WASHINGTON—Back in this country again, John L. Lewis has charged the government with breach of its coal contract. He's asked for a re-opening of the whole wage and hour question, and implies that unless the government signs a new contract, coal miners may walk out November 20th in a paralyzing new coal strike. The government seized the coal mines and has been operating them ever since the big strike last spring.

NEW YORK CITY—Hundreds of diplomats from all over the world are planning small conferences for tonight, preparing for the opening of the United Nations General Assembly on Wednesday. Many of them arrived on the world's largest liner, The Queen Elizabeth — making her first voyage as a peacetime luxury liner. One arrival on the Queen was Russian Foreign Minister Molotov. He told shipboard newsmen that he's confident the United Nations can solve their problems without war—given a real desire to achieve mutual understanding.

Student Elections Begin in Armory

Polls Open Two Days; Voters Use Rear Door

Student politicians face the test today as balloting for All-College and class officers begins in the Armory at 9 o'clock this morning.

The polls will be open until 5 o'clock today and will reopen tomorrow for the same hours. Voters have been asked by Jack Branigan, All-College Elections chairman, to use the rear door as the front entrance is restricted to Naval personnel.

In addition to All-College and class officers, male students will also choose a president and secretary for the Athletic Association. William "Red" Moore, football captain, and Curt Stone, cross-country captain, are the candidates for president while Dave Hornstein and Bronco Kosonovich will contest the secretary race.

The Elections Code, as approved by All-College Cabinet last Spring, prohibits any electioneering in Old Main as well as the Armory. Also on the taboo list is the use of cars on campus for campaigning purposes.

News Briefs

Druids Elect

Druids, sophomore athletic honorary, recently elected William Bonsall president. Michael Beckett was named vice-president and John Slusser secretary.

Honorary Reorganizes

All former members of Scabbard and Blade, honorary military fraternity, are requested to report to Captain Yount, 101 Carnegie Hall, at their convenience. The fraternity will be reactivated by the military department.

Outing Club

Outing Club elected the following officers at last week's meeting: Jean Wilcox, president; Jean Terry, vice president; Phyllis Smith, secretary; and Virginia Wilson, treasurer. Plans, including a hike up Mt. Nittany, have been laid for the semester, but membership is still open to those interested. Miss Barbara Knoll is the adviser.

FFA Elects

Kenneth Staver was elected president of the Penn State chapter of the F.F.A. at a meeting this week. Other officers include Dewey Brumbaugh, vice-president; William Hinebaugh, secretary; Elmer Sealover, treasurer; William Robinson, reporter; and Chester Lathrop, sentinel.

Russell B. Dickerson, professor of agricultural education, will be faculty representative. Three representatives who will attend the Agriculture Student Council are the president, Rudolph Brannaka and Robert Drick.

Meetings will be held the second Monday of each month.

PiKa Tops ASPhi To Win IFC Contest

Sixty some PiKa's joined their alumni in a cheer and then in a silent raising of hats to Fred Huehnergarth Saturday when a voice over the New Beaver Field loudspeaker announced the first place winner of the IFC Lawn Display contest. Second prize was awarded to Alpha Sigma Phi.

PiKa Huehnergarth was the spark that twice in a row led his fraternity to a gold trophy. He got his idea on Monday and for a week alternately painted the SU facade and consulted with all his brothers on technical problems.

One Sonny Royce cut a record of Student Union chatter and lion roars while Kenneth Payne and his transmitter took care of the lighting effects and the moving steam-shovel.

College Hits Airwaves In Farm Series Program

A radio program, featuring Penn State, will be broadcast each morning this week at 6:45 o'clock over radio station WEAF, New York.

William B. Connell, professor of animal husbandry extension, began the series this morning with a discussion, "Steaks Hang High," and tomorrow's program will feature Elton B. Tait, assistant agricultural extension representative, discussing horse-pulling contests.

Other persons appearing on the program this week will be Dean Lyman E. Jackson, of the School of Agriculture; Floyd E. Rose, his wife, Eleanor, and son, Floyd, Jr., all of Windcrest; Paul H. Margolf, professor of poultry husbandry, and Henry N. Reist, professor of agricultural economics extension.

All programs were recorded at the College last week by Donald G. Lerch, Jr., farm director of the radio station and graduate of the College.

Steidle Returns From U.S. Mission

Dean Edward Steidle arrived in the States Saturday morning after a 26-hour trip by plane from Brazil, where he served as the Department of State's chairman of the Commission on Mineral Industry Education to the second Pan-American Congress on Mining Engineering and Geology.

Steidle was elected vice president of the Congress representing North America.

The Congress, which was held at Petropolis, summer capitol of Brazil, lasted from Oct. 1 to 15. It included a week's trip by plane into the interior of Brazil to inspect diamond fields, mica, bauxite, iron and manganese mines as well as the deepest gold mine in the world and the National School of Mines of Brazil at Auro Preto.

During the exercises which the Congress attended in celebration of the 70th anniversary of the National School of Mining, Dean Steidle made an address outlining the modern conception of mineral industry education based on energetic discovery, maximum recovery and minimum waste of mineral resources.

The president of Brazil attended the formal opening of the Congress, the dean revealed. Among the delegates were professors of mining and geology from Brazil, U. S., Canada, the Argentine, Chile, Peru and Bolivia.

The dean was accompanied by Mrs. Steidle on the trip, his sixth to South America. They stayed at the Quitandinha Hotel, the finest in Latin America. All together, Dean Steidle has traveled 70,000 miles by plane in the western hemisphere, having attended the first Congress in 1942 and another in 1944, when he represented the Inter-American Development Commission under the Co-ordinator of Inter-American Affairs.

"Solidarity of the western hemisphere is the greatest contribution we can make to the world," Dean Steidle declared.
