Amateur Talent Performs On Stage In Schwab Tonight

Two hours of music, comedy and other amateur entertainment will be presented by the Penn State Club in its All-College Talent Night at Schwab Auditorium at 8 o'clock tonight, according to Hugh Odza, publicity chairman of the club.

Master of ceremonies for Talent Night will be Henry Glass, who recently starred as the forlorn lover in the "Imaginary Invalid," said Odza.

Prizes of 15, 10 and 5 dollars are being offered to contestants presenting the best performances. Three students, Vera Slezak, Ben French and Stephen Sinichak, and two faculty members, Guy Woods of the music department and Frank Morris, College Personnel Officer, will be judges.

Novelty Singers

Included among the dozen numbers on the program is a group of novelty songs by the Honey Boys. Other singers are the Bar 1 Boys, who do original novelty songs, and the Pan-Hel trio. John Benglian, 1946 intercollegiate boxing champion in the 125 pound class, will also sing.

Other specialty numbers on the program are impersonations by Raymond Kelly and a Russian dance by Pearl Miller.

Intermission Music

Intermission and accompaniment music will be provided by the Modernaires. A special guest artist, not competing for prizes, is J. J. Hromadik, who will introduce "Magic Moments."

Tickets, priced at thirty cents, including tax, are on sale at Student Union. A pair of complimentary tickets for each paid-up member of the Penn State Club may be picked up in 321 Old Main after 3:30 p.m., said Albert Lucas, president of that group. Tickets will also be on sale at the door tonight, Lucas added.

Howard To Speak At Chapel Service

Rev. George G. Howard, minister of the Unitarian Church of Hackensack, N. J., will speak on "Men of Power" at the Sunday morning chapel services in Schwab Auditorium.

Rev. Howard has been addressing adult and youth groups on emotional hygiene for the past 11 years. He has been a Unitarian minister for 17 years.

A graduate of Syracuse University, Howard did graduate work at Harvard in the department of philosophy. He studied theology at the Union Theological Seminary.

Following graduate work in psychology at Columbia, he had a year's clinical training at the Greystone Mental Hospital.

Hoffman Issues Revised Regulations

A revised list of student regulations as prepared by the committee on welfare and passed by The College Senate, was released by William S. Hoffman, yesterday.

Rule 34. The final examination period is a part of the regular semester, and the final examination is an integral part of a course. Final examinations shall be given in all courses unless, because of the special character of the work in a particular course, action to the contrary is taken by the department and the executive office of the school concerned.

Finals

No final examinations shall be given outside of the regular examination period. Any changes in schedule within the examination period must have the approval of the executive office of the school and the college scheduling officer.

Daily Collegian Fetes Coeds

The Daily Collegian joins with other campus groups in extending congratulations to Penn State coeds who are celebrating their 75th Anniversary at the College.

Pictures and stories of coeds—now and 75 years ago—are featured on pages 4 and 5 of this issue.

No specific date has been set for the celebration of the anniversary as various groups have planned a series of programs and dances that will extend over the entire Spring semester.

Women's Student Government Association led off with its "Anniversary Waltz" on March 1. Matrix Dinner with its skits on early women's doings at the College, and the election of Quill Girl, will add further fuel to the celebration bonfire.

DG's To Present Benefit Musicale

A musical program will be presented by the Alpha Chi chapter and the State College Alumnae Association of Delta Gamma at the Nittany Lion Inn at 3:30 p.m. Sunday. Tickets may be purchased from active and alumnae members.

Vocal and piano music will be included in the benefit musicale. Funds received will be contributed to the fraternity project, "Aid to the Blind," through which nursery schools are maintained and special medical care is given to blind and partially blind children.

The program features dual piano numbers by Jane Cowell and Janet Long. Singing will be by Rebecca Griffin and the Delta Gamma chorus. Anne Louise Decker will recite "The Barrel Organ," Alfred Noves.

Coeds Attend Matrix Table

Coeds who have received invitations and plan to attend the 10th annual Matrix Table which will be held in the Nittany Lion Inn, Monday night, are asked to make reservations before 5 p.m. today, said Lynette Lundquist, Theta Sigma Phi president.

Mrs. Virginia G. McCone, director of Retail Merchandising for the Ladies' Home Journal, will be the guest speaker. Also Cap, Matrix, and Quill Girls will be announced.

Voting for Quill Girl (see pictures on page 3) will continue until Saturday noon at Student Union. Cap Girl, coed with the greatest number of varied activities, and Matrix Girl, coed with the most general contribution to the College, will be chosen by Theta Sigma Phi members.

Another feature of the dinner will be a skit entitled "Petroleum Easton, Female Student" or "Slick Hick vs. Penn State Peasant," written by Kay Badollet, Marilyn Jacobson, and Jean Thurston.

Before the banquet new members of Theta Sigma Phi will be pledged. The pledges include Janet Adler, Roberta Hutchison, Betsy Marshall, Joan Peters, Mary Ann Pletcher, Helen Reed, Marie Thompson and Adele Yablon.

Pundt Speaks to LA Forum

"Germany's Academic Goosstep" will be the subject of a talk by Dr. Alfred G. Pundt, associate professor of history, at the Liberal Arts Lecture Forum in 121 Sparks, 8 p.m. Monday.

Dr. Pundt spent several years in Europe before the war. He was in France when the war broke out in 1939. At that time he enlisted in the American Army as a private. By 1945 he had become a major general and had been appointed military governor of Bavaria where he was in charge of educational and religious affairs.

While in France, the speaker began doing research on French working classes, a project on which he is still working.

As an undergraduate at Iowa State University, Dr. Pundt studied political science and economics. He received his Ph.D. in History at Columbia University and has been at the College since 1931.

The Soviet Union reacted to President Truman's new anti-Communist foreign policy last night. According to the official Russian News Agency, Tass, in a dispatch to the Soviet press, the message to congress urging aid to Greece and Turkey was frankly directed against democratic elements in Greece.

General Joseph T. McNarney, the retiring American commander in Germany declared that if there is any intention to take troops from Germany for use in Greece, there are not enough men in Germany to do it. McNarney also bluntly denied Soviet charges that the United States is maintaining German military formations in its occupation zone.

The Big Four foreign ministers are engaged in a new wrangle over China. Highly-placed informants say that the United States will agree to talk about China informally, if the Chinese government takes part.

New systems of officer promotion have been suggested for both the Army and the Navy. For the Army, Secretary of War Patterson has proposed a system of promotion based entirely on merit. The outstanding feature of the proposal for the Navy is that it would create a group of younger admirals.

SDX, TSP Publish College Who's Who

"Who's Who in the News" will be published by Sigma Delta Chi and Theta Sigma Phi, men's and women's journalism honoraries, according to Stephen Sinichak, editor of the new publication.

The book, which will become an annual publication, will include prominent Penn State students in the news.

Meryl Brown has been chosen assistant editor.

Dean Warnock states, "Who's Who in the News' strikes me as being something much needed here and I certainly shall use it a lot. With the start made this year I have no doubt that this publication will grow in importance and prestige as the years go on."

The Selections Committee, composed of the All-College President, WSGA President, the Editor of Collegian, and the Editor and Assistant Editor of the new publication, met Wednesday night to choose those students to be mentioned.

Applications will be sent out next week for biographies of students selected by the Selections Committee.

X-GI Club Dances Open To Men's Dorm Students

Pollock Circle residents and their dates have been invited to be guests at the X-GI club dance in Woodman's Hall from 8 to 12 o'clock tomorrow night, Gene Fulmer, president, said yesterday.

The dance will be closed to all except members with cards, and students from Pollock Circle with meal tickets.

Music will be provided by records donated through the courtesy of the College Book and Record Shop.

Dance Queen To Receive Engraved Loving Cup

Claude Thornhill and his orchestra will play tomorrow night in Recreation Hall from 8 to 12 for the fifth annual Slide Rule Ball.

Sponsored jointly by the Engineering Student Council and the Penn State Engineer, this dance is a semi-formal, no corsage affair.

Winner of the Penn State Engineer scholarship will be announced at the dance, and will receive his $50 cash award.

Queen of the Ball will be crowned at the dance and will be presented with a loving cup engraved with her name. She will also receive a bouquet of American Beauty roses.

Decoration will feature a theme of silver and blue. Blinking stars will hang from a canopy of blue, and the walls will be covered with more stars. A rising and setting moon will decorate the bandstand.

A bulletin board telling the locations of the various booths will be set up at the entrance. The Engineer has set aside five booths for Pollock Circle men and three for Windcrest couples.

Thornhill will feature his own piano arrangements and arrangement specialties. "Snowfall," the band's theme displays his talents as composer and arranger.

Fran Warren, former Cosmo recording artist, completes the band as vocalist. She joined the orchestra during its engagement in New York City.

FFA to Hold Third Banquet

The third annual banquet of the Future Farmers of America will be held in the banquet room of the State College Hotel at 6:30 o'clock tonight. About 75 members, wives and guests have been invited.

Speakers will be John Taylor, State College attorney, and John Zubler, teacher of vocational agriculture at the Spring Mills school.

Dewey Brumbaugh, newly-elected FFA president, will preside as toastmaster. Ken Stayer, past president, will summarize the past four years' work while Jack Dolly will outline the chapter's program for the coming year.

David Maclay, who teaches the use of visual aids in the agricultural education department, and Glenn O. Bressler, of the poultry husbandry staff, will be initiated as honorary members of the Penn State Chapter, Future Farmers of America.

Officers of the collegiate FFA chapter, in addition to President Brumbaugh are Fred Hughes, vice-president; Ray Heimbech, secretary; Elmer Sealover, treasurer; William Robinson, reporter; and Chester Lathrop, sentinel.
