

Freezer Group Sets Standards

The American Society of Refrigerating Engineers committee is in its final session at the College today as it winds up its work of establishing national standards for all home freezing units. Chairman of the national committee is John E. Nicholas, professor of Agricultural Engineering at the College.

Realizing the increasing importance and expanding use of home freezing units as a substitute for canning and preserving fresh fruits and vegetables, as well as meats, representatives of all major freezing units manufacturers are meeting to fix uniform standards for their product.

Professor Nicholas, chairman of this committee, is also chairman of the committee on farm refrigeration for the American Society of Agricultural Engineers. His most recent appointment was to the committee of the American Standards Association which combines national standards for the manufacture of all farm and home freezing units.

Meeting with representatives of the various manufacturers is an agent of the Agricultural Research Administration from the Bureau of Human Nutrition and Home Economics, Washington, D. C. A representative of the Good Housekeeping Institute, a consumer research agency, is also present at the meeting.

The various companies participating in the discussions are the Air Comfort Corp., R. H. Bishop Co., Commonwealth Edison Co., Coolerator Co., General Electric Co., Norge Division of Borg-Warner Corp., and Seegar-Sunbeam Corp.

Delta Theta Sigma Names Officers, Pledges Three

At a recent meeting, the Beta Chapter of Delta Theta Sigma elected the following officers: Ronald Clark, president; John Holbert, vice-president; Robert Christ, treasurer; John Vincent, secretary.

The following were received as pledges: Randall Campbell, Carol Hess, and John McKee. Counselor Arnold Lueck and Brother Edward Rohrbeck, alumni members of the Gamma Chapter of Delta Theta Sigma at the University of Wisconsin, presided at the dual ceremony.

Ordinance Research

Laboratory will hold an open house and picnic at the new calibration station at Black Mosshannon State Park from 3 to 7 p.m. Sunday. All laboratory employees and their families are invited to attend.

Reprinted from the June issue of Esquire

"I think he fainted!"

Campus Briefs

Pi-Kappa-Phi

... recently initiated John Antolick, Robert Auman, Gerald Berry, William Dietrick, Lawrence Gerwig, Harold Norris, Ray Plymyer and William Quay.

Penn State Club

... will install new members in 321 Old Main at 7:30 tonight. Nominations for officers and discussions of two future dances will also take place. President Michael Horen urges that every member to attend the meeting.

Archery Club

... will meet in Body Mechanics Room, White Hall at 7 o'clock tonight, according to Jeanne Thompson, president. A sound film, "Follow the Arrow" will be shown. All interested coeds are urged to attend.

Flying Club

... invites all students interested in flying to attend an organization meeting at the Pi Kappa Alpha house, 417 East Prospect avenue, at 8 p.m. tonight.

James Gemmell

... of the School of Education, has been appointed assistant year-book editor, by the Joint Publications Commission of the National Business Teachers Association and the Eastern Commercial Teachers Association.

Theta Alpha Phi

... national honorary dramatics fraternity initiated the following Sunday, Claire Cohen, Richard Frontman, Elizabeth Graeber, Lynette Lundquist, Portman Paget and Jane Staus.

Fencing Club

... will meet in the Body Mechanics Room, White Hall at 7 p.m. Thursday. All members are asked to attend.

German Club

... will meet 200 Carnegie Hall 7 p.m. tonight. The program will consist of a group of girls singing German folk songs under the direction of Mrs. Reynolds.

Pennsylvania Pressmen Discuss Reading, Appearance Changes

Improvements in appearance and readability of newspapers was discussed at the annual press conference sponsored jointly by the Pennsylvania Newspaper Publishers Association and the Department of Journalism of the College on Friday and Saturday.

A panel discussion, headed by Joseph T. Murphy, managing editor of the Wilkes-Barre Times-Leader and Evening News, cited use of war-born mechanical and scientific methods for speedier and more complete distribution of news stories and newphotos.

Others participating in the panel discussion included Walter Lister, managing editor, Philadelphia Record; Harry Hesselbein, managing editor, Johnstown Tribune; G. A. Harshman, general manager, Sharon Herald, and Errol H. Derby, managing editor, Greensburg Tribune. John H. Carter, managing editor, Lancaster New Era, was general chairman of the session.

Bowman Speaks

John R. Bowman, chief of research statistics, State Bureau of Highway Safety, said in an address that "there is probably no better single agency to lead a thorough educational and enforcement program than the newspaper."

"Give me a good newspaperman and a newspaper willing to print his writings and we will do more than any other agency in reducing deaths and injured on our streets and highways in Pennsylvania," Bowman said.

Newspapers must insist on freedom of the press at home as strongly as they do on international access to news, says William J. Thomas, editor of the Clearfield Progress.

Public Trust

Thomas declared newspapers have a public responsibility to print all the news and that reporters should consider their position a public trust comparable to that of men elected to public office.

Thomas lauded George Marthy, assistant city editor of the Pulitzer prize-winning Scranton Times, for what Thomas said was Marthy's honest and aggressive reporting, and praised the paper's editors and publishers who "backed him to the hilt" in his articles leading to the resignation of a U. S. judge.

Panel Discussion

Martin himself, in a brief talk as part of a panel discussion, told the conference, sponsored jointly by the Pennsylvania Newspaper Publishers' Association and the College's Department of Journalism:

"We must invest in scouting like the big league ball clubs do, so that we may find talented stars of our own."

SNEAK PREVIEW OF LES BROWN . . .

Get into the swing of this coming weekend . . . come in today for a couple of Les Brown's recordings!

MUSIC ROOM

Glennland Building Phone 2311

Dance To The Music Of . . . Les Brown! "The Band Of Renown"

You'll want to dance to the sweet music of Les Brown . . . All you've gotta' do is hear him and there'll be no doubts as to why you're humming HIS arrangements and tapping out the time to his solid swing. It's a State weekend never to be forgotten!

Featuring . . . Doris Day, "Butch" Stone and Jack Haskell!

It's the honey voice of Doris Day singing all your favorite tunes . . . and she's lovely, blonde and terrific! You'll beg for more of Butch Stone's novelty tunes once you've heard him . . . and the romantic touch in ballads is added by Jack Haskell . . .

Only Three More Days To Make That Date . . .

Make your dates, fellows . . . only THREE more days . . . Remember the date MAY 24 . . . Remember the time—9 to 1 . . . Remember the place—REC HALL . . . A SEMI-FORMAL dance and only $4.00 PER COUPLE . . .

Moonlight Magic

Tickets on Sale at AA Window In Old Main Friday Until 5 P.M.

Tomorrow Evening

The Allencrest will feature

Pot Roast of Beef

Served from 5 to 8 p.m.

W. Blau, just off Allen