

Free Movies

The turnout at the free movies at Schwab Auditorium this past weekend indicates that the movement started by the X-GI Club is proving to be a real boon to the economy-minded student. Happily, we can report to those who did not attend, that the latest offerings were a marked improvement over the original features shown. Also, the sound equipment is now being handled in a much more efficient manner.

At present, the costs of this entertainment are being borne by the funds of the X-GI Club. However, it is not feasible for any one organization to indefinitely sponsor these programs. We therefore would like to suggest that all of the organizations on campus take the responsibility of aiding in the presentation of these weekend shows. The actual costs of presenting these movies are surprisingly low, and if every organized group at Penn State joined together in this much-wanted venture, the burden on each would be almost insignificant.

The initial start of this undertaking was made by the X-GI club; the continuation of this program will be determined by the cooperation received from every organization and every individual on this campus.

How can this be done? First, the individuals may assist by contributing small funds to respective active groups on campus interested in sponsoring programs of this type; second, by becoming active members in these organizations.

Organizations can help by encouraging their respective members to attend these movies and it might be a good idea for different organizations on campus to offer to sponsor the movies for one week-end.

Some possible sponsors are the Independent Student Council, Inter-Fraternity Council, Pan Hellenic Council, the Penn State Christian Association, the American Veterans Committee, Common Sense and many other organizations having large enough membership to carry out a program of this type.

If we want programs of this type we must take an active part in promoting the things we desire.

We Gotta Box

TO THE EDITOR: With the beginning of the new year, the Suggestion Box committee has gotten to work to produce a box which now is on the Student Union Desk for a two-week trial period.

When the article first appeared in Collegian concerning the formation of such a committee suggestions were left at the Student Union Desk, even in the absence of a box. It is believed from this indication that the project may prove to be worth while.

All suggestions, comments, etc., will be received by the committee, sorted, and sent to the proper people for action or consideration. The committee does not guarantee satisfaction on all points, but each will be given due consideration.

An attempt will be made to inform the signer, if a name appears, and to report to the students as a whole of worthy points. If the box proves useful, a method of continuing it will be found.

May Lou Waygood
Chairman
Suggestion Box Committee

Thanks for the Memory

TO THE EDITOR: Thanks should be forthcoming from us to all those who cooperated so enthusiastically to make "Sheepskin Serenade" a success. That goes for the Three Stooges, Guy Woods and his Treble Singers, the Honey Boys, Dick Berge and his orchestra, Virgil Neilly, the King Pins Trio, Dr. Stuart Mahuran and his friend Tennyson, and of course Philip Mannino and the PA system.

Now that "Sheepskin Serenade" is over and was so well received, we hope the Senior Class party will serve as a rocket shooting into the realm of more Sunday afternoon entertainment.

Cabinet Report

The student-designed all-college flag submitted to the College board of trustees at their last meeting was not approved, according to a letter from President Ralph D. Hetzel read at the recent meeting of All-College Cabinet.

President Hetzel said that the board felt there was no need for a new design, although the design submitted might be used for athletic pennants.

It was decided that the flag committee, of which Virginia McCluskey is chairman, should consider the matter further.

The Recreation Hall smoking problem was discussed, and Daniel DiMarino, in the absence of William Moore, reported that the four coaches of indoor sports, who had been asked to write letters concerning the matter, had not done so as yet. The coaches will again be asked to write the letters, and Cabinet will attempt to solve the problem.

Several members of Cabinet questioned the necessity of the fifteen-cent maintenance fee being charged at the tennis court skating rink, and it was suggested that matriculation cards or athletic books be used for admission instead. Dean Schott's office had said that the principal reason for the admission fee was to keep out the town youngsters.

A letter from the Pollock Circle Council recommending the improvement of acoustics in Schwab Auditorium was read. Dick Sarge reported that George W. Ebert, superintendent of Grounds and Buildings, had been contacted, and had said that the fault lay in the construction of the building, and that the acoustics could not be improved without considerable modification of the structure.

Mary Lou Waygood, WSGA representative, said that a student-faculty sub-committee was working on the problem and had suggested the use of panels over the windows to improve the acoustics.

The pre-medical honorary's request for funds to finance lectures for the pre-medical students at the College and for the College as a whole was discussed. It was suggested that the request be referred to the Chemistry and Physics School to be subsidized from their own program.

Sheehan, reporting on the Student Welfare Committee meeting, said that some proposed revisions in the student regulations, now on the floor in the committee, include:

(1) Proposal for the regulation of the use of alcoholic beverages in fraternity houses, since this is in violation of the State Liquor Code; (2) proposal for regulation of the entertainment of women guests in fraternity houses (the proposed regulation would state that women guests might be entertained only at parties and dances which are properly chaperoned).

Sarge suggested that Cabinet sponsor an interfraternity and independent sing, similar to the annual Rachel Sing. At the suggestion of Fritz Lloyd, of the IF Council, the matter was tabled until it could be taken up in the individual groups concerned.

Fulmer suggested two matters to be considered at the next meeting of Cabinet. They were: a suggestion by Hummel Fishburn, head of the music department, that a listening hour be held Sunday afternoons in Carnegie Hall; a suggestion that the telephone booths in the lobby of Old Main be made free for local calls.
