

Jury Renders 'Not Guilty' Verdict; Deliberation Lasts Four Hours

By STEPHEN SINICHAK

"Not Guilty" was the verdict returned by the jury at 4:05 p.m. yesterday after four hours of deliberating the Galloway case in Bellefonte's Centre County Court.

After the jury filed into the courtroom, tension mounted as Bond C. White, county prothonotary, read the preliminary speech before announcement of the decision. It seemed like hours before he asked the jury foreman, John P. O'Conner, "What is your verdict?"

The decision was received by a round of applause from the spectators, including more than 75 students from the College, who came to witness and hear the finale to the trial that had progressed through four days.

Parents Weep

Mr. and Mrs. Galloway wept happily over the decision that set their son free. Mr. Galloway said, "I never was convinced he was guilty," while Mrs. Galloway said, "We're just satisfied."

When questioned about her acquittal yesterday on a charge of murder, is reported to have said that he expected to return to College, perhaps next semester.

Arthur R. Warnock, Dean of Men, when asked if Galloway would be granted re-admission to the College, said that his case would have to be brought up before a committee of faculty members.

E. L. Willard, District Attorney, told a Collegian reporter last night that he had no comment concerning the possibility of a second charge being brought against Galloway.

son's future plans, she said, "We don't know what he'll do."

The counsel for defense would make "no statement," while State College Police Chief John R. Juba remarked, "Not a thing to say. The jury gave the verdict and we abide by it."

Final summations early yesterday.

(Continued on page three)

Hetzel Appoints Production Chief

Edward N. Baldwin, superintendent of the Elevator and Air Conditioning Division of the Westinghouse Elevator Co., Jersey City, N. J., has been named the George Westinghouse professor of production engineering at the College, Ralph Dorn Hetzel, president, announced today.

The professorship, established by the Westinghouse Educational Foundation, is the first industrial professorship to be established at the College. It will be in the School of Engineering and is established for an initial period of five years.

"The scope of the professorship," Dean Harry P. Hammond, of the School of Engineering, explained, "shall relate to the activities of all departments whose curricula are concerned with the production of manufactured products, particularly aeronautical, electrical, industrial and mechanical engineering and engineering mechanics."

Baldwin was graduated from Purdue University with a bachelor of science degree in mechanical engineering in 1922. Later he received the degree of mechanical engineer from Purdue.

Late AP News

Courtesy Radio Station WMAJ.

WASHINGTON—President Walter Reuther of the CIO United Automobile Workers, has announced his union will ask for a 23½ cents an hour general wage increase for its 900,000 members. Reuther says the demand is in addition to the previously announced proposals for an equalization fund, a social security program, and a retirement plan for the workers in the industry.

WASHINGTON—A late development in the John L. Lewis case indicates that defense attorneys are asking the Supreme Court whether the United Mine Workers Union is responsible for what its chief does. This question was raised today when defense attorneys moved to fight the $3,500,000 fine against the U.M.W. This was one of ten points in a

John E. Galloway

Cagers Lose; To Face W&J

Special to The Daily Collegian

Coming to life in the second half to overcome a 19-11 halftime deficit, the Bucknell Bison cagers sent the Nittany Lion cagers down to their first defeat of the season with a 36-34 overtime victory in the Davis Field House Wednesday night.

A fellow named Lou Desci—last season an ace basketball player for Harvard—threw the monkey wrench into the Lion court machine. With the score tied at 32-32 at the end of the regulation time, it was Desci who sank a lay-up shot and a foul to put the Bisons out in the lead 35-32—a point from which they were never threatened.

Penn State's once-beaten cagers tackle Washington and Jefferson on the Rec Hall courts tomorrow night at 7 p.m.

Operating at the pivot post, Desci was instrumental in solving the Lawther zone defense thrown up to stop the rangy Bucknellians. He was the scoring leader for the night with 17 points and threw in nine points in the second half to spark the Bison drive to knot the score.

(Continued on page five)

Blue Key to Initiate 29 At Semi-Formal Saturday

Blue Key, junior men's honorary will hold a semi-formal dance at the Nittany Lion Inn from 9-12 tomorrow night. Music for the affair will be provided by Pat Patterson and his orchestra.

Twenty-nine men, tapped in ceremonies in front of Old Main Wednesday morning will be initiated at the dance.

petition filed by the defense in an effort to broaden the case.

SEATTLE, Wash.—The two-day-old search for a Marine Corps transport plane will move to Upper Nisqually Glacier on Mount Rainier, as soon as winter storms let up. Thirty-two men were aboard the plane when it left San Diego for Seattle. There is some belief the transport may have struck Mount Rainier somewhere above the 8,000-foot level.

MOSCOW—According to a report from here, Prime Minister Stalin will return to the Kremlin shortly. A Russian informant has told an Associated Press correspondent the Soviet leader is rested and in good health after his vacation. Stalin will be 67 on December 21st. The informant also states there is no basis for reports of Stalin's illness.

The Daily Collegian

VOL. 44—No. 40

FRIDAY MORNING, DECEMBER 13, 1946—STATE COLLEGE, PENNA.

Thespian Show, Basketball, Three Dances Top Weekend

Paul Bunyan Marks Campus

Paul Bunyan, guest of honor at the Forestry Ball in Rec Hall tomorrow night after the basketball game, arrived in town yesterday at 3:27 p.m., according to Boyd Witherow, advertising chairman.

A small group of students, shivering in the cold drizzle, waited on the steps of the Forestry Building for the lumberjack's return after an absence of three years.

King-sized footprints mark the trail the great logger roamed. The northwoodsman, an X-GI, was favorably impressed with Windcrest and the Pollock Circle dormitories. But he hopes lumber will soon be available to make larger, more permanent dwellings. The lumberjack avoided the Library and the Mall where he was in trouble with both students and College authorities during his last visit.

The logger was left in Hort Woods to rest up before seeing his first basketball game tomorrow night and taking over the job of being guest of honor at the dance.

(Continued on page seven)

'Help This Guy, Will Ya!'

A newspaper is the recipient of many strange requests from time to time, but this one tops them all. An expectant father, who is also a student at the College, is having difficulty locating diapers for the newcomer. He asked our help, so we are passing the necessary information on to our readers.

If you know where this "bundle of nerves" can purchase four-cornered pants (I don't know what size he wants) for the expected "bundle of joy," please drop a card immediately to "Pop" in care of the Collegian office, and we'll see to it that he gets the good word.

He claims that he needs dozens of them... truthfully, we don't know what facts he can base that statement on. Yes, you guessed it, it's his first... and he has only four weeks to locate those diapers. "Hurry, please," he says.

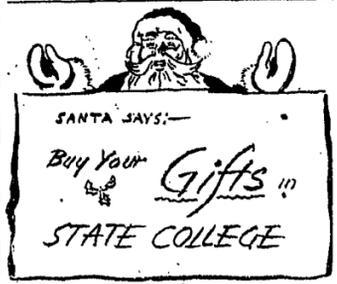

Art Honorary Announces Card Contest Winners

Laurel Wagner, major in Arts and Letters, is the winner of the ten-dollar first prize in the Christmas card contest sponsored by Pi Gamma Alpha, art honorary. Her entry was a linoleum cut print.

Second prize of $5 went to Donald Horton, major in Architecture, whose entry was an etching. This prize, a book, was awarded to Polly Ciaffroni, major in Chemistry and Physics, for her watercolor.

The best of the entries will be displayed in the Athletic Store window beginning tomorrow.

Judges for the contest were Dr. V. Lowenthal, head of the department of art education, Prof. A. W. Case and Prof. H. E. Dickson, both of the department of fine arts.

'No Kick Coming' Parodies Labor, Promotes SU

Student Union will be the theme of the Thespian musical comedy, "No Kick Coming," which opens tonight and tomorrow night in Schwab auditorium. The curtain will go up promptly at 7 o'clock, according to Bud Mellott, Thespian production manager.

Tickets for standing room for both performances will be sold at the box office tonight at the original price. One hundred fifty of these tickets will be available for each night.

Souvenir programs, containing articles and pictures of the production are on sale at Student Union and will be sold in Schwab auditorium.

X-GI's Present 'Watch Your Step'

Recreation Hall will be the scene at 8:30 o'clock tonight for the X-GI club's defiance of broken mirrors, black cats, step-ladders, and other forms of superstition as they present "Watch Your Step," a free dance for X-GI club members.

Pat Patterson and his 13-piece campus band will provide music for dancing until the bewitching hour, midnight, Friday the Thirteenth.

Millie Geise, a third semester student at the College who sang with the Ivan Faux band at "Sweater Hop," is Patterson's featured vocalist.

Membership cards for the X-GI, at $1 per school year are still available at the Student Union desk in Old Main, according to Ralph Lewis, membership chairman. Penn State veterans might still avail themselves of the club's social and educational opportunities by joining before the dance tonight, he added.

Fred S. Barrouk is in charge of general arrangements for "Watch Your Step," with Robert Marsh handling advertising and publicity.

Beware, Take Care, Friday the 13th Is Here Again

Here 'tis gals and guys! Watch your step today. Don't walk under that ladder. Hey, look out for that black cat. If you break a mirror, sister, beware. Yes, today is Friday the 13th—the day when superstition takes precedence.

Although the law of averages calls for the 13th of the month to fall on a Friday but once in every seven months, today is the second "evil day" we have had in three months. September 13 also fell on a Friday.

Perhaps the best way to avoid all the trouble that may befall you on this day is just roll over in bed and go back to sleep. But if you did that you would not be able to read and enjoy your Daily Collegian. So get up and take your chances. But remember the date—it's Friday the 13th!

News Briefs

4-H Christmas Party

The Campus 4-H Club will hold a Christmas party in 304 Old Main at 7:30 Monday night, Joseph Sick, publicity chairman, said today. All members and friends are urged to come, and carol singing will be the highlight of the evening. Each person attending is required to bring a 25-cent gift for the Christmas grab-bag.

Music Honorary Smoker

Phi Mu Alpha, men's music honorary, will hold a smoker at the Phi Gamma Delta fraternity house at 3 p.m. Sunday.

Foreign Students Party

Foreign students at the College will be guests of Penn State Christian Association at a Christmas party in 304 Old Main at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday. William Glenn,

"No Kick Coming" is partially a parody of the current labor and management problem, partly a boost for Student Union, and partly music, songs and dancing.

According to Dick Frontman, dialogue director and co-author of the book, the plot goes something like this. Lewis L. Johns, played by Herb Rossman, in order to get the best of his enemy, U. S. Teel (Pete Johnson), sends his son, John J. Johns (Marty Baum) to Penn State with his three henchmen, played by the Three Stooges, Jim Mitchell, Chuck Pfelegor, and Bud Mellott. They have orders to get Teel's daughter, Una (Betsy Heagy) to fall in love with John. While at State, John gets mixed up in the Student Union controversy because he confuses the Student Union idea with a labor union. When he tries to take over he is opposed by the college crowd consisting of Jim Mulholland, Portman Paget, Adele Yablon, Jack Calhoun and Bill McTurk. George Don Juan, the president of Student Union is played by Joe Romidic.

Complications

The plot is further complicated by the unexpected arrival of Bubbles LaVerne (John's sweetheart) and Bessemer P. Furnace, Una's fiancée (Charlotte Halpern).

(Continued on page three)

PSCA Campaign Falls $410 Short

Falling $410 short of the $5000 goal, the PSCA's annual financial campaign has officially ended. Of the $4590 total received in pledges and contributions, $2980 came from students, while the faculty and staff added $1610. Straggling reports may find the original objective realized.

Lou Ann LaRoche and Rustum Roy were the most successful solicitors in the women's and men's groups respectively. Miss LaRoche's $39.50 and Roy's $59 earned for them tickets to the Forestry Ball.

Fred Kecker and Joan Roraback, drive co-chairmen, expressed their hope that the goal would be reached after all reports are in, and they wish to thank all solicitors and others who have helped to make the campaign as successful as possible.

Other members of the committee are Dale Bishoff, decorations; Philip Walter and Jo Casselbury, publicity; Beatrice Klafman, Peggy Houston, and Lois Stule, refreshments.

MI Honorary Meets

Sigma Epsilon Sigma, women's mineral industries honorary, will hold a meeting in 104 M.I. building at 7:45 Monday. Professor Willard Mullen of the Ceramics Department will be the guest speaker.

Skull and Bones Plans

Tentative plans for a Skull and Bones banquet held during the first two weeks in January were made at a meeting of that men's honorary this week. Names of possible new members and of possible nominees for office were also suggested.