ROTC Program To Add New Branches In Fall

Next Fall, the present interim ROTC course is to be greatly expanded and will be absorbed into the post-war program recently approved by the War Department.

In addition to Infantry, Engineer, and Signal Corps, several new branches are expected to be activated here.

In an effort to make the program more attractive, appropriations are underway to grant 66 cents per day to all basic cadets. In addition to the ration allowance of 66 cents now being granted to advanced course students, a pay of $1.25 per day is to be granted.

In order to receive a reserve commission, advanced course cadets will be required to attend a summer camp of eight weeks duration. The government will grant travel pay to and from this camp, which will be in this corps area. Five hours per week class time is also required, and the course grants three elective credits per semester.

'Offers A Course the College' In Pennsylvania Dutch Next Fall

"Kannst du Deutsch schwetze?"

Students at the College next semester will have a chance to learn to speak Pennsylvania "Dutch" since a course in Elementary Pennsylvania German has been added to the program of the German department.

Another unique course that will be offered next semester is Life and Culture of the Pennsylvania Germans. It deals with the history, language, literature, religion, folklore, art, architecture, economy, and agriculture of the Pennsylvania Germans.

German Spoken

"According to the best estimates, Pennsylvania German is still spoken by some 300,000 people and understood by about 400,000 over an area of about 17,500 square miles, or considerably more than twice the area of Massachusetts," Dr. Albert F. Buffington, of the department of German, says.

He pointed out that the language course, which is intended to give students an elementary speaking and reading knowledge of the language, should be of great value to graduates, particularly those who become teachers, lawyers, and physicians and settle in Pennsylvania German sections of the State.
