

3 Department Heads To Retire

H. A. EVERETT

A. E. MARTIN

JACOB TANGER

Three department heads at the College will retire at the end of the fiscal year, the executive committee of the Board of Trustees revealed at its week-end meeting in approving the actions.

The department heads, all of whom will be retired with the rank of emeritus professor in their respective fields, are H. A. Everett, mechanical engineering; A. E. Martin, history; and Jacob Tanger, political science.

Two other administrators also will retire—E. B. Forbes, professor of animal nutrition and director of the Institute of Animal Nutrition; and A. S. Hurrell, director of vocational teacher education and director of education extension. Both will retire with emeritus rank.

Three additional members of the School of Agriculture staff will retire: C. O. Cromer, professor of farm crops; R. M. Decker, instructor in agricultural extension; and F. W. Haller, assistant in horticulture.

The third member of the Liberal Arts faculty to retire will be Dr. F. J. Tschan, professor of history, who will receive the rank of professor emeritus.

In the School of Engineering, Raymond O'Donnell, professor of hydraulic and sanitary engineering, will retire with emeritus rank.

Others include E. C. Wolf, laborer, poultry husbandry; T. D. Decker, mechanic, in the department of physics; and Alice C. Pennington, telephone operator.

The committee approved the appointment of William S. Vincent as professor of education, effective September 1; and Kenneth M. Autrey, associate professor of dairy husbandry, effective April 16.

21 Students Get 'Hello' $1

A smile and "hello" proved profitable to only 21 students during the recent "Hello Week" campaign. Although $60 and 10 tickets to the All-College Cabinet dance, Moonlight Magic, were to be given out, $41 and nine dance tickets were still on hand at the end of the week.

According to Priscilla Wagner, chairman of the committee, the greeting drive is not to continue. The organizations who donated the money will decide what to do with the remainder. It will probably be contributed to the cancer drive or saved until next fall.

Henry Bennett was the recipient of the one dance ticket. Following are some of those who received dollar bills: Clair Delong, Elsie Federoff, Harold Fish, Robert Goldstein, Joan Gramly, Margaret Landgraf, Harold Lenker, Arnold Reiling, Estelle Silver, Adrian Swain, Mathias Szezyller, and Willadeen Woodruff.

Architect To Speak

"When Democracy Builds" will be the subject of the internationally known architect, Frank Lloyd Wright, in Schwab Auditorium at 8 p.m. Thursday.

Wright, credited for his architectural genius and unorthodox views concerning building, is the man who planned the Guggenheim Museum for New York City. He also built a house above a waterfall at Bear Run, Pennsylvania. His genius designed a church in Kansas City with pillars of light, instead of a tower, augmented by a triple-decker parking space.

In Tokio, the Imperial Hotel which he designed is still standing despite impacts of the numberless earthquakes and the tremendous power of destruction unleashed by the American Air Force on the Nipponese capital.

The State College Community Forum is responsible for his lecture here.

Tickets are available for $1 at the Student Union desk or may be purchased at the door of Schwab Auditorium the night of the talk.

Blue Key

... elected the following officers at a recent meeting: Richard Lose, president; Albert Greene, vice-president; Lawrence Foster, secretary; and Roger Levin, treasurer.

Frizzell Picks Top Speakers

Beverly Waugh and James P. Jones received first and second prizes in the Extemporaneous Speech Contest held in 121 Sparks Friday.

Miss Waugh won the first prize of $50 for her speech "Priests and Prophets Unappreciated." Jones, speaking on "Sovereignty vs Law," received the second prize of $25.

Other finalists who spoke Friday were Richard Frontman, Kenneth Harshbarger, Francine Gittelmaier, and Andrina Winning.

Prof. John H. Frizzell was chairman of the contest, and faculty members of the speech department served as judges and committee members.

Whistles Will Be Used Throughout Week-Willing

You'll be hearing the sound of whistles for a while longer—that is, if you walk on the grass.

According to Chuck Willing, chairman of the Keep Off the Grass Committee, the whistles will be used for at least another week.

Members of the committee are Neil DeVries, Stanley Gross, Ruth Hemler, Jackson Reid, and Jane Wolbarst.

Veterans

... who have not received their refund checks for incidental fees may pick them up now at the Bursar's office.

Close Vote Defeats Amendment; Elections To Be Held in Fall

With a 4 to 3 vote, All-College Cabinet defeated the amendment calling for spring elections at its last meeting. Charles Hill, Thomas Lannen, Ted LeFevre, and Charles Willing voted against the amendment, and Robert MacGregor, James Sheehan, and Joseph Steele favored it.

Latin Week-End Begins on Friday

Latin American dances and music by Teresita and Emilio Osta will introduce a weekend of Inter-American conferences at Schwab Auditorium, 8 a. m., Friday. Tickets will be on sale at Student Union and in the dormitories and fraternities for 50 cents. Students, faculty, and grade school teachers are invited to attend the conference which will consist of seminars, lectures, and a Glee Club concert.

Fortune telling, fishponds, a movie and a dance at Rec Hall will only be part of the program for the Old Main Open House from 7:30 to 12 p. m. Saturday night. All campus organizations have been invited to participate in this annual event.

Hirschel Brickel, acting chief of the division of international exchange of the U. S. Department of State, will be the speaker at the Saturday luncheon. The Inter-American theme will be presented in Chapel on Sunday by Kurt Singer, author and lecturer. Sponsoring the conference are the Inter-American Demonstration Center, the Centre-Cultural Inter-Americano, and the Penn State Christian Association, in conjunction with the United States office of Education.

Faculty members in charge of arrangements are Dr. Paul Daugherty, Dr. William Gray, Martha Skaggs, James T. Smith, Mrs. Willa Taylor, and Mary Jane Wyland. Students heading committees are Margaret Ashenfelder, Helen Cox, Lawrence Driskill, Phoebe Forrest, Martha Harding, Grace McMillan, Jerry Miller, and Miles Nelson.

A concert by the Men's Glee Club directed by Frank Gullo at 3 p. m., Sunday will close the conference.

All Bike Riders

... must have their vehicles inspected and secure licenses, John R. Juba, chief of the State College police force, warned last night. Inspection and issuance of licenses is taking place at Boro Hall on Frazier street this week.

Reid to Lecture on Minorities

By LARRY FOSTER

"If I want to build up a set of reactions, it is best to spend time talking to the college students, because the sounding board of the community is the campus. Besides, students are always willing to discuss a topic," said Dr. Ira DeA. Reid who arrived at the College yesterday.

A professor of sociology at Atlanta University, Reid will deliver a lecture on "Minorities—Assets or Threats" in 121 Sparks at 8 p. m., tonight. During his four-day stay he will address several classes in sociology, rural sociology, and education.

When asked for a possible solution to the minority problem, Dr. Reid commented, "There are four theoretically perfect solutions for the minority people: extinction, exclusion, assimilation, and accommodation. In my address this evening, I will endeavor to examine the roles of the people who have been minorities.

DR. IRA DeA. REID

"It must be understood that a minority is not always determined by creed or race, but rather they are people who hold a subordinate place in our society."

When asked what major point he would like to put across during his stay at the College, Professor Reid said, "I am disturbed about the many people who want to do something about a particular problem. People are very anxious to act before they have a knowledge and faith in the problem. First there are things to know, things to believe in, and then, come the things to do. The adjustment of human beings is not to be done from a reaction to a frustration, but rather by a logical process."

Dr. Reid is traveling on the Negro Lectureship established by the American Friends Committee. During the present school term he has visited ten high schools and colleges before coming here. After leaving the College he will visit the University of Pennsylvania.

will not be staged until the beginning of the fall semester, and the present Cabinet will continue as the governing body in the interim.

Prior to the actual voting on the amendment, Cabinet shuffled through routine committee reports and regular business. Charles Willing, chairman of the "Keep Off the Grass" committee, passed out 100 whistles to Cabinet members and urged the use of them when a student or faculty member is seen walking on the grass. Fresco Committee Voted Vote of Confidence.

Woodene Bell reported that she and Stapleton had arranged an interview with James Millholland, president of the Board of Trustees, in regard to the completion of the Henry Varnum Poor Fresco in the lobby of Old Main. In answer to a request from Miss Bell, Cabinet gave the committee a vote of confidence to go ahead with the work involved in finishing the mural.

Charles Hill asked Cabinet again for an appropriation for a social fund for the second semester. Because there are 1500 members of his class, Hill felt that the $50 allotted to each semester was not a sufficient amount for his class party. He asked Cabinet for an additional $100, but LeFevre amended the motion to $50 and, with the exception of Steel, all Cabinet members voted in favor of the motion.
