

Cloppet Declares French Goodwill is Squandered

"There was, and still is, a great deal of good will on the part of France towards America. But it has been squandered," said John B. Cloppet, assistant professor of Romance languages, in a speech to the International Relations Club.

He went on to explain that during the North African campaign, General Patton dined with Fascist collaborationists while the De Gaulle French were still imprisoned. This certainly did not foster better French-American relationships, he said.

"Right now a boaldload of flour from America has more influence in France than the speeches of Truman or Byrnes," Dr. Cloppet said.

Since Communism is beginning to prevail in both France and China, Dr. Cloppet said that Britain and America may find that Russia will have the upper hand in UNO decisions with a three to two vote.

"However," Dr. Cloppet added, "Communism in France would never go as far as it has in Russia. The French people love democracy too much. The French constitution is obviously a very democratic one."

Dr. Cloppet's speech was followed by questions and discussion. The next meeting of the International Relations Club will be held December 2.

Penalties Face Frauding Vets

Noting instances of fraud in applications for payment for unused leave under the Armed Forces Leave Act of 1946, Major General W. H. Kasten, Army Chief of Finance, today warned that heavy penalties face those who attempt to defraud the government by misrepresenting their leave credits under the Act.

False statements have been few among the 3,900,000 applications already filed, General Kasten said, but prosecution faces those who have knowingly attempted to collect more cash-and-bond benefits than are legally due them.

"All claims presented for payment to paying officers are scrutinized carefully in order to determine possible cases of fraud, and where fraud is suspected action is taken to transmit the case to the Department of Justice for necessary legal action against the individual concerned," General Kasten said.

"A case was discovered in which falsification apparently existed in the AWOL time. It was found in checking the application form and the discharge certificate against the man's service record that the individual was making claim for unused leave for a period during which he was actually AWOL or in confinement. In this case it developed that the AWOL time had been erased from the discharge certificate submitted by the veteran."

Ag Dignitary Tours Campus

Mehmedolya Fazlagic, chief of the pomological section of the Yugoslav Ministry of Agriculture, is inspecting the various research projects of the Pennsylvania Agricultural Experiment Station this week in a tour of the campus.

Here on a UNRRA fellowship, Mr. Fazlagic arrived Monday and will continue until Saturday. He is primarily interested in the production, use and processing of the fruits and vegetables, including freezing, dehydration and canning and has been visiting research workers along these lines.

Before coming here, he visited experiment stations in California, Washington, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa, New York and New Jersey. From here he plans to make a tour of southern states before returning to his office with the Ministry of Agriculture in Sarajevo, Bosnia, Yugoslavia.

AVC Sponsors Project To Build Quonset Huts

Eighty-five ex-servicemen have indicated their interest in a plan to build housing units of the Quonset type. This plan has been advanced by the Penn State branch of the Centre County Chapter of the American Veterans Committee.

F. M. Isenberg who was in charge of the discussion said that at least 50 World War II veterans must be willing to join the project before work can be started. He pointed out also that new materials will be used in the Quonset huts, and that there will be a possibility of adding other sections to the huts.

In command of schoolboy boxing clinics soon to get underway in Pennsylvania will be Penn State's veteran coach, Leo Houck.
