

IMA Asks College To Provide Meals For Men Students

The Independent Men's Association has carried its request for men's dining commons on campus for male students living off-campus to the office of Harold W. Loman, director of the College Dormitories and Dining Commons.

Two students met with Mr. Loman and his staff, and Miss Pearl O. Weston, dean of women, yesterday afternoon. The students were Eugene Fulmer, representing IMA, All-College Cabinet, and Independent Student Council; and Frank Davis, who supported the proposal editorially in the Collegian.

The single definite result of the meeting was a challenge by Mr. Loman and his associates that IMA prove its contention that a need exists for men's dining commons on campus. Until this is proved to satisfaction, the College cannot take steps to comply with the IMA proposals.

The plan proposed by IMA was to open up the Sandwich Shop in Old Main as a dining commons for independent men living off-campus, and to keep the shop open between meals as a snack place for the student body. This would

Independents Hold Dance

All independent men and women are invited to attend a dance at Woodman's Hall, corner of S. Allen street and Hamilton avenue, on Saturday, November 9, from 8:30 p. m. to 12:00 p. m., the Penn State Club said today.

The dance sponsored jointly by the Penn State Club and IWA, is for the benefit of independent men and women during House-party Weekend. All women will be admitted free, according to Albert Lucas, Penn State Club President, while men will be charged an admission fee of 30 cents including tax. Penn State Club members will be admitted free. Music will be by recordings and refreshments will be served, said the president.

The newly-reorganized Penn State Club is planning weekly parties for independent men and women declared the club president, who said hay-rides, swimming and bowling parties, and dorm-mixers will be attempted by the club in the near future. Members of the Penn State Club and guests may use the recording machine and newspapers in the club room, 321 Old Main, at any time said the club president.

WASHINGTON—The die is cast—it's a Republican-dominated Senate and a Republican-dominated House for the United States in the two years to come. So far, in the House of Representatives, the Republicans have elected 242 Congressmen. That's already 24 more than they needed for a working majority. The Democrats have elected 181 and the American Labor party, one. In doubt still are 11 House seats. In the Senate the GOP now holds 51 seats—just two more than needed for control. The Democrats have 42 and three are in doubt.

A late statement from the Republican national chairman calls the election result more than a party victory. As for Robert Hannegan, the Democratic national committee chairman, he stressed the great responsibility now placed on the Republicans.

President Truman has disdained any reply to a suggestion that he resign and turn the Presidency over to a Republican. Democratic Senator J. William Fulbright of Arkansas has urged this move, saying it might avoid an impasse between the White House and the Republican-dominated Congress.

WASHINGTON—The Army Air Forces came up with a spectacular announcement last night. It says the new six-engine army bomber B-36 can tote an atom bomb to any inhabited region in the world—and then return to its base without refueling. Production of the plane—described as the world's largest bomber—already has begun at Fort Worth, Texas.

LAKE SUCCESS, NEW YORK—Russian delegate Andrei Vishinsky has angrily attacked the proposed international refugee organization. He told a United Nations committee that proposals to resettle displaced persons far from their homelands would—as he put it: "doom them to a wandering existence and a dependent position in alien living conditions."

ART HODES

Jazz Masters Plan Concert

Penn State will hear its first jazz concert November 18, when the Common Sense Club presents Art Hodes and Sidney Bechet with an all-star combination of jazz musicians in "Jazz at Schwab."

Hodes, famous Chicago-style pianist and editor of "The Jazz Record," is currently leading his own outfit at "The Ole South" in New York, and has recorded for Solo Art, Commodore and Blue Note records. Featured with him at Schwab Auditorium will be Henry Goodwin, trumpet; Cecil Scott, clarinet; George Lugg, trombone; Pops Foster, bass; and Baby Dodds, ace New Orleans drummer.

Sidney "Pops" Bechet, who plays both soprano saxophone and clarinet, has recorded for every major company and is especially noted for his solo on Gershwin's "Summertime." Recognized by critics and musicians alike as the leading exponent of the soprano

Warnock Names Committee Heads

Dean of Men Arthur R. Warnock, chairman of the Council on Recreation and Welfare at the College, recently named eight men to head the committees entrusted with the work of the organization. Dean Warnock said other committees may be named later. The committees and their new heads follow:

Weekend Social Activities, George L. Donovan; Weekend Entertainments, Hummel Fishburn; Weekend Outdoor Recreation, Dr. Carl P. Schott; Sunday Programs, James T. Smith; Physical Facilities, Daniel A. DeMarino; Recreational Use of the Movies, J. Orvis Keller; Hobbies, Frank F. Morris; Calendar and Publicity, Louis H. Bell.

Soph Hop Tickets Will Be Sold At AA Window in Old Main

Tickets for Soph Hop will go on sale tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock at the Athletic Association window on the first floor of Old Main. Price of admission is $4.00 per couple, tax included.

Sale of tickets will continue until 5 o'clock, after which time they may be purchased at the door of Recreation Hall during dance time.

Souvenir dance programs will be presented by the Soph Hop committee to those who purchase their dance tickets at the AA window tomorrow, said Charles Prutzman and Richard Sarge, co-chairmen.

Ray McKinley and his new band will sound the inaugural note of the first big Penn State House-party Weekend of the 1946-47 term in Recreation Hall at 9 o'clock tomorrow night. Dancing will continue until 1 o'clock.

McKinley, a rhythm singer with a nonchalant, drawing style, has been an ace bandsman for more than fifteen years. His first job was with the Ben Pollack orchestra and he steadily climbed up through the Dorsey Brothers' band to Jimmy Dorsey and a year on Bing Crosby's radio show, then Ray formed a band of his own in collaboration with Will Bradley.

During the war, McKinley was a Technical Sergeant conducting army bands. When Glenn Miller disappeared in an airplane flight over France, it was Ray McKinley who was assigned the task of conducting Miller's renowned Army Air Forces band.

McKinley was in charge of Miller's band in England and France, during which period he conducted a radio program over the Army Network, called "Swing Shift."

Ray McKinley's new band is said to be the talk of the musical world. Sparked by the singing, drumming leader, the band is presenting several new musical ideas and effects.

Vocalists with McKinley's band are Chris Adams and Teddy Norman, with musical arrangements by Eddie Sauter. The McKinley crew is scheduled to play at Cornell University on the night following Soph Hop.

Players' Show Near Sellout

With virtually every seat sold for both nights, Players' are assured of playing before full houses when they raise the curtain on their show "Angel Street" in Schwab Auditorium at 8 o'clock tomorrow and Saturday evenings.

Director of "Angel Street" Kelly Yeaton points out that the show has been produced on the stage in England and the United States under the title of "Gaslight," and was later made into a motion picture under the same name. "This fact alone," says Mr. Yeaton, "has been a terrific selling point."

"To the people who worked on the construction, paint, and property crews," Mrs. Dorothy Scott, set designer, said, "goes the credit for the beauty of the set."

The construction crew is headed by Robert Wickus. Assisting Wickus are Ernst Beutner, Doris Brenner, Barbara Cooper, Velma Creitz, and Mary Ann Kemper.

Rita Patterson heads the property crew and Panna Brown manages the paint crew.

Tonight's rehearsal, the last before the show is presented, will be given before a small audience of high school students, Mr. Yeaton announced last night.

La Vie Selects Rosenberg Editor

Seymour Rosenberg has been selected editor of the 1947 La Vie, with Michael A. Blatz chosen managing editor. Appointments to the yearbook staff were made recently by the La Vie faculty advisory board.

Other staff positions include Stephen Sinichak as photographic editor, and a senior art staff composed of Richard B. Berk, M. E. Chesnut, Robert C. Dinwiddle, Joan Harrington, Nancy Harrington, Donald C. Horton and Mary E. Schmidt. An art editor will be elected from within this group.

Positions which remain to be filled on the La Vie senior staff are sports editor, women's sports editor, and assistant editors. Selection for these positions will take place in the near future.

All Classes Meet In Sparks At Call Of Student Leader

Class meetings for the Senior, Junior and Sophomore classes will be held this evening at 7 o'clock, according to Robert Foote, all-college president.

Newly-elected class officers will preside at the meetings and conduct discussions of interest to students. Suggestions will be received from interested class members by the officers for possible future presentation to All-College Cabinet.

Committees will be appointed by the three classes for action on activities of class interest and welfare and plans will be made for class social functions.

The Senior class will meet in 10 Sparks, with Senior president James Sheehan presiding, assisted by Charles Pfeeger, vice president, and Barbara McCleary, secretary-treasurer.

Juniors will hold their meeting in 121 Sparks. Eugene Fulmer, president; Charles Willing, vice president, and Jacqueline Zivic, secretary-treasurer, will conduct the discussion.

Richard Sarge, president, will be in charge of the Sophomore class meeting, which will be held in 316 Sparks. Ted LeFevre, vice president, and Patricia Kinkead, secretary-treasurer, will assist in the discussion.

"It is important that students become acquainted with the workings of student government," said All-College president Foote. "Students should attend their class meetings to learn the procedures and to offer worthy suggestions for consideration by All-College Cabinet."

IMA's 'Hall Za Poppin' Concludes Big Weekend

"Hall Za Poppin," IMA fun nite, will conclude House Party Weekend in Recreation Hall from 8:30 to 11:45 Saturday night. Music for dancing will be furnished by George Frye and his Bald Eagle Ramblers. Fred Hartswick will sing the calls for square dancing.

Among the events planned for the evening's entertainment are cards and other table games, ping-pong, and kick-it. Eugene Fulmer, president of the organization, said that the purpose of the function is to give independent students some place to have fun on the big night.

Admission is 30 cents each, including tax, and is payable at the door.
