

FAIRBANKS—The eleven B-29 crewmen marooned on the ice of Northern Greenland have been rescued by an Army transport plane.

WASHINGTON — Republican Senator William Langer of North Dakota suggested that a personal overture by President Truman might improve relations with the Soviet Union. Langer said Mr. Truman might, as he put it, "pick up a telephone and call Joe Stalin, arrange a meeting and get this matter of fear which each country has for the other, out of the road." Then with fear of war removed, Langer felt that both countries could reduce their spending sharply.

WASHINGTON — The Senate yesterday adopted a limitation on debate in an effort to reach a vote by tomorrow on the controversial reductions in Administration budget estimates. It limits each senator to twenty minutes of debate on each motion and amendment, and on the resolution itself.

The House has voted a six billion dollar reduction in President Truman's original estimate. Senate leaders favor a lesser reduction—about four and one-half billion dollars. But the figure finally approved by Congress probably will be a compromise worked out by a joint conference committee representing both Houses.

WASHINGTON—American occupation commander in Korea, Lt. Gen. John Hodge, revealed here that the Soviet radio had acknowledged that Koreans are being conscripted in the Soviet zone for military training. He said that negotiations to unify Korea now appear hopeless.

Froth Enters Coed In National Contest

John Robert Powers and 15 college humor magazines are sponsoring a contest to choose Miss American Coed of 1947. Each publication will submit the Coed selected on their campus.

Froth, representing the central Eastern states, will enter the Penn State Coed who will be chosen by faculty and administrative members.

Any undergraduate coed may be entered in the contest. All campus groups and individual persons may submit as many pictures as they desire.

Pictures should be 5 x 7 inches, glossy prints, but any size will be acceptable. All pictures must be turned in to Student Union by March 7, according to J. Arthur Stober, Froth editor.

Trustees Approve Mural Completion

The Board of Trustees of the College at a recent meeting approved the recommendation of the President's Committee on the completion of the Henry Varnum Poor mural in the Old Main lobby, according to Prof. Milton S. Osborne, head of the architecture department.

It was agreed in the recommendation that Henry Varnum Poor be retained as painter, and that the mural occupy the east and west walls of the mezzanine floor in Old Main. Upon completion the mural will constitute a continuous band extending from the wainscoting to the under side of the ceiling.

Mr. Poor is expected to shortly submit sketches and full-scale drawings of designs he intends to use. He has suggested that he will use scenes depicting campus life, and the place of the College in the community. He may also show activities of various departments of the College.

Mural Is Famous
The present mural, completed in 1940, is considered one of Henry Varnum Poor's finest works of art and it has received national recognition. Illustrations of the mural have appeared in leading art magazines. "Magazine of Art," popular art journal, printed 14 illustrations together with the frontispiece in one of its issues.

Money Donated
Funds to the amount of $7300 have been donated to the completion of the mural by last year's graduating classes and All-College cabinet. The February, 1946, graduating class contributed $2200, and the June class $1600. Last year, All-College cabinet voted the $3500 profit from the Winter Fantasy ball to the mural's completion.

Lion Coats

Orders for graduating Senior Lion Coats will be taken Monday at Student Union, Charles Pfelegor, senior class president, said today. The price will be $1.90 for each coat. Seniors may try on coats for size when they give the order.

"These coats are a Penn State tradition and are sold only to graduating seniors," said Pfelegor.

Germany Awaits Another War Without Fear—Erika Mann

Says Present Problem Cannot Be Solved If Reich Is Ruled By Three Nations

"Everywhere else in the world, the people are afraid of another war, but the German people are not afraid—they are hoping for another war," said Erika Mann, authoress and daughter of the late Thomas Mann, in her recent Community Forum lecture in Schwab Auditorium.

"Low morale, lack of food and housing, fear of revolution, and fear of communism are important differences between Germany and the rest of Europe, or the rest of the world," she continued.

The only difference which is labelled exclusively Germany, according to the lecturer, is that Germany rather than fearing another war, hopes for it.

Three Rulers
"As long as partitioned Germany continues to be ruled by three sets of congregations, the German problem cannot be solved," Miss Mann said.

She believes that the German problem can be solved only if it is "the fruit of Allied unity."

"There as everywhere on earth everything depends on whether the Western democracy and Russia can come to terms," the newspaperwoman said.

According to Miss Mann, Germans firmly believe that all the United States wants to do is to

Penn State Students Bunch of Farmers Says Brat

It was fine to be home for a week-end, thought the study-weary history major as he relaxed with a coke in the drug store of his hometown between semesters.

One year, he mused happily, and his life work of teaching history and economics in a high school or college would begin.

Suddenly he became aware of a small boy, probably eight or nine years old, staring at him through thick-lensed glasses, his head tilted in curiosity.

"Do you go to college?" he asked the student.

"Yes, I do," the future professor replied.

"Where do you go to college?"

"Penn State."

"Oh," said the little lad, relaxing with a gap-toothed grin, "you're going to be a farmer, aren't you?"

WSGA Appoints Nelson President; Waygood Resigns

Taylor Moves Up to Fill Vacated Secretary Post

Jean Nelson has been appointed WSGA president by Senate following the resignation of Mary Lou Waygood from the post.

Miss Nelson, who was runner-up for the presidency in the Spring elections, has been WSGA secretary. Janet Taylor, second runner-up to Miss Waygood, will replace Miss Nelson as secretary.

Miss Nelson is a member of Mortar Board and Tau Phi Sigma. Among her past activities were Junior Service Board president and McAllister Hall president.

Miss Taylor is a member of Mortar Board, Players, La Vie senior board, and Ellen H. Richards Club. She has been vice-president of WSGA, speaker of the House of Representatives, and a Cwen.

It is the custom of Senate to fill all vacancies during the school year by this procedure—election within the Senate itself. The following is a letter from Miss Waygood.

Excerpts from Miss Waygood's Letter:
To The Members of WSGA Senate:

It is with great regret that I am writing this letter, but it has become necessary. For some months I have been under the care of my family physician, and in view of my health condition he has recommended that I give up my position of extra-curricular responsibilities.

For this reason I am now requesting Senate to accept my resignation as WSGA President.

It has been with great pleasure that I have served WSGA and worked with the members of Senate during the past months. Because of this and feeling the responsibility of the office to which I was elected, it has not been without much thought and debate that I have been able to write my resignation.

The months ahead will be busy ones for WSGA and I have confidence that each of you will be able to hold to the fine standards and fill the position of leadership and prestige for which WSGA has always been known.

Mary Louise Waygood.
