LAKE SUCCESS—The United Nations Security Council voted unanimously last night to send the entire complicated atomic energy control question back to the UN atomic commission. The action followed the flat rejection by the United States of the Russian atomic plan.

WASHINGTON—David Lillenthal emerged victorious in the first round of the battle to name a chairman of the vital civilian atomic energy commission. The Senate atomic committee gave him an eight to one vote, and that ballot was followed with the pledges of three Republican senators to back Lillenthal in the coming Senate fight.

PALESTINE—Land mines and hand grenades exploded in the northeast section of Jerusalem. British troops and armored cars immediately marched into security areas, but no general alert was sounded.

WASHINGTON—Herbert Hoover turned over to President Truman a report that recommended the United States should spend 155 million dollars in the next 15 months to put Austria back on its feet. Hoover said the money is for food, medicine and agricultural supplies alone. He said the relief program is necessary if Austria is not again to be the poorhouse of Europe.

CHINA—The Nationalist government clamped down on Formosa, instituting martial law and ordering a reinforced army division to the troubled island. A bitter Formosan delegation charged in Nanking that authorities had massacred three to four thousand persons.

ENGLAND—Britain's Labor government sent Sir Stafford Cripps to bat yesterday in the opening round of an economic debate. And Cripps—chief of export trade—laid down a line of Socialist planning with capitalistic industry as the way for Britain to emerge from its internal troubles.

WASHINGTON—Officials of the Arab office say their records were examined for several hours yesterday by two FBI agents. The Arab office is an agency supported by seven Arab governments. One official said the agency has nothing to hide. The Arab office publishes information about the Near East and has opposed Jewish immigration into Palestine.

WASHINGTON—The Supreme Court took the spotlight. It upheld the unionization of foremen by a 5 to 4 vote. It ruled that unions cannot be convicted in anti-trust cases unless the acts of union officers were authorized.

And the Supreme Court received a plea from Attorney General Clark to enforce the "no strike" edict against John L. Lewis at once. Attorneys for Lewis argued that delay would not harm the public interest.

Skylark

By Richard Frontman

The penthouse style of production was effectively presented to the State College audience Friday night when Players' presented "Skylark" at the State College Hotel.

A system of staging in which the audience is seated on all four sides of the play—much as spectators are seated at a football game—the arena production seemed to create a feeling of intimacy and warmth that some of the more recent productions in Schwab have lacked.

The effect created is one in which the person in the audience feels almost as if he were on the stage with the actors. As a matter of fact, this is practically true, since the first row of seats is only a foot or two from the actual acting arena.

It is difficult to analyze the arena style of production merely on the strength of the show. Certainly the "sitting in the parlor" effect is a desirable asset.

The fact that the actors can use their natural voices is also an advantage. On the debit side of the ledger seems to be an inability to create emphasis—consequently the laughs are not as hearty nor the climaxes as easily

Raebun Signs For IFC Ball

Boyd Raeburn and his orchestra have been signed to play for IFC Ball, April 18, said Robert Foote, Interfraternity Council dance committee chairman.

Foote has appointed sub-committees to aid him in planning the affair. Robert Hirsh and John Watkins are in charge of publicity, John Cameron and Charles Pfeegor will handle booths and refreshments, James P. Jones is supervising tickets, and Robert Koser is in charge of decorations.

IFC Ball will be a no-corsage dance, with the admission price set at $4. There will be no additional charge for booths, according to Foote. Member fraternities have yet to decide if the dance will be formal.

X-GI Club Reorganizes

X-GI Club members and other former members of the services are urged to attend the first meeting this semester of the X-GI Club in 121 Sparks at 7 p. m. today, Eugene Fulmer, club president, said.

Fulmer said the meeting would be largely reorganizational and would also deal with plans for renting Woodman's Hall for dances over a trial period. If the plan is a success, the hall will be rented for a year, he explained.

Plans will be made to conduct an Easter egg roll for the children of married veterans and the club will take a stand on the current racial discrimination discussions on campus.

Fulmer pointed out that the club would need the wholehearted support of student members in order to back its many ventures. In addition to movies, the club began surveys on rent rates which culminated in the OPA settling rates in State College. It also began the Student Union Committee later taken over by Council.

The club was organized when veterans first returned to the campus. Since that time it has grown into a large organization representing veteran and student opinion on campus.

Parmi Nous

All members of Parmi Nous, men's senior activities honorary, are requested to attend a luncheon to be held at the State College Hotel at noon tomorrow.

Nature Helps Lotstein When Science Falls; Watch in Good Condition

Herman Lotstein and his wrist-watch have been reunited.

As previously reported, Lotstein had given up almost all hope of ever seeing his Bulova again. The failure of modern science had discouraged him.

Over the past weekend something resembling a spring thaw came to State College, and enabled Mr. John C. Ocker, on whose property the watch was lost, to succeed where science could not.

Engaged in sweeping his porch, Mr. Ocker, 322 S. Allen street, happened to glance at his lawn from which the snow had melted. There, where the mine sweeper had serched in vain, was Herman Lotstein's wristwatch.

Mr. Ocker notified Lotstein immediately, and when questioned Lotstein said the watch was keeping perfect time.

Engineers Limit Dance Tickets

Ticket sales for the Engineer Slide Rule Ball this Saturday night will be limited to 1500 couples, according to Herbert Locke, publicity manager of the Engineer.

Members of the Engineering Student Council and of the Engineer staff members will sell tickets this week until Thursday when they will go on sale at the Student Union and the Athletic Store. Any remaining tickets will be sold at the door, said Locke.

The crowning of the Queen of the ball will be one of the features of the dance. Pictures of College coeds have been sent to a New York model agency for the selection. The Queen will receive a bouquet of American beauty roses and a special award to be announced later.

This dance will also be a "no-corsage" dance, according to dance chairman Locke.

New Clique Organizes

State political clique held a preliminary organization meeting Sunday night, when the temporary co-chairmen, Abram Bosler and Robert Frankhouse, explained the party's setup.

They said that the entire clique will be divided into voting and non-voting members in order to insure equal representation. Each fraternal group will be allowed one voting representative, and independent groups will be allowed one representative per fifteen members. However, any party member may attend meetings, join in the discussions, and make nominations.

The clique will hold an informal mixer Sunday afternoon at the Pi Kappa Phi House, and anyone may attend, according to Frankhouse.

Permanent clique officers will be elected in 405 Old Main at 7:30 Sunday night. Jane Fouracre is temporary secretary-treasurer of the clique.

College Debate Squads Tie For First Places

Penn State women and men's debate squads tied for first place with Dickinson and Westminster Colleges in the annual cross-examination tournament at Shippensburg Saturday.

Competing with ten Pennsylvania colleges and West Virginia, the affirmative teams of both State squads were undefeated. Topic of the debates was "Should labor be given a direct share in the management of industry?"

Sigma Delta Chi

WSGA, WRA Hold Nominations; Coeds Choose Fall Officers

Women's Organizations Name Slates; Mass Meeting Planned to Select Leaders

WSGA and WRA will give all coeds an opportunity to nominate their representatives for next year, at a mass meeting in 110 Home Ec., 7 p.m., Wednesday.

Primary elections will be held Tuesday, March 18, and the final elections will take place Friday, March 21.

The senior nominating committees of WSGA and WRA will present their slate, and then the floor will be open for further nominations.

The WSGA slate includes the following nominees for offices:

Joan Bissey, Violet Gillespie, and Suzanne Romig, for president. Susan Bissey and Dorothy Lees, for treasurer.

Virginia McClusky and Phyllis Reigle, for senior senator.

Barbara Keefer and Frances Welker, for the office of junior senator; Sarah Bieber and Silvia Schenfeld, for independent senator; and Helen Dickerson and Cynthia Doan, for town senator.

Jean Nelson, WSGA prexy, stated that in nominating representatives, coeds should consider initiative, interest in WSGA, efficiency, and pick representatives who want to be of service to the College.

Qualifications for WSGA offices include an all-college average of 1.5, and the girls must have no judicial record. The president must have served one year on WSGA senate, and be a senior next fall.

The vice-president must be sixth semester next fall; and the treasurer, junior senator, and town senator must be juniors next fall. The independent senator may be of any semester.

The WRA senior nominating committee will present the following slate of nominees for office:

Claire Parks, Lee Ann Wagner, for president.

Claire Lee, and Dolores Piccone, for vice-president.

Pauline Globish, Aletha Potteiger, and Nancy Romig, for intra-mural chairman.

The positions of secretary-treasurer, assistant intra-mural chairman, and two sophomore representatives cannot be filled until next fall, due to the absence of freshmen women last fall.

Ann Baker, WRA president, stated that all nominees must have a 1.5 average, and the president must have served two years on the WRA executive board.

The president must be a senior next fall, and the vice-president and intra-mural chairman must be juniors next fall.

Nominations include Herbert Abrams, Harriet Adler, Edward Atwater, Howard Back, Robert Engle, Alan Gessner, Ernest Herwitz, Betty Lou Horn, Roberta Hutchinson, Henry La Voice, Herbert Lipp, Lynette Lundquist.

Skit to Satirize Early Coed Life

"Petroleum Easton, Female Student," or "Slick Hick vs. Penn State Peasants" will be a feature attraction at the 10th annual Matrix Table at the Nittany Lion Inn Monday, said Lynette Lundquist, president of Theta Sigma Phi.

The skit was written by Kay Badollet, Marilyn Jacobson, and Jean Thurston. It will satirize college scenes of 75 years ago when coeds were first admitted to the campus.

Quill Girl will be announced at the dinner. All coeds may vote for their choice at Student Union desk this week.

Contestants are Ann Baker, WRA president; Mary Margaret Barnett, Junior Service Board president; Joan Harrington, Mortar Board president; and Jean Nelson, WSGA president.

Coeds with invitations to the Matrix Dinner should make a reservation at Student Union desk before noon on Saturday. Invitations are not transferable.
