Damon and Pythias. They are inseparable. They are both seventh semester chemical engineers, they are both independent, they both hail from approximately the same territory (Bob is from Wilkes-Barre and Ed is from Dunmore), they take the same schedule, and they room together.

Bob and Ed have been working as waiters in the Atherton Dining Commons for three semesters now. In fact, they have been here on campus for three semesters; they both transferred from Keystone Junior College.

"Working at Ath is swell," Ed says. "It's the best deal on campus. We get wonderful food, the same as you girls get."

"Sometimes you get what we don't eat; our leftovers, that is," interrupted Bob. "We save at least $15 a week by working for our board, and I don't think you could find a place that treats you better. Why, Mrs. Snyder, who is in charge of the downstairs cafeteria, serves us wonderful food. She makes the best coffee in State College, and she treats us just like a mother. We all love her."

Waiters eat their meals before they get up into the dining room. They have to serve three breakfasts a week and all the other meals. Breakfast shift starts at 7:45; this means that the first-shift boys have to get up at 6:30, at the latest, to get to Ath in time to eat and help serve breakfast. They must be in Ath by 12:25 p.m. to serve lunch, and at 5:45 for dinner.

"One thing that makes us mad," Ed says, "is when the girls purposely come in late and sit around. They don't seem to realize that we have one o'clocks to make, or that we might have something to do after dinner."

Meals in Atherton are served cafeteria style, and the waiters do not have to wait on tables. They clear the tables after the girls have left, and put on clean glasses.

"What do we think of the co-eds?" Bob asked. "Well, when I first came to work here it was like being at a masquerade when they take their masks off. At breakfast, it startled me to notice such a long parade of white faces, uncombed hair, and red, orange and purple lips, but pretty soon you get used to it."

"I never knew that girls were so catty until I started to work here," Ed claims. "They sit around gossiping at the table about last night's dates and how who acted with whom. Sometimes we feel like handing out saucers of milk. But anyway, you get to know all the gossip that way."

Ed and Bob asked us to put in a final plug for the Ath Hall softball team. The boys have organized a team to play in the intra-mural softball league, and think that the girls should come out and cheer for them. By the way, Bob plays center field and Ed plays left field.

Milton Solow Dies in Sleep

Milton Solow, a fifth semester education student, died in his sleep Friday morning from a heart attack.

A native of Philadelphia, Solow had shown no signs of illness or discomfort when he went to bed Thursday night. He studied through most of the evening and went to bed at 1 a.m., according to his friends. Russell Drumm discovered that he was dead when he went into Solow's room the next morning to show him that his letter to the editor had been published.

The body has been sent to his brother's home in Philadelphia by the Koch Funeral Service.

"HAWAII TO HEAVEN"

Charming Hawaiian-American novel by a Hawaiian Poet and Novelist.

"Sweetest, loveliest, most glorious book I have ever read. Others seem ordinary and trivial by comparison. So beautiful it seems sacred; so convincing and powerful, it washed the memory of all inferior books from my mind. Was never so fascinated by anything in my life."

Every page sparkles with enchantment. A cascade of wisdom and beauty, revealing so much information of special value to girls. Like immortal music, it leaves you stunned by its indescribable glory. Miss Geraldine Saulpaugh, Valatie, N. Y. Clothbound, beautifully illustrated $2.50 postpaid.

Those faculty members and representative of religious organizations who are partly in charge of Dr. Reid's visit are Rev. D. W. Carruthers, of the Presbyterian church; William V. Dennis, professor of rural sociology; John H. Ferguson, associate professor of political science; Betty Farrow, of the Penn State Christian Association; Rabbi Benjamin Kahn, of Hillel, Rev. E. E. Korte, of the Lutheran church; Rev. Malcolm Mussina, of the Methodist church; Harriet Nesbitt, assistant professor of public speaking; George E. Simpson, professor of sociology; Mary Jane Wyland, professor of education; and Henry Yeagley, associate professor of physics.

Dr. Reid will meet with the Fairmont Fellowship House group, the Inter-Religious Council, and with the student church cabinets and Commission VI of the PSCA. Students and faculty members may make appointments to interview Dr. Reid by contacting Mary Alden and Clara Urban at the PSCA office.

In 1859 Penn State began its existence with a faculty of five and an enrollment of 65.

... by wire and radio!

Maybe you've thought of the Bell Telephone System as using only wires. It uses and pioneers in radio too.

Radio waves are used to carry your voice across the seas to telephones in other lands... across water barriers here at home... to vessels plying inland waters and to ships out at sea. And before too long, radio links will provide telephone service for cars and trucks.

Radio relay systems that will carry long distance messages from city to city are now in the advanced experimental stage.

In every case the Bell System uses the kind of transmission, wire or radio, that provides the best service for the most people.
