

Examples of Student Art On Exhibit in M.I. Gallery

Examples of student art from the College are now on exhibit in the Mineral Industries Art Gallery. The exhibit will be open until 9 tonight and from 8 to 12 noon tomorrow. Included are works done in the media of pencil, pen and ink, lithograph, crayon, wash, charcoal, water color, and oil.

Under the heading of drawings are contributions by Herbert Anderson, Walter Appel, Richard Aronson, Mary Armes, Mrs. Phyllis Billman, Mrs. Jeanne Huber Butler, Robert Christensen, David Dean, John Diehl, Ellis Goldstein, Morton Gornick, Kenneth Holt, Robert Johnston, George Kline, Gloria McCurdy, Phyllis Mottram, Anne Nelson, J. W. Rischeberger, William Rittenhouse, Betty Schmitt, W. Sippel, Bruce Sloan, H. C. Tait, and Eva Mae Winter.

Examples of elementary and advanced design are shown by Shirley Babb, Dorothy Coffman, Mary Cogan, Carolyn Currier, Robert Dinwiddie, Mrs. Lynn Doran, Mrs. Reba Esh, Cordelia Foresman, Edna Gales, Phyllis Harkin, Joan Harrington, Nancy Harrington, Jean Hootman, Phyllis Kline, Sarah Knapp, Jeanne Light, Janet Lyons.

Edith McClintock, Alice Miller, Dorothy Park, Janet Post, Suzanne Potter, Phyllis Reigle, Shirley Robinson, Dorothy Shenot, Beatrice Silverstone, Sarah Jane Smith, Joan Snyder, Prudence Stewart, Virginia Sykes, Palma Wakefield, James Walker, June Walter, Eva Mae Winter, Lorraine Yarka, and Harriet Zuch.

There are water colors by Joan Harrington, Nancy Harrington, Budd Ross, and Palma Wakefield; and oils by Mrs. Phyllis Billman, Catherine Challenger, Esther Gersham, Marian Hempt, Joan Harrington, Nancy Harrington, Martha Inwin, H. Kuehner, William Larson, and Lee McDaniel.

Of particular interest to coeds are the examples of advanced costumes design by Mrs. Jeanne Butler, Catherine Challenger, Joan Harrington, Nancy Harrington, Mrs. Selma Krause, Mary Lou Sweet, and Palma Wakefield.

Placement

Jobs Available

Opportunities for graduate positions for seniors are still available, announces George N. P. Leetch, placement director. Application forms and information on various types of jobs may be obtained at the College Placement Service, 204 Old Main.

Men and women students graduating this semester may obtain advice on the conditions existing in their fields and the approximate salaries they can expect.

The College offers 47 curricula in its 7 schools.

Fee Deferment Blanks Ready

Application blanks for the deferment of fees for the fall semester may be obtained now at the Bursar's office.

These applications must be filled in by the student's parent or guardian and filed with the Bursar no later than August 20.

"Students who plan to apply for deferment next fall should get their blanks at the office before they go home," said Bursar Russell E. Clark.

The total amount deferred in any semester may not exceed 60% of the student's fees above scholarships and other exemptions. For students who do not live in dormitories, the deferment may not exceed $50; for women living in college dormitories, the deferment may not be more than $150. Men living in college housing units may not defer more than $80.

Deferments for the fall semester are due November 12 and December 12. All students will pay their fees October 18.

X-G-I's Urge Students To Register for Voting

X-G-I Club members voted to urge voting-age students to register in Centre County, and discussed Fall plans at their final Spring semester meeting.

The registration proposal stated: "We encourage students of voting age to register in the Centre County commissioners' office, Bellefonte, in order to be able to exercise their rights and duties as citizens of Pennsylvania."

The residence requirements are a year in the State and 60 days in the voting district. Registration in a home district does not permit local balloting. The deadline for registration is 60 days before an election.

Fall events to be sponsored by the club include a Sweater Dance, October 5 and a smoker, October 8.

It was announced that Mrs. Doerner, 108 Old Main, needs veterans on July 1 to assist in registration for the Summer Sessions.

There are more than 40 honorary and professional societies active at the College.

NROTC Training Program Closes

Departure of 180 Naval ROTC trainees for personnel separation centers and civilian life will bring the wartime Naval training program at the College to a close this month, Capt. William T. McGarry, commanding officer, announced today.

Ten additional trainees will be commissioned, nine as ensigns in the Navy Reserve and one as a second lieutenant in the Marine Corps Reserve. Twenty-four of the 180 to be discharged will return to the campus for Summer Session. Four others are expected to receive degrees at Commencement exercises on June 27.

NROTC Operates in Fall

A Naval ROTC program, with trainees on an inactive duty status, will be in operation next Fall, Captain McGarry said. Legislation, now pending in Congress will, if enacted, provide payment of tuition, $50 a month, and uniforms. Trainees enrolled in NROTC under this plan would be appointed Reserve Midshipmen.

Whether or not this new legislation is passed, it is planned to permit trainees now enrolled, who will be discharged this month, to complete their training on the pre-war NROTC basis, Captain McGarry said. They will be civilians in status. Enrollment in the NROTC will entitle them to uniforms, and during the junior and senior year, one commuted ration. Summer cruises of long duration will not be required. On completion of their training, they would be commissioned ensigns or second lieutenants in the Naval Reserve or Marine Corps Reserve.

In addition to the 190 trainees who will depart at the end of the month, all officers assigned to the NROTC unit, except Captain McGarry and Commander C. M. Holcombe, executive officer, will be relieved from assignment here and revert to inactive duty.

During the summer months, Captain McGarry said, V-5 (aviation) trainees enrolled in the Navy Aviation Preparatory program, may attend classes here.

The training program here, which originally was known as the V-12 program, began in the summer of 1943 when more than 600 trainees were assigned to the campus. The Naval ROTC program supplanted the V-12 program last November. Since 1943, 3097 V-12 trainees and 484 Naval ROTC trainees have been enrolled at the College.

Liberal Arts School Adds Two New Curricula

"See America first!"

Veterans who have been roaming over the continents of the globe, and other students at the College, now will have a chance to see and know America better through her history, government, and literature.

Two curricula, American Civilization and Latin-American Civilization, have been established in the School of the Liberal Arts and will enable students to study more closely the history, literature, art, government, geography, economic system, and other phases of life in this country as well as "South of the Border." Each curriculum leads to a degree of bachelor of arts.

The purpose of the curriculum in American Civilization is to provide the student with a more comprehensive and better unified knowledge of the civilization of the United States. It is designed for the student who desires a humane, non-vocational education which will prepare him to participate intelligently in American life, or for those who desire to supplement their training in special fields, such as writing, journalism, and teaching, with a wide knowledge of American culture.

The Latin-American Civilization curriculum was established for students interested in studying the economic, diplomatic, and cultural affairs of the 20 nations of Central and South America. Both curricula will be composed of courses from various departments of the College, with the emphasis on English literature, history, and political science.

Portfolio Staff Plans Extra Newsstand Issue

An additional issue of Portfolio will appear at Student Union and newsstands before the end of the month, according to Editor Kenneth Edgar. This edition is not included in the semester's subscription and will not be delivered to regular subscribers.

The 20-page issue contains several features, including the stories of two Hollywood script writers, the Epstein twins, Philip and Julius, and "Pet Peeves" by Jean Alderfer.

Edgar announces that the first issue of Portfolio in the Fall will be on sale October 15. A complete reorganization of the staffs will begin immediately after return from the summer vacation and the editor urges interested students to try out for the staff.

Symphony Orchestra

... elected Robert Mulligan president for the Fall semester; Dorothy Cornell, secretary-treasurer; Marjorie Rex, librarian; and Robert Fredrickson and Frank Hess, co-managers.

Delta Upsilon

... elected the following recently: Jack Cameron, president; George Earnshaw, vice president; Jack Ward, secretary; and Pat Cheesley, treasurer.

The Browse

Songs in French by famed Charles Trenet are featured in our latest selection of recordings. Trenet is now in New York singing in one of the famed N. Y. night clubs. Hear these swinging rhythms . . . something new and different . . .

- La Route Enchantee
- Il Pleut Dans Ma Chambre
- Fleur Bleue
- J'ai Tu Main
- Tout Me Sourit

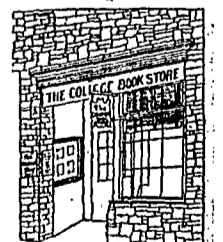

Well now for you guys, and gals who want sentimental somethings, it's Hoagy Carmichael and these hits . . .

- Doctor, Lawyer, Indian Chief
- Am I Blue

And his sweetest, album with . . .

- Sleepytime Gal
- Stardust

and others
Get Your Record Collection Additions Now

College Book Store
and Record Shop
129 W. Beaver
OPEN EVENINGS

Umm...

HUYLER'S CANDY

Fancy lemon drops, chewy caramels, peppermint sticks . . . all freshly packed in those blue and white Huyler's cans.

The
CORNER ROOM

FILL HER ARMS WITH FRAGRANT FLOWERS

It's a big day in her life . . . and flowers are the very nicest way for you to say "Congratulations!" Order either a lovely corsage or beautiful bouquet from our selection soon.

STATE COLLEGE FLORAL SHOP