

A Challenge

The Inter-fraternity Council deserves to take a bow for the foresight they showed in choosing the Student Union theme for the decorating contest this weekend. The subject is timely, and if the results come up to expectations, many alumni will leave State College impressed by our enthusiasm for the project.

Can't the sororities with houses go ahead and do the same thing?

Because of their campus location, the sorority creations would be viewed by many more alumni than will the fraternities on the edge of town. Also, such a move would give added evidence of college-wide interest in the Union drive.

Besides, sororities seldom have the opportunities for outward competition such as fraternities have. It might prove to be an outlet for hidden talents . . . in which case some fraternities might become embarrassed.

The lack of time might be considered as the only drawback . . . but more than likely will indicate where the resourcefulness lies.

Lawrence G. Foster

Tuesday, Oct. 15

X-GI Club, 121 Sparks, 8 p.m. Dr. Clifford Adams, "How to Pick a Mate," open to public.

WRA BADMINTON Club meeting, White Hall, 6:45 o'clock.

WRA BRIDGE Club meeting, White Hall, 7 o'clock.

WRA OUTING Club meeting, White Hall, 8:45 o'clock.

PUBLIC AFFAIRS Commission VI of PSCA meeting, 304 Old Main, 6:15 o'clock.

IMA MEETING, 121 Sparks, 7 p.m.

PENN STATE Club meeting, 321 Old Main, 7:30 o'clock.

PHI MU ALPHA meeting, 100 Carnegie Hall, 8:30 o'clock.

NITTANY-INDEPENDENT All-College campaign, 417 Old Main, 7 o'clock.

NITTANY-INDEPENDENT rally, Pollock Circle Dining Commons, 7:30 o'clock.

FROTH SENIOR Board meeting, Froth office, 6:30 o'clock.

CAMPUS-KEY Pep rally featuring Dick Burge and orchestra, Schwab Auditorium, 8 o'clock.

CAMPUS ACTION Committee of PSCA meeting, 304 Old Main.

THETA SIGMA PHI, 24 Atherton Hall, 6:30 p.m.

At The Movies

CATHAUM: "Smoky," Fred McMurray.

NITTANY: "Larceny and Her Heart," Cheryl Walker.

STATE: "Time of Their Lives," Abbott and Costello.

College Health Service

Admitted to the Infirmary Thursday: Betty Lehr.

Admitted Friday: Donald W. Ellis, Dorothy Leibovitz, Martin Lennig, Fred B. Ziesenheim.

Discharged Friday: Cecil Busler, Paul Langham, Jane Pool, Jean Steiner, Leonard Traines.

Admitted Saturday: Ruth Rosenbaum, George Swart.

Discharged Saturday: Milton Katz, Dorothy Leibovitz.

Admitted Sunday: John Williams.

Discharged Sunday: Donald Ellis, Betty Lehr, Martin Lennig, Sonia Padolnick, Jane Whitby.

Admitted yesterday: Leslie Fell, Harriet Huberman, William Klingensmith, Mary Lou Mahaffey, George Purnell, Frank E. Shuster, Phyllis Wannemacher.

Discharged yesterday: George Swart, Max Wendel.

Letters

A Reply to 'Russia'

TO THE EDITOR: The undersigned read with interest the editorial entitled "Russia" in the Collegian of October 10, and found that the thought expressed, while being commendable, was quite naive.

After all, we, the student youth of the nation, are the hope for a successful future and, as such, should come out of the rosy, plush clouds in which the well-meaning but equally naive, Willkies, Peppers, Wallaces, etc., walk; and tread on reality.

Your writer suggests that U. S. steer the world away from power diplomacy. Power diplomacy—there is a phrase being abused almost as much as the word "propaganda."

Does he seriously believe that the U. S. is going to be any more willing to give up her power position (which is what your power diplomacy amounts to, than any other nation, say Russia, would be? How much more realistic to accept the concept of power and proceed to work things out from there! The UN which breeds fair to be highly successful, is based on the principle of power—witness the set-up of the Security Council and the veto power, so let us dispense with this haphazard phraseology.

Since your writer wants to give us background for attempting to understand our former ally in arms, may I suggest that before he writes his next editorial on Russia, he read a few articles by Max Eastman, a former Communist, or the current best-seller "I Chose Freedom," by Victor Kravchenko, or if he still doesn't understand, he might obtain Stalin's own book, "Problems of Leninism," which makes "Mein Kampf" seem like a fairy tale in comparison.

May we have more realism on this issue in the future and less quotations from our American pinks unless accompanied by statements from the other side? There is sufficient reliable information on the subject for those who care to seek it out.

Respectfully yours, C. Philip Moore, Jr.

Pollock Circle Elections

TO THE EDITOR: This is in reply to the "gripe" letter from a supposedly uninformed citizen of P. C. This citizen, in my estimation, is erroneously proclaiming the ignorance of the men of P. C.

For a week, a notice of the proposed election was left in a conspicuous place in the dining hall—listing time and place of the elections. Anyone who could read knew of the coming elections. Anyone who could read was informed.

The lack of men present for elections pointed out the negative interest in election spirit.

The fact remains that those present showed an interest in their dormitory and elected officers who represented their interest.

An Informed Citizen of P. C.

Edit Shorts—

• Old Main is like a mother. You don't notice her beauty when you see her every day; but if she were gone, how ugly the hole would be that she would leave.

• Captain Mark of the campus patrol overheard a new student remark: "Keerist, 2700 acres of land and still no place to park my car!"

Editorials and features in The Collegian reflect the opinions of the writer. They make no claim to represent student or University opinion. All unsigned editorials are by the editor.

'The Milky Way' to Be New Name of Cliff's

Concluding their contest Saturday, Cliff's will operate under its new name, The Milky Way, contributed by two students, Earl M. Lehman and Samuel Egler. The contest promised to be a tie, due to the fact that two people submitted the same name.

Lehman, who first suggested the name The Milky Way, won the prize of a free milkshake every day for a year. Egler received a consolation award of a free milkshake every week for a year.

In addition to a new name, The Milky Way plans new interior decorations in keeping with its name and the College colors.

Among other names submitted to the contest were Cozy Counter and Shake Shop.

Politics

(Continued from page one)

CAMPUS-KEY

All-College

President . . . Clifford St. Clair

Vice-president . . . James Duff

Sec.-Treas. . . Raymond Shibley

Senior Class

President . . . James Sheehan

Vice-president . . . Charles Pfelegor

Sec.-Treas. . . Barbara McCleary

Junior Class

President . . . Peter Johnson

Vice-president . . . Howard Maxwell

Sec.-Treas. . . Louise Grossman

Sophomore Class

President . . . Emory Brown

Vice-president . . . Donald Carruthers

Sec.-Treas. . . Jane Fouracre

Cheers

(Continued from page one)

yourself into a ticket to the Penn State-Pitt game by turning in your choice of a good, original cheer to the SU desk by Thursday afternoon.

Michael Blatz, head cheerleader in 1943 and editor of The Daily Collegian, has replaced Richard Sarge as the judge from the Collegian staff, and Martin Saedock, head cheerleader in 1944, has been added to the list of judges.

THE DAILY COLLEGIAN

Successor to the Free Lance, est. 1877.

Published Tuesday through Friday mornings during the College year by the staff of the Daily Collegian of the Pennsylvania State College. Entered as second class matter July 5, 1934, at the State College, Pa., Post Office under the act of March 3, 1879, $2.50 a semester $4.00 the school year.

Represented for national advertising by National Advertising Service, Madison Ave., New York, N.Y., Chicago, Boston, Los Angeles, San Francisco.

Michael A. Blatz Editor
Rosemary Ghantous Bus. Mgr.

Mgr. Ed., Lynette Lundquist; News Ed., Lawrence Foster; Feature Ed., Frank Davis; Women's Ed., Katherine McCormick; Asst. Women's Ed., Suzanne McCauley.

Sports Editor: Stephen Sinichak; Photo Ed., Lucy Seifing; Wire Ed., Seymour Rosenberg; Sr. Board, Marilyn Jacobson, Lewis Jaffe.

STAFF THIS ISSUE
Managing Editor Joan Peters
Assistant Roberta Hutchison
News Editor Eleanor Fehnel
Assistant Beverly Russell

The old quill pen used to write the Constitution was scratchy and hard to use . . .

But Today

. . . KEELERS has a variety of beautiful modern pens that are quick and easy to use in prices ranging from $1.00 to $35.00.

- WATERMAN
- ESTERBROOK
- PARKER
- EVERSARP "CA"

KEELERS

CATHAUM THEATRE BUILDING

Serving Penn State Students Since 1926

You trust its quality

DRINK Coca-Cola

BOTTLED UNDER AUTHORITY OF THE COCA-COLA COMPANY BY ALTOONA COCA-COLA BOTTLING COMPANY