Food Campaign Ends Monday

"Cans of food for 'Can A Man' should be turned in at Student Union," stated Doris Jenkins, acting chairman of the European Relief Committee.

The campaign, including a "Penny A Meal" project as well as the "Can A Man" drive will end Monday noon. It began last Monday.

The food and clothing collected will be sent to Europe in addition to a heifer which will be bought with "Penny A Meal" proceeds. WSGA has voted to make up any difference which may occur between the amount collected and the cost of the heifer.

Junior Service Board members went scavenger hunting through campus dormitories this week and collected old clothing which will be packed and sent to Europe. Boxes have been left in hostesses' offices for additional clothing.

refund checks should be picked up at the Bursar's office as soon as possible, stated Bursar Russell E. Clark.

Graduation To Take Place In Rec Hall

Commencement exercises will be held in Recreation Hall, 2 p.m., June 27, instead of in Schwab Auditorium at 10:30 a.m., according to an announcement by Eugene C. Bischoff, chairman of the public occasions committee. The committee rejected a student petition's proposal to hold the ceremonies on New Beaver Field.

Class Day exercises have been set for 10:30 a.m. June 27 on the steps of Old Main, Bischoff announces.

The petition, signed by a majority of the senior class and circulated by the Class Day committee, requested a change in time so that traditional Class Day ceremonies could be revived, and a change in location to New Beaver Field because of the large class and the desirability of an outdoor ceremony.

"The public occasions committee felt," said Bischoff, "that the size of the graduating class including both undergraduate and graduate students is not large enough to warrant making complete preparations in both Recreation Building and on New Beaver Field. This must always be done in planning for an outdoor commencement in order to make a change in case of inclement weather."

College to Take 4900 Students

Hopes of Pennsylvania veterans seeking admission to the College will probably rise today with the announcement from the president's office that 4900 students, 2725 of them freshmen, will be offered admission this fall.

President Ralph D. Hetzel pointed out, however, that only 2200, all of them upperclassmen, will be brought to the campus. The first-year students will be placed at State Teachers Colleges, undergraduate centers at Altoona, DuBois, Hazleton, and Pottsville, and at the Mont Alto branch of the College Forestry School.

No women students will be admitted to the campus, thus reserving all possible housing facilities for veterans.

College Fishing Class Appears in Today's 'Life'

George Harvey, fishing expert at the College, is the subject of a picture story in the current issue of LIFE magazine.

The experimental fly tying and fly casting class which was launched by the School of Physical Education and Athletics this spring serves as the background for the story.

The photographs, as prepared a few weeks ago by Allen Grant, a member of LIFE staff, show the class in session on the casting platform at the skating pond north of State College, and also two close-ups of Marilyn Globisch, one as she nets her first fish, and the other as she receives instruction from Harvey.

The other photographs show Harvey, as he demonstrates various casting techniques, and also a series of pictures showing the various steps in fly tying.

An Emergency Famine Committee has been established by various organizations under the leadership of the Common Sense Club. Representatives from IFC, AVC, the Nittany Co-op, and Windcrest were present at the meeting in which definite plans were drawn up for a constructive program covering food conservation and European relief.

These aims are to collect actual money and supplies to be sent abroad, and the designation of one day a week as Famine Day. Restaurants, movies, and churches have been asked to cooperate in this program, along with all town and men's groups. In this connection, the home economics department is printing a list of menus to be used on the 1300-calorie Famine Day each week.

This committee will hold a meeting in conjunction with the European Relief Fund, which has organized the women on campus, in the Atherton Lounge 8:30 p.m. Monday. In this way it is hoped to get the entire student body and town people behind a food conservation movement.
