Lions Take Colgate, 6-5 Group Picks Martello For East-West Game For Seventh Straight

Led by Ken Yount, who racked up his fifth win of the season, the Nittany Lion baseballers stretched their winning streak to seven straight games when they overcame the Colgate Red Raiders 6-5, Friday at Hamilton, N. Y. Saturday's game was rained out.

Colgate out-hit the visiting Lions 9-7 and bunched four hits to tally four runs in the sixth after two solid blows had added one run in the fourth.

Heavy Scoring Gene Sutherland opened the Lion's big third with a single and then went to third when Yount connected for a double. A pair of walks, a fielder's choice, and singles by Ken Hosterman and Ogie Martella added up to five runs and the end of Mr. Heidel. Dick Veres replaced the Raider southpaw and retired the side.

The run that proved to be the mangin of victory for the Lions came in the fourth when Veres issued two comps to first and second baseman Kuczek made an

The North not only will have Army, the odds-on favorite to be national champion, as a player source, but the dark horse of the year, Princeton, who defeated the crafty stick-handling Johns Hopkins team.

The big game itself is a toss-up as past performances show and this year's contest promises to be an even tussle once again. The Northern contingent is being classed as a favorite by the Baltimore sports writers since they will draw players from the West Point and Princeton tens. The South, however, will have Johns Hopkins, Navy, and Maryland as a backbone, and these three teams are rated close behind the top North combinations on the season's performances.

By LUCY SEIFING

Tiny, energetic Jeanne Thompson is the only girl who fences in Rec Hall with the men's fencing team. She practices with them four nights a week from 4 p.m. to 6:30 or 7 p.m.

"My one ambition," she said, "is to score a point on Bob Harder, men's fencing coach, without him scoring on me first."

Jeanne is graduating this year and has been fencing for seven semesters, six of which she has been instructing at the girls' Fenc-ing Club in White Hall.

Fencer From Way Back "My first introduction to fenc-ing came," Jeanne said, "when I was a junior in high school and my brother practiced with me. He was a fencer at V.P.I. and though I didn't learn anything from him because I was his guinea pig, he was the one to blame for my interest in fencing."

When Jeanne came to college she found the opportunity to learn to fence and took advantage of it. She took her first lessons from Dr. Arthur Meyer, thus starting her fencing career.

Practice makes perfect and Jeanne has always worked under that theory. "To keep in form I practice in my room in Atherton and up at Rec Hall.

Bob Harder, her present instructor, was intercollegiate men's champion at the College in 1942.

Sizzling Civilians Anchor Navy Stick Squad, 9-4

The Navy's highly vaunted midfield attack mired down in the grass and mud of the golf course Saturday afternoon as the Sizzling Civilians pounded out a 9-4 victory over the boys in blue. (Kahki for summer.)

The Sizzling Civilians jumped to an early lead when "Fuzzy" McAdams slipped one past "Fatty" Meeker. From there on it was nip 'n tuck with the civilians doing the nipping and the swab jockeys doing the tucking. (Their skirts got in the way.)

One lone spectator turned up for the fray, Oops excuse me. Brawl I mean. Coach "Hick" Thiel was in his usual friendly jocular mood,, saying nice things about the boys. Roach Ameel, Thiel's shadow was in fine form as he helped Coach Thiel pass out verbal bouquets.

When the rain subsided and the trailed this by five counts.
