MIAMI, FLORIDA—A hurricane which roared into western Florida yesterday morning dissipated its fury last night and fanned out over the interior of the Carolinas and Virginia. Almost no damage was reported in the storm's sweep from Tampa across Florida to west of Jacksonville, and on up the Atlantic coast.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—A message from President Truman read to the A-F-of-L convention in Chicago yesterday said the United States can enjoy "secure abundance" provided industry, labor and government cooperate fully. The President's message also said labor must dovetail its own goals with those of the nation because "the peace of the world may be at stake."

WASHINGTON, D. C.—UNRRA Director General Fiorello LaGuardia yesterday questioned the right of the House Surplus Property Committee to subpoena UNRRA employees. As LaGuardia's letter was read to the committee, the committee chairman—Representative Roger Slaughter of Missouri—jumped up and accused LaGuardia of "impudence" to Congress.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—If the State Department approves, the Army Air Forces will send a group of B-29 bombers on a flight around the world in the next few weeks. Announcement of the projected flight was made in Washington by W. Stuart Symington, Under-Secretary of War for Air. Symington said that the chief purpose of the flight would be to work out the technical problems involved in moving large airplanes great distances.

MINNEAPOLIS, MINN.—President Robert Wason of the National Association of Manufacturers declared last night that President Truman and Reconversion Director John Steelman "have destroyed the hopes the nation had for prosperity one year ago." Wason also assailed the OPA and the administration's labor and housing policies.

NEW YORK—Differences between Governor Thomas E. Dewey of New York and Senator Robert Taft of Ohio broadened yesterday when Taft assailed the Nurnberg War Crimes trials as "novel and hypocritical." In New York, Dewey said the German war criminals got a fair trial.

First Postwar LaVie To Appear in December

Volume 58 of the LaVie, student yearbook, will not be distributed before December. The book has been delayed by printing difficulties, including inability to secure paper.

This volume will include seven graduating classes, beginning with the June, 1944, class through the June, 1946, class. The book will be dedicated to the nearly 400 Penn State men who died in World War II.

The next LaVie, according to the supervising editor, Ridge Riley, will also include a history of the war activities and contributions of the College as well as a complete student record of the war years.

Sewing Center Opens For Veterans' Wives

Wives of veterans who have had little or no experience in sewing, have been invited to enroll in a clothing construction course that will be offered by the department of home economics at the College.

First meeting of the group will be held in 223 Home Economics Building, at 3 p.m. tomorrow. The time for future meetings will be planned at this session.

Wives unable to attend the first session may arrange their enrollment by telephoning Mrs. M. Mabel Fraser, College extension 157 prior to 5 p.m., or after 5:30 p.m., calling State College 2827.

Faux Orchestra Plays Saturday

"Sweater Hop," presented by the X-G. I. Club, will be the first big dance of the fall semester. It will be held at Recreation Hall from 9 to 12 p.m., Saturday, and it is open to all College students.

Six finalists for the title of "State Sweater Sweetheart" will be chosen by a group of six judges, known only to the dance chairman. The finalists will be viewed and interviewed on the band stand during intermission. All the finalists will receive gifts from the X-G. I. Club, sponsors of the event.

The "Sweater Sweetheart" will then be selected by the popular acclaim of the dancing audience. There is no special qualification for competing in the "Sweetheart" contest, except that the girl must wear a sweater and wear it well.

Ivan Faux and his 13-piece band will provide the music, featuring slow, sweet stylings. Faux comes to Penn State from a recent week's booking in one of Scranton's leading hotels.

Proceeds from the dance will be used for future free entertainment by the X-G. I. Club. Tickets will be on sale at the door at 75 cents per couple for X-G. I. Club members and $1.50 per couple for non-members.

Membership cards are available at the Student Union desk in Old Main.

President Orders Group To Study Future Plans For Automobile Parking

Long range plans for fulfilling the overall requirements for parking automobiles on the campus will be studied by a committee headed by Walter W. Trainer, supervisor of landscape construction and maintenance, on the recommendation of President Ralph D. Hetzel.

This move was deemed necessary in view of the encroachment of buildings included in the proposed building program of the College on areas now used for parking automobiles, and the increase in the number of student automobiles.

Members of the committee who will represent the difference schools and the student body are Miss M. B. Allgood, E. C. Bischoff, M. A. Blatz, S. H. Campbell, M. R. Cannon, L. A. Doggett, B. M. Hermann, Capt. Philip A. Mank, E. F. Osborn, E. H. Rehbeck, Dean A. R. Warnock, and C. C. Williams.

Knitting, World Series Amuse Culture-Seekers

Lines to end all lines have wound around Old Main's lobby the past two days. 340 students on Monday and 212 faculty members on Tuesday patiently, and otherwise, waited for the issuance of priority numbers for the purchase of Artists Series tickets.

For the fourth consecutive year Gunther Cohn, a graduate student in mechanical engineering, has copied the coveted first priority number. Cohn took up his first-place position at 7 a.m. Monday. Edward Martin, Michael Horen, Peter Horen and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Lewis alternated with Cohn throughout the day.

The faculty won out so far as early rising goes, one enterprising member being on the spot at 6 a.m. yesterday. They hadn't as long to wait, however, for Grounds and Buildings decided the congestion in the lobby constituted a fire hazard and the numbers were given at 10:30 instead of 4 p.m.

Knitting, reading, sleeping or just plain looking were the favorite pastimes of the students. A few ardent fans had portables with

New Yells for State; Cheer Contest To Open

A contest for new Penn State cheers will be sponsored by The Daily Collegian beginning tomorrow morning. This contest will continue through October 17. The winning yells will be presented at the pep rally October 19, on the eve of the Penn State-Michigan State game which is Homecoming weekend.

Requirements for the contest are that the applicant be a member of the college. Write one or more cheers on a piece of paper, add your name and either send it or bring it to the Student Union office. There is no limit to the number of cheers that may be sent in.

The prize, for the two best cheers, will be announced in The Daily Collegian tomorrow. Judges for the contest will include a member of the Collegian staff, a member of the Froth staff, Harold Benjamin, head cheer leader, Marjorie Dumfries, senior cheerleader, and Neil Fleming, graduate manager of athletics.

Martin Donates Thousand Books

The College Library today announced it had received a donation of nearly 1000 books from the private library of Dr. Asa E. Martin, retired head of the history department.

This collection includes extensive material of the American Revolutionary and Civil War periods, and also large sections on historic method and bibliography. Among the more interesting items are early American Journals; several hundred volumes of original records for the first century of our national life; Colonial records of Pennsylvania; and many contemporary pamphlets and writings on the slavery controversy from 1830 to 1860.

In addition to this donation Dr. Martin has also given some books to the Library Treasure Collection. This is a collection of rare books published mostly before 1800.

The Old Reliable

Ex-G.I.'s who ventured over to the Home Economics Cafeteria yesterday thought they were back in the Army again. Listed on the menu for lunch was "Barbecued Ham." Hopeful of getting a meat meal after a week on fish and vegetables, they blindly ordered this dish. When they dug into this "ham," they found the G. I. nemesis—Spam.

the World Series blaring forth. One of these was Gerald Gearheart, a comparative late-comer, not having arrived until 9:45. He was relieved by his brother at noon.

Patricia Mansen and June Irvin found themselves near the end of the line, not arriving until 2:30. A vicious game of Pounce, a glorified double solitaire, kept Ruth Webster and Alberta Leonard amused during the long wait. There was considerable bemoaning of missed lunches and considerably less of cut classes which just goes to show to what sacrifices our students will go for a chance at some real cultural entertainment.

IFC Outside Decorating Contest Features Student Union Theme

Att-en-shun!!!
ROTC requests the following men to report to 106 Carnegie Hall between 1 p.m. and 1:30 p.m. today. They are: Kosti John Bargas, Martin J. Doolin, Henry William Glass, William Van Hoagland, Thomas Lawrence Hogan, Robert Allen Kaplan, John Edmond Kelly, George John Lyckhoff, George Thomas Lyon, Raymond Henry Robinson, John Ernest Sease, Joseph Emanuel Shafran, and David Sinclair.

Limit Alumni To One Day

Because of the lack of housing accommodations in this area, a curtailed Homecoming program of "one day only" has been approved by the Executive Board of the Penn State Alumni Association. A record on-campus enrollment on top of the already overtaxed housing facilities in the community were given as reasons for the Board action.

Alumni are already being advised that they are "on their own"

News Briefs

Judicial Meets

Women's judicial board will hold its first meeting of the semester in the WSCA room in White Hall at 7 o'clock tonight. New members of the board chosen by Cabinet at the end of last semester are Lois App, chairman, Jane Healy, Katherine Badollet, Jane Spicker, Mary K. Rice Marie Shambacker, and Mary Eldrich Anderson.

New Reverend

Rev. W. Malcolm Brown has been assigned associate on the staff of the Westminster Foundation, according to Rev. Donald W. Orruthers, director of the Foundation of the Presbyterian Church. Reverend Brown will be available as a full time religious counsellor for men in Windcrest, and their families, and in the local community, in addition to his particular responsibility for service to returning veterans of the Foundation.

Calling Pilots

All reserve Army pilots interested in flying in Army planes from Mifflin County Airport (20 miles from State College) should sign up at Student Union before Friday.

Book Exchange Cash

Students may pick up cash for books sold, as well as unsold books, in the basement of the Main Library from 1 to 4 o'clock tomorrow.

Literature Club Meets

"How the Movies Distort Biographies" will be the topic for discussion in the first meeting of the Belles Lettres Club, campus literature group, in the southeast lounge of Atherton Hall at 3:30 tomorrow afternoon.

Additional Subsistence Checks for Veterans

The 200 veterans whose subsistence checks were erroneously interrupted on September 21, 1946 will be reinstated as of September 24, 1946, according to word from the Wilkes-Barre office of the Veterans Administration.

All checks for the balance of September should be received by October 15. Any veteran not having that check by then should notify Mr. John Bone at the Veterans Administration.

Trophy To Be Awarded To Fraternity House

IFC's annual outside decorating contest to be held this year during Homecoming Weekend, will have a Student Union theme, it was announced today by James Jones, committee chairman. The judging committee for the contest will consist of one alumnus, one member of the College's art department, and Daniel DeMarino, assistant dean of men.

There will be a limit of $10 on expenditures for outside decorations, and the entry fee will be 50 cents. Entry fees must be turned in to the Student Union office by 5 p.m. Monday.

A trophy will be awarded to the winning fraternity, and a second place house will be named. IFC hopes to have the winners announced at the Michigan-Penn State football game.

Entries will be judged 50 per cent according to their treatment of the subject theme, and 50 per cent according to their artistic quality.

The Student Union theme is being used because it is hoped that visiting alumni, impressed by the displays and the evidence of student interest in a Student Union, will be encouraged to contribute generously when the Student Union campaign is held.

Cattle Judgers Gain Honors

Several national honors were won by the dairy cattle judging team representing the College in the only national judging contests for intercollegiate teams in North America. The team, participating in the Waterloo Dairy Cattle Congress at Waterloo, Iowa, September 30, included John L. Walker, Floyd E. Rose, Lee D. Eisenhart, and Harold C. Nelbert, alternate.

The local team, the first in five years, won first place in judging Brown Swiss and placed third in the total score for all breeds, with Iowa winning the top placings and Ontario taking second. It also placed third in the Ayrshire breed judging, third for Jerseys and sixth in Guernseys.

Walker won second placings as an individual in judging Jerseys, Ayrshires and Brown Swiss, and placed eighth in judging Guernseys. He was also fifth high man for the nation in total individual scores.

Rose won third place in judging Brown Swiss in the individual classes. Professor K. M. Autrey, of the dairy faculty, selected the team's personnel and also accompanied the students. On the trip the team stopped at Ohio State University, Purdue University, and Iowa State College for practice judging sessions.

Besides the College team, the national competition included entries from Indiana, Michigan, Wisconsin, Iowa, Missouri, Texas, Georgia, Kansas, Tennessee, and Ontario. There were 1100 head of cattle at the meet.

Strangers Pushed Into Contest, Emerge Winners

Barbara Cooper and David Brocius were pushed into the IMA "Fun Night" jitterbug contest on Saturday night. They didn't even know each other, but they won first prize, claimed a leather tie clasp and a pair of nylon. Judges Red Moore, Leo Noble, and John Patskan of the football team, and the applause of the fun nighters acclaimed them a well-synchronized couple.
