

OPA Official Talks on Rent

"Landlords who have not registered room accommodations with the OPA by October 15 are breaking the present rent control law," warned Kurt Schumacher, OPA Rent Control Administrator from Williamsport, in a speech sponsored by the Common Sense Club and the American Veterans' Committee Tuesday night.

Before an audience of townspeople as well as students Mr. Schumacher said, "My job is to enforce rent regulations, and your job is to co-operate. Together we can do the very thing rent control is meant to do, that is, to stabilize rents and thereby prevent inflation, and to prevent unnecessary eviction."

"Close to 4000 registrations have already been made by landlords of Centre County," he said. "Those who have not registered by October 15 are subject to $5000 fine and imprisonment."

"Every tenant should have received a copy of the landlord's registration, if he is living anywhere other than a rooming house," the OPA administrator explained further. "This registration shows the maximum rent that may be charged for such an accommodation. If the rent is higher than that of January 1, 1946, or if the tenant has never received the registration report from his landlord, he should report it to the OPA office in Williamsport," he said.

PARIS, FRANCE—At the Paris peace conference, Yugoslavia's delegate, Dr. Moshka Pijade, said it was too late for the parley to do anything about settling the east-west dispute over the projected international zone at Trieste.

He said that the whole problem should be sent to the council of foreign ministers, with a request that the Big Four find a solution.

The Yugoslav delegate also accused the United States and Britain of betraying the Big Four agreement on Trieste in order to establish an Anglo-American military base on the Adriatic.

"You're going to see some good football this fall" was the theme of Lion Coach Bob Higgins as he addressed more than 300 veterans at the smoker sponsored by the X-G-I. Club in Schwab Auditorium Tuesday evening.

"We've got some good kickers, passers, runners, blockers, and a good line, BUT so does everyone else," Coach Higgins continued. "Colgate's Andy Kerr is looking for an undefeated season, as most coaches are, Andy can't do it if we are going to do it."

Eugene Fulmer, program chairman, introduced Higgins as the climax speaker of the evening. First to address the group was Prof. Robert E. Galbraith, Veteran's Counselor, who advised the veterans of his various duties and admonished with—"If you don't have troubles, I'll be out of a job. Come in and see me in 109 Old Main."

Arthur R. Warnock, dean of men, next was presented. He welcomed the returnees to the campus and, citing the example of Coach Higgins, who returned to State after the First World War, stated that he hopes the men would become typical Penn Staters.

Dean Warnock stated, too, that veteran's organizations are good insofar as veterans' activities are concerned. He chided, however, that student government controls campus activities and urged that veterans enter into student politics.

At the conclusion of the program moving pictures of the Penn State-Penn scrimmage were shown and commented upon by Coach Higgins.
