

Ewell, Karver Get Invitations To Inquirer Meet

Two Penn Staters, an undergraduate and a graduate, will be running in the Third Annual Inquirer Invitation Track and Field Meet being held in Philadelphia's Convention Hall Friday night.

The undergraduate, fleet-footed Gerry Karver, Mittany distance ace, has been entered in the mile by Chick Werner to compete against such stellar board-runners as Sweden's Rune Gustafsson, who set a new world's record of 2:21.4 for 1000 meters last summer in Sweden; Leslie Mac-Mitchell, indoor U. S. champion and last year's Inquirer Mile victor; Bill Hulse, holder of the American citizens' criterion of 4:06; and Frank Dixon, NYU's 1943 spike-star.

Long John Woodruff, the winner of the 1936 800-meter Olympic title, may also start in this race, but it is doubtful because of a pulled tendon, hurt while the former Pitt star was working out last Thursday. He has also told friends that he is planning to hang up his spikes for good, but there is the possibility that he may change his mind before Friday.

Another wearer of the Blue and White, sprint ace Barney Ewell, who was three times a triple intercollegiate track champion when running for Penn State, has entered in the 50 and 300-yard events. Barney, with an eye on the 1948 Olympics in London, is expected to give Villanova's George Guida, who is running for his third straight victory in the Charles W. Paddock Memorial 300, more competition than he can contend with.

The colored track star, who is now studying at the College and working out daily with the track squad, will run under the colors of the Shanahan A.C. of Philadelphia.

Club Cancels Weekly Meeting

The Penn State Flying Club will not hold its regular meeting tonight because of approaching finals. Henry Myers, president of the group, revealed.

Instead a special meeting will be held in 110 Home Economics Building, February 11, the first Tuesday of the new semester. The meeting place is not definite and further announcements will appear in the Collegian and on the bulletin board at the Bellefonte Airport.

Two sound films, "Construction of a Light Airplane," filmed at the Piper Cub plant in Lock Haven, and "Aircraft and How They Fly," will be presented. All members and those interested in joining the club are invited to attend, but the meeting will not be open to the general public because of campus regulations.

Any members owing dues or flying time are asked to be present and make their payments. For those interested in joining the club, information concerning it may be had from Henry Myers or James Eaton, Pi Kappa Alpha, Joan Heath, McAllister Hall, or Wyn Entis, Dorm 7, Pollock Circle.

Social Science Honorary To Initiate at Banquet

Pi Gamma Mu, honorary social science fraternity, will initiate new members at a banquet at the Anchorage at 6:30 tonight.

Dr. Henry Janzen, assistant professor of political science, will be the guest speaker. The title of his address will be "Is the Soviet Union Reverting to Type?"

Reorganizing Campus-Key Elects Temporary Heads

Emory Brown was elected temporary chairman of the Campus-Key party at a reorganizational meeting Sunday. Virginia McCluskey was chosen temporary secretary-treasurer.

A proposal was made by senior class president James C. Sheehan for election of co-chairmen to command party activities next semester, but the motion was tabled until the next meeting of the clique February 16.

All Male Quintuplets Arrive on Friday At Beta Sig

Canada has its Dionne quintuplets—five little girls whose entry into the world created an international topic of conversation.

Today State College has its own set of quintuplets, all male, born without the aid of a physician.

Yes, it's true! The newcomers are dogs, born Friday afternoon and evening at the Beta Sigma Rho fraternity house.

What a Mother! The dogs' mother is Wallo, a ten-months-old dog, part collie and part German shepherd, belonging to Milton Becket.

The first pup was born about 2:30 p. m. as fraternity brothers hastily dug up a spare mattress and an electric heater to make the mother and child as comfortable as possible.

A phone call to a local veterinarian resulted in Becket's believing there would be one more puppy. Pup number two did arrive about 4:30 p. m.

Third by Dinner. An announcement at dinner that a third puppy had just been born threw the fraternity into an uproar. Silence was the key word on the second floor of the chapter house, as Wallo and her three pups rested quietly.

A fourth pup entered the world about 8 p. m., and it was just after 10 p. m. when the fifth and last pup was born.

Wallo heaved a sigh of relief, the puppies squealed and some 60-odd Beta Sigs had something else to talk about.

James Bristol Speaks On Service Seminars

James Bristol of the American Friends Service Committee will speak to student and faculty members on the International Service Seminars at 304 Old Main at 6:30 o'clock tonight.

The Seminars will be held in the United States this summer and will provide men and women of different nations, cultures and experiences an opportunity for cooperative living, and to study.

Public Affairs Commission of the Penn State Christian Association will sponsor the meeting.

Late News

GRANITE FALLS, Minn.—Andrew Volstead was a Minnesota congressman when he steered prohibition successfully through Congress during the last war. President Hoover called it a noble experiment but with the advent of the New Deal under President Roosevelt, the nation gave up its effort to enforce temperance by law, and prohibition was repealed. Volstead died yesterday at Granite Falls, Minnesota, where he made his home. He was 87 years old.

PITTSBURGH—Big Steel discloses that it will begin negotiations with the CIO United Steel Workers next Friday in Pittsburgh. The wage discussions had been postponed briefly although talks already have begun with the so-called Little Steel group. United States Steel Corporation—known in the trade as Big Steel—generally sets the pace for the great basic industry.

NEW YORK—Elliott Roosevelt says that Josef Stalin told him in a personal interview that relations have improved between the Soviet and American peoples. He quoted the Soviet leader as adding that "the danger of a new war is not real." Roosevelt disclosed the results of his trip to Moscow in the current issue of Look magazine. He quoted Stalin in the form of answers to 12 questions which he said he put to him.

LAKE SUCCESS—The United Nations Security Council at Lake Success has postponed consideration of arms reduction proposals until February 4. The vote was nine to two with Russia and Poland opposing the postponement. The United States had sought more time to study the proposals for arms reduction.

The Council also over-ruled Soviet objections earlier when it voted to put the British charges against Albania on the agenda for a hearing. That vote was 10 to 0 with the Soviet Union abstaining.

ROME—Italian Premier Alcide de Gasperi has resigned but he is expected to form a new government—perhaps one in which the Italian Leftwing will have a smaller voice. De Gasperi himself heads the Christian Democratic party. The latest Italian crisis developed when the Italian Socialist party split over the question of collaborating with the Communists.

The Italian foreign ministry filed a strong protest yesterday with the major allies of the European war, complaining that the Italian peace terms are unjust. The Italian treaty is scheduled to be signed at Paris on February 10.
