

Five Students Attend Confab

"Veterans and their problems are being ignored," said Senator John Dent of Westmoreland County in his address to the Pennsylvania Veterans Conference in Harrisburg on July 14.

Delegates from 165 veteran's groups in the state gathered to ask Gov. Edward Martin to call a special session of the state legislature to enact legislation for the welfare of veterans.

The X-G-I Club was represented by Eugene Fulmer, Pat Todd, and Theodore Rozelsky. Don Benton and Gayle Gearhart represented the Centre County Chapter of the American Veterans Committee.

Resolutions concerning education, jobs, housing, and bonus were drawn up and will be presented to Governor Martin as soon as he will meet with a committee elected by the Conference.

Among the education benefits requested is a $25 increase in subsistence allowances, the withholding of state funds to institutions practicing discrimination, and the appropriation of funds to increase teaching salaries.

It was resolved that the $400,000,000 surplus funds in the state treasury be utilized to expand veteran's housing and educational facilities, build hospitals, and grant a state bonus.

Over 250 delegates represented almost every veterans organization in the state. It was resolved that it is absolutely necessary to

(Continued on page three)

Gardening Expert Retires To Take Busman's Holiday

Now that Frank W. Haller, assistant in horticulture and superintendent of vegetable gardens at the College for the past 27 years has retired, he plans to do a little gardening—of his own.

"I've been neglecting my own garden," Haller, who was raised on a truck farm near Pittsburgh, says.

And gardening has always been his favorite occupation. He worked as an employment agent for an industrial firm in Pittsburgh for a short time, but went back to the food business.

"Gardening is one of the few types of work in which one can see tangible results, literally, 'the fruits of one's labor,'" Haller says.

Haller also served as director of the vegetable storage cellar, now a College show place, but originally a salesroom when it was built by the department of horticulture and the College farms.

But before Haller, who is a member of the Alpha Tau Omega fraternity and an honorary life member of the University Club here, starts to worry about his own garden, he's taking a two-month's vacation in Massachusetts.

There he plans to spend some time with his hobby, his grandchildren.

But while visiting his daughters, he also will operate a roadside stand for his sons-in-law in the mornings and lounge on the beach in the afternoons.

His work garb while managing the New England stand, will be a Lion Coat, such as is worn by graduating seniors. The back of the jacket bears a drawing of Old Main and the Nittany Lion, painted by Donald White, of 524 S. Allen Street, an art major at the College.

"Whenever anyone asks me where I'm from," Haller says, "all I'll have to do is turn around and show them the back of my coat. Anyone ought to be able to recognize Old Main and the Nittany Lion."

Singer

Earl Spicer, baritone, who will appear in Schwab Auditorium at 8:30 p.m. Thursday under the auspices of the College Summer Sessions office.

Steel Workers Institute Enters Second Session

The first group of 62 labor leaders, representing locals of the United Steelworkers of America, completed their course at the labor institute at the College on Saturday.

Registering yesterday in the Electrical Engineering building, the second group, which includes approximately 100 labor leaders, began classes yesterday afternoon which will extend through this coming Saturday. Other groups will also arrive here on July 21 and 28.

Men attending the weekly sessions are housed in the Phi Kappa Sigma, Sigma Phi Epsilon, and Acacia fraternities.

As part of the program, organized by the central extension office at the College, a weekly speaker is featured, using some current labor problem as his topic. As yet, no speaker has been announced for this week.

Next week, on Wednesday, July 24 at 8 p.m. in Schwab Auditorium, Edgar L. Warren, head of the conciliation service in Washington, D. C., will lecture on "Conciliation Service and Industrial Relations."

The following week, on August 1, Sen. Francis J. Myers of Pennsylvania will be the labor institute's lecturer. Sen. Myers topic is unknown at this time.

Library Lobby Exhibits Sybil Emerson Art Work

An exhibition of the drawings and paintings of Miss Sybil Emerson, assistant professor of home economics and art education, is currently displayed in the lobby of the College library.

The exhibit includes pen and ink, wash, conte crayon, and lithograph pencil drawings as well as wash paintings and illustrations from her children's books.

Miss Emerson's work has been exhibited internationally. She was awarded the first prize for graphic arts in the San Francisco exhibit of 1924, and the United States purchase prize for water color in 1940. Her work also includes murals for the children's rooms in the American Church of Paris and in John Wanamaker's.

Animal Nutrition Staff Publishes Food Article

An article prepared by four members of the staff of the Institute of Animal Nutrition at the College appeared in a recent issue of The Journal of Nutrition.

The article, entitled, "Relation of Fat to Economy of Food Utilization" was prepared by E. B. Forbes, R. W. Swift, R. F. Elliott, and W. H. James.

Grange Leader Says Subsidies Benefit Only Consumers

Lashing out against subsidy payments and price controls, Kenzie Bagshaw, a National Grange executive committeeman and past State Grange Master, declared that food subsidies from the government operated to benefit the city consumer rather than the farmer.

Mr. Bagshaw spoke Thursday afternoon to more than 200 representatives at the Leadership School for Grange Workers sponsored jointly by the Pennsylvania Grange and the College. Bagshaw, a Hollidaysburg dairyman, urged farmers and members of the Grange to oppose the re-enactment of price controls and subsidies.

He charged that subsidy payments to farmers led the city consumer to believe that, through tax money, he was supporting the farmer. Subsidies, Bagshaw said, destroyed the independence of the farmer, and tended to make him a ward of the government. He admitted that chaotic conditions would reign for a short time after controls were lifted, but he said that recovery would parallel that following the first World War.

Bagshaw spoke in a pro and con forum debating national issues facing the farmer on the final day of the Grange's three-day conference at the College.

Summer Dames To Meet For Tour in MI Building

Summer Dames will be conducted on a guided tour through the Mineral Industries Building at 3:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. All those wishing to join the tour should meet at the MI Building at that time.

Mrs. Robert Wolf was appointed secretary-treasurer for the Summer Session at a business meeting and tea held in Atherton Hall on Wednesday. Mrs. Frank D. Kern poured at the tea. Tentative plans call for a picnic, bridge games, social sewing, and a visit to the home economics handicraft exhibit scheduled for the last week of the Main Summer Session.

Dr. Sam Everett

will speak on "The Junior Red Cross and Education" in the Little Theatre, at 11 o'clock today. Dr. Everett is director of the Junior Red Cross in the Philadelphia public schools.

Frizzell Makes Speeches But Is Good Listener Too

Speech-making may be an art, but there's one expert who thinks that listening to speech-makers is an even greater art.

John Henry Frizzell, who has made a lot of speeches in his own time, also has proved a good listener. At last count, the College chaplain estimates he had listened to more than 30,000 speeches in his 38 years as head of the department of speech, professor of public speaking, and chaplain.

Frizzell, who retired on June 30 with emeritus rank, had been active in public speaking and debating before he came to the College, participating in both activities at Williston Academy and Amherst College, but it was as an instructor of English composition that he came to the campus in 1902.

"I taught English," Frizzell recalls, "but it also was the custom to unload on the 'greenhorn' of the department the job of teaching speech, in addition to his other duties."

Going For a Ride Frizzell learned, too, upon accepting his position at the College that it was an old campus custom

Attorney General To Speak At Education Conference

Summer Session Students, Faculty Members To Attend Pennsylvania Conservation Meeting

James H. Duff, state attorney general, will discuss "Water: A Basic Natural Resource in Pennsylvania" at the Pennsylvania Conservation Education Conference meeting in 121 Sparks at 10 a.m. Saturday.

Summer Session students and faculty are invited to attend the meeting. There will be no charge.

Other prominent state officials and delegates of numerous organizations interested in conservation will discuss current conservation problems with members of the Agriculture, Education, and Mineral Industries Schools of the College in a two-day conference Friday and Saturday.

Duff's talk Saturday morning will follow a panel discussion on "Conservation, A Job of Education," led by Harry Klonower, director, teacher education and certification, department of public education. The meeting will be presided over by Colin McF. Reed, president of the Pennsylvania Federation of Sportsmen's Clubs.

Other state officials included in the several programs are C. R. Buller, chief fish culturalist, Board of Fish Commissioners; Seth Gordon, executive director, State Game Commission; Miles Horst, secretary of Agriculture; Richard Maize, secretary of Mines; William E. Montgomery, deputy secretary, department of Forests and Waters; and Frances A. Pitkin, executive director, State Planning Board.

College staff and faculty members who will participate in the program are President Ralph D. Hetzel, Dean Marion R. Trabue, of the School of Education; Dean Edward Steidle, of the School of Education; Dean Edward Steidle, of the School of Mineral Industries; Dr. Logan J. Bennett, professor of forestry; and George J. Free, associate professor of education.

President Hetzel will preside over the meeting in Schwab Auditorium at 7:30 p.m. Friday. Following the introduction of officers representing the interested delegations, John E. Doerr, assistant chief naturalist of the National Park Service, will discuss conservation. Mr. Doerr formerly was head of the Rocky Mountain

(Continued On Page Three)

Calendar

TODAY

Lecture, "The Junior Red Cross and Education," Sam Everett, director, junior red cross, Philadelphia Public Schools, Little Theatre, 11 o'clock.

Lecture, "Technological Developments and the Vocational School," John A. McCarthy, assistant commissioner, State Department of Public Instruction, Trenton, N. J. 10 Sparks, 11 o'clock.

Softball League, Intramural Field, 7 o'clock.

Educational Film Program: "The Use of Films as a Teaching Aid." Panel: I. C. Boerlin, Teacher Education; Florence E. Taylor, Elementary Education; Abram Vander Meer, Social Studies; Ray M. Conger, Sports; and Margaret E. Riegel, Home Economics, 121 Sparks, 8 o'clock.

TOMORROW

Lecture, "The Challenge to Democratic Education," Leslie Pinckney Hill, President, Cheyney Training School, Cheyney, Little Theatre, 11 a.m.

Lecture "The Place of Aviation Education in the School Curriculum," James V. Bernardo, Aviation Education Division, Civil Aeronautics Administration, Washington, D. C. 10 Sparks, 11 a.m.

Bridge party. Make reservations before 5 p.m. Tuesday, by calling College Ext. 86-M. Atherton Hall Lounge, 7:30 p.m.

Phi Delta Kappa meeting, 124 Sparks, 8 p.m.

THURSDAY

Lecture, "Problems in Education and Certification in Vocational Industrial Education," Henry Klenower, Director, Teacher Education and Certification Office, Department of Public Instruction, Harrisburg, 10 Sparks, 11 a.m.

Concert by Earl Spicer, baritone, Schwab, 8:30 p.m.

FRIDAY

Lecture "Public Safety and Education," Amos E. Neyhart, Administrative Head, Institute of Public Safety, The Pennsylvania State College, Little Theatre, 11 a.m.

Motion Picture program: "Home Electrical Appliances, Snapping Turtle, and Endocrine Glands," 121 Sparks, 4:30 p.m.

Summer Social at the Wesley (Continued on page three)

Cobb, Warner Head PSCA Summer Session Work

Priscilla Cobb as president and James Warner as secretary will head the Penn State Christian Association steering committee for the Summer Session. Meetings will be held in 304 Old Main at 7:15 p.m. each Monday.

Other Summer Session committees are Worship, Betty Ann Condron, Lawrence Driskill, Ralph Leonard, and Marjorie Thomas; Program, John Gerstenlauer, Rustum Roy, and James Warner; Publicity, Mary Austry and John Bowers.

John A. McCarthy

will speak on "Technological Developments and the Vocational School" in 10 Sparks at 11 o'clock today. Mr. McCarthy, Trenton, N. J., is assistant commissioner of the State Department of Public Instruction.

(Continued on page four)