

Galloway Enters Plea of Not Guilty As Trial for Life Gets Underway

By Stephen Sinichak
Collegian Staff Writer

The Galloway trial was recessed by Judge Ivan C. Walker until 9 o'clock this morning following the testimony and cross examination of prosecution witness John R. Juba, State College Police Chief.

John E. Galloway pleaded "not guilty" following reading of the indictment in Centre County Court charging him with the murder of his wife, Katherine Diamond Galloway, last October 26.

Chief Juba testified that he was notified of the shooting about 2:25 a. m. and went to the trailer with District Attorney Edward L. Willard and a patrolman.

At 5 a. m. Juba questioned Galloway and received a sworn statement from the defendant. Cross examination revealed that Juba, after receiving the statement, asked Galloway if he wished to notify his parents or obtain legal aid.

Defense attorney Furst then asked Juba, "To whom did you say that if you were given two hours you would make a homicide out of it?" Chief Juba remarked, "I don't recall making such a statement."

Two Women Jurors

Thirteen jurors, one of whom is an alternate, were drawn to try Galloway out of the sixty-four called to the jury box and examined by the defense and prosecution. Two of the jurors selected were women.

In his opening statement, District Attorney Willard asked the jury to bring in a verdict of guilty. Testimony by Coroner William J. Schwartz and Dr. H. Thomas Dale who was present at Mrs. Galloway's death, revealed that the .32 calibre pistol shot, which caused her death, cut her jugular vein and punctured her windpipe and esophagus.

A .45 calibre pistol and three rifles were also confiscated by borough police following the shooting and presented as exhibits in court. State College patrolman William E. Hilbush testified that Galloway told him he shot his wife when a pistol he was cleaning accidentally discharged.

Borough police officers Hilbush and Edward H. Laughner investigated the shooting after being notified by Dr. Dale. They arrived at the trailer about 2:28 a. m.

Dr. Dale said after he pronounced the girl dead, Galloway asked, "What should I do now?" The physician immediately notified the police.

Defendant Calm

Patrolman Hilbush testified that Galloway seemed calm during the investigation in his trailer home. The officer also said that Galloway offered them a drink, as there were a few bottles of beer on ice and two bottles of whiskey.

Patrolman Laughner said he knew Mrs. Galloway for some time prior to the accident and that he saw the newly married couple downtown on the night of the shooting. At that time Mrs. Galloway intended to go back to a store window when her husband jerked her around. "She then made a second attempt to turn around," Officer Laughner said, "and Galloway pulled her sharply towards him." They then continued on their way.

Question was asked by the defense if Juba knew there were two clips to the .32 pistol, and if he kept one and gave the other to the State Police. The witness answered that apparently one clip was left in the police station.

'Foolish Gentlemen' Claim Yule Issue Noel Packed

According to a certain illustrious group about campus, colorfully referred to as "The Foolish Gentlemen," this week's bright spring-like weather can only be caused by one thing—Froth is going on sale tomorrow.

The Christmas issue of the humor publication is flooded by holiday spirits, said Ben I. French, editor.

Articles verbally-bedecked in holly and mistletoe, such as "Nohell, Nohell—Christmas Fantasy," and two full-page poems, "Frothy's Christmas Greetings" (a toast by the Jester to the College's more illustrious personalities and "Froth Christmas Carol" (a Charles Dickens-type of story in verse) are sandwiched between the extra pages of jokes and cartoons that are a big feature of this issue.

In addition to the regular columns and features, a special article, "The Fiftieth Candle Has Been Lit," describing the town and College at the time of State College's incorporation as a borough in 1896, is being run.

A limited number of the magazines will be on sale at the Corner Room and Student Union at 8 a. m. tomorrow.

St. Nick Arrives For Windcrest Kids

Santa Claus is coming to town and his first stop will be Windcrest.

According to advance information received today, Old St. Nick will arrive in Windcrest at 4 p. m. Wednesday, December 18. If there is snow for the occasion, he's expected to be travelling in his sleigh, but if not, it was reported he would arrive in a fire truck.

After Santa's arrival, the Elks will hold their Christmas party for the more than 100 children of the trailer community. The party will be held in the town hall.

In addition to receiving gifts from Santa, the children will see four short films, titled, "Fatty Arbuckle," "Adventures of Bunny Rabbit," "The Black Bear Twins," and "Elephants."

MILWAUKEE, Wisc.—The long industrial dispute at Allis Chalmers burst into violence last evening. A 20-minute street fight broke out and at least 25 persons were arrested. Just before the fighting began a car was overturned and burst into flames just outside one gate to the plant. Twelve thousand workers are involved in the CIO United Auto Workers strike, now in its 225th day.

WASHINGTON—John L. Lewis and his coal miners also figured in yesterday's news. The Supreme Court granted a government plea for a speedy review of Lewis' contempt of court conviction.

WASHINGTON and LONDON—On the world news scene, our State Department and Great Britain made simultaneous announcements about arms standardization. The two countries admit they have been talking formally about making equipment interchangeable. But they deny any political alliance.

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y.—The United Nations political committee has adopted a resolution recommending that all U-N members call home their ambassadors from Spain. Earlier the committee had turned down a United States suggestion that the Spanish people be urged to oust Franco, and also a resolution calling for a complete diplomatic break.

Another committee apparently drew near to an agreement on phrasing a resolution to control and reduce armaments.

Queen Marion Reigns At Ball

Marion McElroy, fifth semester, was chosen queen of the Harvest Ball Saturday night from the seventeen candidates. She was sponsored by the Alpha Chi Omega sorority and Kappa Sigma fraternity.

Eugene Fulmer, chairman of the committee for the selection of the queen and master of ceremonies, presented her with a bouquet of roses and a matching bracelet and necklace set. The queen was escorted by Ed Czekaj.

Pat Patterson's orchestra featured several novelty numbers and the DTS quintet sang several songs.

Fifty gallons of cider were consumed within one hour and when that was gone, the apples decorating the Cider Bar were eaten.

Farmed-Out Frosh Excell in Studies

Penn State freshmen now attending other schools were reported without exception by their deans of instruction to be doing better work than an average freshman group. The deans met today with A. O. Morse, assistant to the president in charge of resident instruction, the deans of the schools, and other College officials to discuss the academic program for the second semester.

Specialized courses required of freshmen at the College and not offered at the cooperating schools will be postponed until the sophomore year. Students in Agriculture, Home Economics, and Engineering are among those who will substitute liberal arts type courses this year for more technical courses which they will take at the College.

The deans represented Gannon College, Erie, Keystone College, LaPlume, York Junior College, St. Francis College, and State Teachers Colleges at Bloomsburg, California, Clarion, East Stroudsburg, Edinboro, Indiana, Kutztown, Lock Haven, Mansfield, Millersville, Shippensburg, and Slippery Rock.

Lion Five Upsets Georgetown 40-37

Before an overflow crowd estimated at 3500 that wedged itself into the Catholic University Gym to see the two teams play, Penn State's cagers upset a favored Georgetown quintet Saturday night by a score of 40-37.

It was the second win of the season for the Nittany courtmen and the first defeat for a Hoya five that was touted as one of the top teams in the East. Incidentally, it was the second win in a row for the Lions over Georgetown, whom they met last in 1943 when they dumped the NCAA-bound Washingtonians 55-37.

The teams matched basket for basket up to the closing minutes of the game when the Lions jumped into the lead with a foul shot and sewed it up with a lay-up shot by Jack Biery.

Here's how it happened. With four minutes remaining, Jim Lawther sank a field goal to put State in the lead 37-35. Not to be

Research Director Dies in Florida

A. Nelson Butz, Jr., professor of engineering research and assistant director of the Ordnance Research Laboratory at the College, died suddenly on Saturday at Fort Lauderdale, Fla., at the age of 30.

He was at the field station of the laboratory there, supervising the transfer of its equipment to Key West, Fla., at the time of his unexpected death.

Butz, a native of New Jersey, was born on August 8, 1916. He was a graduate, in physics, of Princeton University where he was awarded the bachelor's degree in 1938.

From 1941 to 1945, he served as Special Research Associate in the Harvard Underwater Sound Laboratory, and moved to State College when the activities of that laboratory were transferred to the Ordnance Research Laboratory.

Blue Key Holds Dance; Elects McAdams Prexy

Blue Key, junior activity hat society, will hold a semi-formal dance at the Nittany Lion Inn Saturday evening. All active and former members of the society are invited to attend.

Richard McAdams was elected president of the society at their recent meeting and took office at that time. Thomas Botsford was elected vice-president and Benjamin Rose took the position as treasurer.

There will be a meeting for all active Blue Key members in 413 Old Main at 6:45 o'clock tonight. McAdams requests that all members be present.

Sheehan Releases Graduation Plans; Sets Committees

Hurd, Miller, Lundquist Head Senior Groups

James Sheehan, president of the Senior Class, released information today concerning graduation, which will be held Saturday, February 1, 1947, at 2 p. m. He also listed his appointments to the Senior Class Committees.

The following information is provided with regard to the invitations and announcements:

1. All invitations and announcements will be ordered at the Student Union Desk. They must be ordered on Friday, December 13, 1946.

2. The price will be approximately 9 cents each, including envelopes, and must be paid for when ordered.

Three Tickets Each

3. Each graduating senior will receive three (3) tickets to the graduation exercises to be held at Schwab Auditorium when he or she picks up his cap and gown at the Athletic Store. Only individuals with tickets will be admitted up to 1:50 p. m. Then general public will be admitted after this time to any seats remaining. The senior wearing caps and gowns will not need a ticket for admittance. Invitations which are purchased have absolutely nothing to do with gaining admittance to the exercise.

Caps and Gowns

Orders for caps and gowns will be taken at the same time and place as invitations and announcements. A deposit of five ($5) dollars will be made at the time of ordering. This deposit will be refunded when caps and gowns are returned to the Athletic Store. The actual rental cost is taken care of by class funds.

Caps and gowns will be picked up at the Athletic Store on Thursday, Friday, and Saturday, January 30, 31, and February 1. It is important to keep receipts after caps and gowns, invitations and announcements have been ordered, as they must be presented when called for.

All checks should be made pay-

Old Main, Co-Op Corner Move to Thespian Stage

Old Main, Co-Op Corner, and a part of a new Student Union building will move to the stage of Schwab auditorium Friday night when Thespians present, "No Kiok Coming."

These sets were built in the sub-basement of Sparks which is the home of the Thespian paint and construction crews. To the sound of saws and hammering and the smell of hot glue, the paint-spattered crews work late every night.

It is up to the construction group headed by Joe Garner to build the platforms, scenery, tables and benches. The paint crew covers everything constructed with canvas, mixes the paint, puts the designs on the flats and then goes to work with the brushes.

"All our scenery is new and original this year," said Nancy Granger, manager of the paint crew. "The sets were designed by Pepper Birchard and Jean Esh, who showed us what colors they wanted and helped us draw them on the flats."

To get the right colors, powder paint is mixed with whitening, then water and hot glue is added. Glue is used to make the paint stick to the canvas.

The crew's masterpiece is a glorified Lewistown bus. Painted in gaudy colors, it is complete from tin can radiator to the Penn State banner flying from the top. The bus was built by members of the construction crew which includes Alice Hecht, Rita Beerman, Ed Weaver, and Jim Cuzolina. Members of the paint crew are Mimi Frankel, Bunny Haasse, Sally Henry, Judy Re-tort, Jane Shoemaker, and "Billie" Watson.
