

Hotel Men Looking Forward To Larger HA Department

Leading hotel men in the state are looking forward to the day when the College will set up a Hotel Administration department similar to the one at Cornell instead of having a hotel administration course only as a part of the Home Economics department, H. Lee Merriman, president of the Hotel Greeters of America, declared Tuesday at the State College Hotel.

By way of improving the course immediately, he suggested the addition of an engineering department, a decorations and maintenance department and a special accounting department in hotel management.

Merriman, maintenance supervisor for the Grenoble Hotels of Harrisburg, Inc. and manager of a Waynesboro hotel, is the first of a series of prominent hotel men who are scheduled each week to give their views on various phases of hotel management. This theme Tuesday afternoon was "Furniture Construction."

A graduate in engineering from Geneva College, Merriman later studied architecture at Cornell. He spent two years in vaudeville before becoming publicity director for a Harrisburg hotel.

Merriman, who stands 6 ft. 2 1/2" tall and weighs 335 pounds, capitalized on his size by carrying a huge 5 x 7 calling card when he was publicity director. The size of the card readily stirred the curiosity of business prospects who were even more nonplussed when confronted with the huge man in person.

Welding Society Offers Prizes Totaling $700

The American Welding Society has reported that it will give four cash prizes, totaling $700, to the authors and publications for the two best articles on welding published in undergraduate magazines before April 1, 1947.

The articles may be on any phase of any type of welding or its application to design or construction.

Judging of the articles will be done by a group selected by the American Welding Society, and will be based on originality of subject, originality and clarity of the presentation, and the thoroughness with which the subject is presented.

Thespians

There will be a production meeting of all crew heads for the coming show in Schwab Auditorium one o'clock tomorrow.

CLASSIFIED SECTION

All classified advertisements must be in by 4:30 p.m. day preceding issue. Prices are: 40c for one insertion, $1.00, three insertions, 17 words or less. Call Collegian, 711.

FOR SALE—Tuxedo, size 38, and portable Motorola radio, Zeiss Ikon Ikonflex II. Tessar F3.5 lens. All in excellent condition. James Fitzpatrick, 4969.

OCCUPANT needed for room at Pollock Circle. Present occupant going fraternity. Phone 3973.

WANTED TO BUY—Two desks and dressers. Call Danny Meyers, 2760.

FOR SALE—Single breasted tuxedo, size 38; price $10.00 Call Ext. 377-J.

FOR SALE—One tuxedo, double-breasted, size 37. Excellent condition. Call 2132, Al Green.

EXCELLENT room in College Heights: one block to dining room; practically on campus. Call Bill Brinker, 2751.

THESPIAN music wanted. If you have original music, call Ray Fortunato at Phi Delta Theta, 4957.

ATTENTION. Penn State students, South Allen St. area. Additional facilities permit the accommodation of six or eight more students in our dining room. Penn Haven, 315 S. Allen St.

FOR RENT—Double room for two students, 110 McAllister St.

BUS SERVICE
Saturday Night
SKYTOP

Experiments Seek Liberty Ship Fault

In experiments to determine the cause for the cracking of wartime Liberty ships at sea, engineers at the College yesterday fractured a steel sphere by dropping the temperature to 40 degrees below zero, Fahrenheit.

Dr. Joseph Marin, professor of engineering mechanics, in charge of the project, explained that the stresses and temperatures to which the sphere was exposed were comparable to the stresses exerted on the welded plates of ships and to temperatures sometimes encountered at sea.

In the test, a hollow metal sphere, 20 inches in diameter and one-half inch in thickness, was used. The sphere was subjected to stresses from internal fluid which paralleled stresses on the welded plates of the Liberty ships. When the temperature reached minus 40 degrees, the sphere cracked.

The $18,000 experiments, sponsored by the Welding Research Council with funds provided by industrial organizations, will be continued.

Assisting Dr. Marin are J. H. Faupel and V. L. Dutton, research assistants, S. S. Eckley and Homer Johnson, mechanics.

College Library Shows Picasso, Mexican Art

Pablo Picasso is one of the artists represented in the February exhibit of drawings and lithographs at the College library.

The exhibit, from the collection of Josh Kligerman of Atlantic City, consists of a series of modern prints and posters. Included are a variety of Mexican woodcuts and lithographs by members of the "Taller de Grafica Popular" workshop in Mexico City.

Adler, Zellmer Win Drawing

Charles Adler and Jesse Zellmer were the winners of ten dollars each in the drawing for the benefit of the X-GI Nursery School at Grange Dormitory Tuesday night. The drive was sponsored by the Alpha Epsilon Phi sorority.

Mrs. Newton, director of the X-GI Nursery School, and Mrs. N. M. Morris, hostess of Grange Dormitory, picked the winning names. After the drawing, Elaine Mittelman, dean of the sorority, presented Mrs. Newton with a $100 check, proceeds of the drive.

The money will be used to purchase a phonograph machine and other equipment for the children, according to Mrs. Newton.

The drive was started in January, Miss Mittelman said, when the needs of the Nursery School were made known.

PSCA Elects Phyllis James

Phyllis James was elected vice-president of PSCA while Betty Mae Parkhurst was chosen corresponding secretary at the Cabinet's Spring Retreat, Stanley Coville, president, announced.

At this meeting the aims and purposes of the group were discussed and the following was presented as the group's program for the spring semester.

1. To promote religious discussions, worship services, and Bible study groups.
 2. To help Penn State students to live with and understand other people, including the improvement of student-faculty, inter-racial, and inter-cultural relations.
 3. To provide better recreational facilities for students.
 4. Planned programs making the students aware of national, international, political, social, and economic affairs.
 5. To support and promote married couples' programs.
 6. To teach techniques of leadership through group discussion, worship service, social work, etc.
- The PSCA's purpose is to provide an open fellowship among Penn State students and faculty, organized to deepen their spiritual life through worship, study and action; keeping as its objectives the teachings of Christ, but welcoming into the organization people of all faiths, according to Mr. Coville.

867 Married Veterans Register This Semester

Of the 4118 veterans enrolled for the second semester, 867 are married, according to Rebecca Doerner, secretary of veterans' affairs.

Thirteen of the 36 women veterans enrolled for the current semester are married.

Of the total number of veterans, 3664 are students who had been here last semester, while 39 transferred from undergraduate centers, and 381 are enrolled for the first time.

Engineering—

(Continued from page one)

ard T. McWilliams (2.86), John R. Macri (2.50), John B. Nesbitt (2.55), Philip W. Reed (2.52), Donald R. Riley (2.50), Jack W. Risberger (2.52), Matthias J. Schleifer (2.64).

Fred Shaheen (2.61), Peter G. Sulzer (2.88), George Wadlin, Jr. (2.87), William H. Wagner (2.52), Edward L. Wanbaugh, Jr. (2.60), and Robert N. Zeiger (2.75).

Sophomores attaining Dean's List averages include George W. Ashman, Jr. (2.68), William F. Barrett (2.50), Herbert Beckhard (2.52), Russell A. Berger (2.67), Richard A. Bernhard (2.84), Walter J. Bienko (2.56), Wayne E. Boop (2.95) David M. Briner (2.93), George H. Fry, Jr. (2.72), John Francis Gorgol (2.57).

Robert M. Goss (2.50), Lester S. Hackenberry (2.53), Theodore W. Hissey (2.57), Joseph Januszkiewicz (2.66), William E. Long (2.68), Nick Lukacs (2.74), George E. May (2.68), Henry C. Meier (2.62), Robert S. Ogden (2.50), Ross D. Pillsburg, Jr. (2.56).

Fred M. Pollock (2.58), Richard C. Reece (2.50), George R. Reiter (2.60), William G. Reynolds (2.56), Bernard H. Rudnick (2.55), William M. Simpson (2.60), Robert A. Skene (2.67), Rollo Smethers, Jr. (2.81), Perry C. Smith (2.60), Thomas N. Stanzola (2.68), John M. Swigart (2.64), Dale Everett Thompson (2.77).

Charles Russell Tuckey (2.76), Douglas W. Turrell (2.70), John Richard Watkins (2.57), Eugene S. Wheeler (2.61), Warren W. Yenney Jr. (2.58), and Joseph Zaslow (2.61). John W. Lewis, special student, had 2.66.

Charles Z. Klauder of Philadelphia designed the new Old Main.

Italian Child, 13, Gets ISC Support

Giuseppe Lepori, 13 years old, continues to live with his parents and six younger sisters and brothers in Italy partly because of aid from independent students at the College.

During the nationwide famine drive in this country last summer, the Independent Student Committee decided that for its share it would adopt or help one of the suffering war children. Giuseppe was the child that was adopted.

Upon adoption of the child, ISC received a photograph of the child and has since learned much more about him.

Giuseppe and his family live in a small town near Cassino in the heart of one of the areas of fiercest battle in World War II. The father lost both legs in a bombing raid.

Frank Tidona, president of ISC, said, "I am told that the help we are giving Giuseppe together with Foster Parent's Plan aid for the other members of the family has made it possible for the family to live together."

Chess Club Elects Ray McKinley Prexy

Ray McKinley was elected president of the Chess Club at a recent meeting. Other officers elected were Merion Schwimmler, vice-president and recording secretary; William Nucker, corresponding secretary and tournament director; Greg McConnell, treasurer; and Ruth Ann Friedman, publicity chairman.

LUSCIOUS Strawberry Sundaes!

Our tasty own-made ice cream topped by fresh sweet strawberries

REA and DERIC'S
ALLEN STREET

Ibsen has gone modern!!

in

A DOLL'S HOUSE

Players' Streamlined Production of Ibsen's Great Play

COMING—Feb. 27, 28, Mar. 1
Schwab Aud. 8 p.m.

Tickets 50c plus tax

On sale at AA Monday

TONITE

Show Your House Party Date
A Real Fine Evening!

DANCE TO THE
TRU-BLU QUARTET

TONIGHT: FRIDAY

PARADISE CAFE

Dallefonte