

Orchid, Prizes Highlight Show

An Army orchid sent by Tom Hensman from Hollywood, will be given to the oldest lady at the "Breakfast in Hollywood" show which is being given by the Alpha Xi Delta Sorority March 21 at 8 p. m. in Schwab Auditorium.

The orchid is being sent air mail, special delivery, by Mr. Hensman, who personally supervised each show by sending posters and advertising material.

Other prizes which will be featured at the "Breakfast in Hollywood" show have just been announced by Mrs. C. R. Gearhart, chairman of the committee.

The Grand Doo, Prize will be "My Treasure Diamond Ring" donated by the Mur Jewelry Store. A One Name Make-up Kit will be given from Rea and Derick, and Co. Address are donating a $50 winning ring.

Education Association Initiates New Members

Membership in the Penn State Chapter of the Association of Childhood Education is now open to students interested in elementary education or childhood development. Francine Gittlemacher, president, said today.

Initiation of new members will be held at the southeast Atherton lounge at 8 o'clock Tuesday. Miss Gittlemacher will speak on "Beautification of the Teacher."

The object of this organization is to exchange professional ideas and experiences, make social contacts, and gain professional experience by working with children.

Anyone interested should contact Miss Gittlemacher at Grange Farm.

Center Club

Campus Center Club will hold a Fun Night Party in 304 Old Main from 8 to 12 o'clock tonight. All members and their guests are invited, according to Thomas Hyne, president.

Debate Teams to Meet At Shippensburg College

Eight members of the men's and women's debate teams will leave Friday for Shippensburg State Teacher's College, Shippensburg, to compete in the annual tournament there.

The Shippensburg meet customarily includes debaters from Gettysburg, Catholic University, George Washington, Dickinson, Temple, American University, Maryland, West Virginia and other eastern institutions.

Representing the men's debate squad, Samuel Neely, Peter Giesey, Harris Gilbert, and Fred Kecker will attempt to retain the tourney championship won by the College squad when the meet was held in 1945.

Neely and Giesey will join in the presentation of the affirmative view of the labor-management question: "Resolved, That labor should have a direct share in the management of industry." Gilbert and Kecker will make up the negative team.

WOMEN'S SQUAD

Prof. Clayton H. Schug, coach of the women's team, has delegated four coeds to vie in the tournament. Helen Dickerson and Dorothy Leeds compose the affirmative team, with Jean Dalton and Ann Hay to argue the negative.

Judicial Extends Hours For Concerts, Lectures

Lois App, chairman of Judicial, has announced the following rule which has recently been approved by the Senate as an addition to the constitution:

"If week night forums or concerts should not end at 10 or after, coeds will receive a reasonable amount of time to return to their dorms without penalty. The coed must sign out for the forum or concert if she expects to receive this late permission."

Permissions for other special occasions may be granted in the future by Judicial, and notice will be given in the Collegian.

1947 Catalogue Ready For Faculty Members

A 1947 College catalogue has been published and is being distributed to faculty and administrative offices this week, but will probably not be given to individual students, said William S. Hoffman, registrar.

Copies will be available to students through their advisors. The current shortage of printing materials has dictated this policy, the Registrar's Office reported.

Of 9000 copies ordered, 2100 have been received to date. Most of these are earmarked for campus offices.

ton will deliver the constructive speeches, and Miss Leeds and Miss Hay will cross-examine opposing teams. Accompanying this squad will be Prof. William Hamilton of the Speech Department.

SIX MATCHES

One of the very few tournaments to utilize the cross-examination style of debate, the Shippensburg meet will place each competing unit in six matches.

In former years the number of matches was eight, and in winning the last tourney, the men's squad compiled a record of six won and two lost, numbering among its victims, the women's team of the College.

Barbara L. Troxell, '37 Sings at Town Hall In New York City

Barbara M. L. Troxell, graduate in music education at the College in the Class of 1937, was presented Saturday afternoon as a "debut" artist at Town Hall in New York.

A soprano, Miss Troxell two years ago was a finalist in the Metropolitan Auditions of the Air. She also has been heard as soloist with the New York City Symphony and as assisting artist with Down Town Glee Club in New York.

While an undergraduate at the College, Miss Troxell, whose home is in Nazareth, sang in the women's glee club, the choir, played in the women's orchestra, and was active in Thespians. She was a member of the Louise Homer Club, music honorary society, and of Pi Lambda Theta, education fraternity.

Coeds Elect Honor Girl

All coeds will vote for Quill girl during the week of March 10 at Student Union, according to Lynette Lundquist, president of Theta Sigma Phi, women's journalism honorary.

Candidates are Joan Harrington, Mary Margaret Barnett, Mary Lou Waygood and Ann Baker, presidents of Mortar Board, Junior Service Board, WSGA and WRA.

The winner will be revealed at the Matrix Table of Theta Sigma Phi at the Nittany Lion Inn March 17. Cap and Matrix girls, who are chosen by Theta Sigma Phi members, will also be announced at the banquet.

Windcrest Plans Social Program

Swimming parties and dance plans were discussed by Windcrest residents at a recent mass meeting. Complaints on telephone service and lack of mail boxes were also brought up.

The first swimming party will be held in the Glensland Pool from 7 to 9 p.m. on Tuesday. These parties will be held every other week on Tuesday evening. There will be no charge, but 15 couples must be present to assure continuance of the program.

Monthly dances in the Elks Club ballroom will be definitely planned for the future and officials will be contacted about additional telephones by the Burgess.

Residents requested better mail service as there are no mail boxes at the present in Windcrest. The nearest boxes are at Pollock Circle and on campus.
