

Waygood Wins Top WSGA Post WRA Elects Baker As Next President

Mary Lou Waygood topped Jean Nelson by 33 votes to win the post of WSGA president. Ann Baker defeated Jane Schlosser in the race for WPA president. 313 coeds cast their ballots. Installation will take place Tuesday.

WSGA vice-president Suzanne Romig won out over her opponent, Violet Gillespie by a margin of 48 votes, while Marjorie Gorham won the position of treasurer on the strength of 22 votes. Running against her was Patricia Kinkead.

Two ballots spelled the difference when Margaret Martin was elected senior senator over Catherine Garrett.

Fourth and fifth semester coeds named Patricia Meily junior senator, defeating Bunny Rosenthal. They were 12 ballots apart. Sophomore senator for the coming fall semester will be Janet Lyons who won out over Betty Lou Horn by 14 votes.

Susan Bissey will serve as town senator. Her opponent was Joan Pepper, who lost the election by 3 votes.

On the WRA slate, the vice-president will be Lee Anne Wag-

IWA, PSCHold 'Calico Caper'

Coeds will go to the "Calico Caper" in their very prettiest cottons at the request of the co-sponsors, IWA, and the Penn State Club. Music for the dance in Rec Hall from 9 to 12 Saturday night will be provided on record by many name bands.

Intermission will feature a surprise according to Esther Gershman, co-chairman of the publicity committee. Serving with her is Clifford Koelle. Other committee members are Suzanne Conroe, Thomas Dolphin, Michael Horen, Robert Kaplan, Shirley Radbord, and Vera Slezak. Shirley Levinson and Walter Pascoe are co-chairmen of the social committee; Gene Fulmer and Pascoe, of the lights and tickets committee.

Admission to the dance is $7.75 per couple and $4.00 per person.

OPA Survey Reports Inspection of Stores

Professor James A. Cross, in charge of the recent OPA ceiling price survey, announced that approximately 17 food stores, 5 automobile dealers and 20 restaurants had been inspected, and all reports sent in to the Bellefonte office by May 28.

Reports of violations will be received by Professor Cross in about three weeks. The next survey will start on about June 15, and will include a larger number of automobile dealers.

Section leaders for this survey were Donald Von Lunen, in charge of restaurants; John Ffahl, grocery stores; and Murray Friedman, automobile dealers.

Dean Steidle To Speak On MI Education Future

Dean Edward Steidle of the School of Mineral Industries will address the M. I. Society in 121 Mineral Industries, at 7:15 p.m. Tuesday. He will speak on the subject, "Where Does Mineral Industries Education Go from Here?"

An important business meeting will follow the lecture.

How Would You Spend $6000?

Joseph Steel, recently appointed chairman of the All-College cabinet committee on the disposition of funds, has announced that the committee would like to receive suggestions from the student body in order that no worth while suggestion may be overlooked in disposing of the $6000.

If you have a worth-while suggestion for the spending of this sum, don't fail to turn it in at Student Union on or before June 6.

Blue Band Gives Outdoor Concert

"Ballet of the Unhatched Chickens" from Moussourgsky's suite, "Pictures at an Exhibition," will be presented by the Blue Band in front of Old Main at 3:30 p.m. Sunday.

Other selections from the suite which the band will play are "Promenade," "The Old Castle," "Children Quarreling at Play," "Bydlo," "The Hut of Baba-Yaga," and "The Great Gate of Kiev."

Heading the program by the 83 members of Blue Band is "Trombones Triumphant," with an assemblage of eight trombones doing the honors.

Four student conductors who will wave the baton for four of the selections at the concert are Joseph Gavononis, Glenn Orndorf, Donald Sandt, and Albert Zimmer. Hummel Fishburn, professor of music and head of the department of music, will direct.

The remaining selections which the band will perform are: "March Militaire Francaise" by Saint-Saens, "Autumn" by Leidenz, "Rhythms of Rio" by Bennett, "National Emblem March" by Bagley, "Saint Louis Blues" by more efficiently and quickly.

At an official meeting of the representatives of the community and campus organizations participating in the Community Forum, Dr. B. V. Moore, head of the department of psychology at the College, was elected co-chairman of the Forum for the ensuing year. He will succeed James T. Smith, who has held that position for the first two years of the new organization's existence. A student will be selected sometime before the beginning of the fall season to serve with Dr. Moore. The rest of the executive committee officially elected includes the following: Hugh Pyle, booking chairman and vice-chairman of the Forum; Miss Jessie Haven, secretary; and Dr. E. B. Van Ormer, treasurer.

Those organizations composing the Forum during the past year

Memorial Exercises To Feature Walker

Judge Ivan Walker will be the principal speaker Thursday when the College joins the nation in Memorial Day exercises. The program will be held in front of Old Main at 11:15 a.m.

Because the calendar for the current semester is still on the accelerated plan, Thursday will not be a holiday at the

Bullinger Lists Graduation Plan

Regulations for the Spring semester commencement exercises have been issued by C. E. Bullinger, College Marshall. The academic procession into Recreation Hall will move promptly at 1:45 p.m., Thursday, June 27.

Candidates for degrees are asked to meet on the Mall in front of the Library at 1:30 p.m. The following Schools will gather on the Sparks side: Arts and Letters, Chemistry and Physics, Mineral Industries, and Physical Education.

On the Burrowes side will be candidates from the Schools of Education, Agriculture, Engineering, and the Graduate School. School banners will indicate the appropriate meeting places.

In case of bad weather, the candidates are requested to sit in the Recreation building according to the following arrangement. Those scheduled to meet on the Sparks side of the Mall will sit on the south side of the building, and the others on the north side. The Graduate School candidates are exceptions to this plan, and will sit on the south side beyond the bleachers.

Academic costume is required except for students wearing the regular uniform of the armed forces. Mr. Bullinger emphasized that only Presidential action will

Osborne To Address Faculty Luncheon Club

Milton S. Osborne, newly-appointed head of the department of architecture at the College, will address the Faculty Luncheon Club Monday on the subject, "Development of the Arts in Canada."

Osborne, since 1929, had been director of the department of architecture and fine arts at the University of Manitoba, Winnipeg, Canada.

College. President R. D. Hetzel announced, however, that 11 o'clock classes will be suspended.

Military units will form parallel to and inside the inner diagonal walks on front campus. The public, students, faculty, and staff may gather on the walks, the terrace, the steps of Old Main, and on the lawn back of the military units. Color guards and representatives of local veterans' organizations and the borough will stand just in front of the terrace between formations of the officers of the Army and Navy units.

After the military units have marched to position, there will be music by the NROTC band, followed by the invocation by Dr. Herbert Koeppe-Baker. Judge Walker will then speak. Following the sounding of taps, the flag will be raised while the National

SS Penn State Docks June 14

Recreation Hall will become the SS Penn State for one night, the evening of the Benny Goodman dance, sponsored by the Interfraternity Council, June 14.

According to Stanley Ziff, chairman of the dance committee, the students will enjoy a very nautical evening. Typical of the elaborate decorations planned is a 30-foot flagpole to be erected in Rec Hall. Pennants will fly and davits to support six lifeboats will be installed on the gymnasium wall. One wall is to be decorated as the captain's quarters.

One of the largest crowds in Penn State history is expected to attend the dance, Ziff believes. The affair will highlight one of the semester's "biggest" weekends which will also include the Thespian production "No Time for Trouble" and many fraternity houseparties.

The dance is to be strictly informal. As part of the plan to accommodate the large crowd, the usual fraternity booths will be dispensed with.

Featured with the Goodman band are Art Lund, male vocal-

Boalsburg Claims Birthplace Of First Memorial Day—1865

Folks in the quaint village of Boalsburg, three miles south of State College, claim their town to be the birthplace of Memorial Day.

Resting quietly in Penn's Valley at the foot of Seven Mountains, the town of Boalsburg is far enough from the main highway to maintain a solemn dignity. Boalsburg plays its historical role in a quiet, unassuming manner.

David Boal, the town's first resident, settled there in the year 1789. In 1808, the village was laid out, and its epoch-making career began.

It was during the Civil War, residents will tell you, that the practice of decorating a soldier's grave was first begun at the Boalsburg Cemetery. On the 4th of July, 1865, Emma Hunter, later Mrs. J. T. Stuart, went to decorate the grave of her father,

Dr. Reuben Hunter. He had been a surgeon with the 54th Pennsylvania Volunteers, and had died of typhoid fever at Annapolis, Maryland, on September 4th, 1864.

Cross of Flowers

As the story is told, young Emma was on her way to cemetery, located beside the Boalsburg Lutheran Church, when she met Sophie Keller. Together the young women went to decorate Dr. Hunter's grave. While making a cross of flowers and a wreath, they thought it would be fitting, considering the day, to decorate all the graves of soldiers buried there. Going home, they procured more flowers and laurel, and along with some friends, made a wreath for every soldier's grave.

The formal order of Commander-in-Chief Logan of the Grand Army, establishing the Memorial Day, was dated May 5, 1864.

Boalsburg's claim of being the birthplace, appears to be well-founded. Beath's History of the Grand Army states that soldiers' graves were decorated at Waterloo, New York, May 27, 1866, and at Cincinnati in 1867 which is after the date set for the inauguration of the custom at Boalsburg.

Keller Speaks

The residents of Boalsburg honor their war dead annually in the same manner. The ceremonies have grown more elaborate with the years, but a wreath of laurel remains as the symbol of tribute, just as it did on that 4th of July in 1865.

Tonight at the Boalsburg Cemetery, John O. Keller, grandnephew of Sophie Keller, will give the Memorial Day address. Keller is Assistant to the President, in charge of Extension, at the College.

Sixth Semester To Sign For Ski Lodge Party Guests Welcome—Willing

All sixth semester students and their guests who expect to attend the sixth semester party at the Ski Lodge tomorrow night should sign up at Student Union today before 5 p.m., according to Charles Willing, president.

Busses will leave for the Ski Lodge from the corner of College and Allen at 6:30 p.m. tomorrow, and will return at midnight. The only cost of the party will be for the bus fare.

Music for dancing and refreshments will be provided by the committee. "In the event of a jitterbug contest," commented Willing, "the committee is prepared to make a worthwhile award to the winning team."

Although the party has been scheduled primarily for sixth semester students, members of other classes may also attend if they sign up at Student Union.
