Twenty Years Too Long

MOSCOW — Reliable sources say, the United States will oppose Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov's demand that $10 billion in German reparations to Russia be spread over a twenty-year period. They say that Britain probably will adopt a similar attitude to Molotov's demand.

Wage Parley Collapses

CLEVELAND — Wage increase negotiations have collapsed between the CIO Rubber Workers and Goodyear, Goodrich, Firestone and United States Rubber companies. Next Sunday at midnight has been set as the deadline for a strike by the rubber workers.

Greek Aid Bill Up

WASHINGTON — Chairman Charles Eaton of the House Foreign Affairs Committee says the Committee hopes to have the Greek assistance bill before it tomorrow. The bill has been delayed by an effort to satisfy congressional demands for some restrictions on the president's demand for assistance.

Court Forbids Strike

The Supreme Court in effect has told John L. Lewis that no March 31st strike will be tolerated in an order that its mandate in his case should go in effect on March 20th instead of March 31st as it would have otherwise. This ruling orders Lewis to cancel his notice terminating his soft coal miners' contract with the Government and notify the miners he has done so.

UK Storm Kills 15

LONDON — Fifteen were dead last night in Britain, as the result of a hurricane and the worst flood in more than half a century. New gale warnings have been posted on all English coasts.

Institute Offers Medical Exams

Free medical examinations of men 17 to 50 will be made by the Ellen H. Richards Institute of the College. The examinations are to be given in connection with medical and nutritional tests that the Institute is now making.

The person being tested will receive a full report of the findings and also a duplicate for his physician.

Men of the College and community who are interested or desire more information are requested to call Katherine H. Fisher, 711, ext. 251.

The tests are being made in connection with a project sponsored by the Department of Health of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and the Quartermaster Food and Containers Institute for the Armed Forces.

Among the observations and tests are thorough medical and physical examinations, an electrocardiogram, x-rays, blood, and urine tests for proteins and vitamins, and eye and mouth examination with the biomicroscope. Eating habits and food preferences will also be ascertained by means of a questionnaire.

IMA Ball To Feature Music Of Campus Owls

The Campus Owls will play for the IMA Ball in Recreation Hall Friday night. Benjamin Levy, chairman of the Independent Men's Association dance committee, said today.

Admission to the affair, which is informal, will be free to IMA members. Non-members will be charged $1.20 for tickets to the ball.

Assisting Levy on the dance committee are Paul Daugherty, Salvatore Rocci, James Stevens and Charles Troutman.

Ag Student-Faculty

Prof. John O. Almqvist will give a talk on "Full Milk Pails From Test Tubes" at the monthly Ag Student-Faculty Forum in 109 Ag Building at 7:30 tomorrow.

Thornton Names

Joyce Parker Engineer Queen

Highlight of the Slide Rule Ball last Saturday night was the choosing of Joyce Parker as queen. Larry Sanders was awarded the Penn State Engineer's annual scholarship.

Walter Thornton, New York model agency head, chose the queen by photograph from among 15 final contestants.

Miss Parker, seventh semester psychology major, was entered by her sorority, Kappa Alpha Theta. Aside from the honor itself, she received two dozen roses and a loving cup trophy. Her picture will be printed in the next issue of the Penn State Engineer.

The $50 scholarship given to Larry Sanders was won on the basis of scholarship and activities.

Another interesting highlight of the evening was the Bar 3 Trio that performed during the intermission of Claude Thornhill's music. This trio is the song and dance act composed of Mary Fisher, Howie Kliezman and Herb Rossman, that won first place at the Penn State Club's Talent Show last Friday night.

Their act was featured by two songs, "State College Blues" and "Down in the Cuban Sugar Fields" which they wrote themselves.

Elliot Returns For Mil Ball

Elliot Lawrence and his orchestra will again visit the College, in less than two weeks when they play for the first post-war presentation of the Army and Navy ROTC's Military Ball to be held in Recreation Hall on March 29.

Last seen here for the X.G.I. Club's Spring Nocturne dance on April 12, Lawrence will be remembered for his unusual and popular musical arrangements. He combines the run-of-the-mill styles of present day name bands with his own ideas and turns out such melodic orchestrations as his currently popular "I Know," "Once Upon A Moon," "Strange Love," and "In Apple Blossom Time."

Military Ball co-chairmen, Cadet Col. Phillip Jones and Midshipman Henry Brenner said today that the invitations for the ball have been distributed and that preparations for decorating Recreation Hall are underway.

The dance committee wishes to remind students and guests that this will be a formal, no-corsage affair, and uniforms are authorized and requested.

Three Bar Three Boys Win Talent Night Show

First prize of 15 dollars in the Penn State Talent Night, Friday, was awarded to the 3 Bar 3 Boys, Marvin Fisher, Howard Kleidman and Herbert Rossman. The group sang three original novelty tunes.

Second prize went to William Walker for his presentation of "I Love You for Sentimental Reasons," and third prize was taken by the Honey Boys, James Beach, Boyd Bell, William Davey, Jack Oyle, and Paul Teare.

Master of ceremonies was Henry Glass and music was provided by the Modernaires.

Change in Classes

Lewis Clark had to make a demonstration talk in Speech 200. So he brought his baby in to demonstrate how to change a diaper. The baby was obliging, and the change was necessary.

Marine Corps Reserve

The State College Marine Corps Reserve Unit for marine officers and enlisted men will meet in 200 Engineering E at 7:00 o'clock tonight to discuss organization and program.

Quill Girl

Quill Girl for the Theta Sigma Phi Matrix Table was awarded to Jean Nelson, president of WSGA, at the dinner last night.

Jean Dalton and Mary Waygood were the winners of Cap Girl for the girl with outstanding activities, and Matrix Girl for contributions to the College.

Newsmen Split On Russia Policy

We must look at the possibility of success rather than of failure with Russia, according to Walter Duranty, newspaper correspondent debating with his colleague, H. R. Knickerbocker, who maintains that there will always be two worlds, Russia's and America's, in the fifth of the series of Community Forum lectures in Schwab Auditorium Thursday.

"The reasons for hostility which once existed do not exist now," Duranty said. He pointed to the popular dislike of the Bolshevik revolution, and said that world revolution is not uppermost in the minds of the Russians today.

Knickerbocker, on the other hand, debated that if the United States had taken the stand against Hitler which we have now taken against Stalin, we might never have had World War III. With this stand, he argued, we shall not have World War III.

AXD Program Helps Dutch

Approximately $1000 worth of gifts will be given away on the "Breakfast in Hollywood" program to be held in Schwab Auditorium at 8 p.m. Friday.

"Breakfast in Hollywood" is being sponsored by Alpha Xi Delta sorority in an effort to raise money for Dutch relief. The gifts are donations of State College merchants.

Tickets for the program may be purchased at the Corner Room, Student Union or from any member of Alpha Xi Delta.

Cabinet Promotes Plans For Nationwide Unity

Richard Sarge, chairman of the All-College Publicity Committee, at the recent meeting of All-College Cabinet, reported on the committee's efforts toward obtaining nationwide publicity for the College.

The group plans to secure as much publicity as possible for the queen of the engineers' Slide Rule Ball.

The committee has sent a letter to Life explaining the All-College government setup, emphasizing its democracy, and suggesting that the magazine cover the College's spring elections. However, Sarge said that no reply had been received as yet.

Students in journalism classes also may aid in collecting information for the committee and for Public Information.

Coeds Vote In Election Primary Use Dormitories For Balloting

Froth Mimics New Yorker

The Foolish Gentlemen were up bright and early this morning to see their first post-war Froth Parody issue on the stands today at the Corner and Student Union.

This famous annual issue is a parody of the New Yorker, the Collegian, and Look magazine's photo crime.

Also in this issue is a special article entitled "Executive, Proxy, and Boopy," which is an informal and intimate glimpse of President Hetzel.

Exclusively written for this parody issue is a feature on "Early Penn State" by James T. Dugan, 1937 Froth editor.

Mr. Dugan, who is feature editor of Salute, the civilian counterpart of Yank, was on Campus recently doing a story about veterans. He wrote the "Penn State" feature at the request of the editors of Froth.

During the war, Mr. Dugan worked on the editorial staff of Yank. He has also been a cartoonist for Colliers and the Saturday Evening Post. One of his articles, "Bedlam in the Boudoir," appeared in a recent issue of Colliers.

Keep Off Grass Campaign Begins

The annual campaign to preserve the lawns on campus begins today, it was announced by Charles D. Pfeleeger, chairman of the Keep Off the Grass Committee.

Working in conjunction with Grounds and Buildings, the committee plans to erect signs at various points on campus. Plans for additional walks will be submitted to the next meeting of the Board of Trustees.

Chairman Pfeleeger explained, "The purpose of this campaign is not to decide whether or not a student or faculty member has the privilege of walking on the grass. Rather, it is to point out the great need for staying off the grass during the Spring months.

"We hope everyone will realize the necessity of allowing the grass to get started for the year. Only through the cooperation of all will the beauty of the Penn State Campus be maintained," he concluded.

Panhel Announces Informal Rushing

Panhellenic Council announces that there will be a policy of free association in rushing until the end of the semester, and sororities may send their bids into the Dean of Women's Office at any time.

The council voted to have a formal rush season, early in the fall, preceded by registration. Open houses will be scheduled before panhellenic registration, to enable girls to become acquainted with the various sororities.

The revised Panhellenic Sing will be on May 18, according to Florence Rathford, president of the council. It will be a non-competitive affair, with a representative group from each sorority. The council feels that the revised program will eliminate the lengthiness of the affair, and still retain the old tradition.

Home Ec Honorary Initiates 7 Grad Students

Seven graduate students were recently initiated in Omicron Nu, home economics honorary. They are Suzanne Davison, Marion Fleming, Mrs. Florence Fralin, Aurelia Gebler, Mrs. Margaret Harris, Dorothea Ruth, and Mrs. Mary Litis Shaffer.

Make Final Selection Of Officers Tomorrow

WRA and WSGA primary elections will be held in the girls' dormitories from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. today. Final elections will follow tomorrow under the same set-up.

Atherton: Atherton girls and Kappa Alpha Theta will vote in the lobby.

McAllister Hall: McAllister girls, Chi Omega, Delta Gamma, Alpha Omicron Pi, Theta Phi Alpha, and Phi Mu will vote in the lobby.

Woman's Building: Girls living there will vote in the lobby.

Jordan Hall: Tri-Dorm girls and Kappa Kappa Gamma will vote at poll near the Jordan Hall post office.

Student Union: Girls living at practice houses, and all town dorms, and all town girls will vote at SU.

Voting lists will be checked, and girls may vote only at the designated polls.

The offices of Independent Senator and Town Senator on the WSGA slate will not be voted on in the primaries, as only two candidates are running for each of these offices. All other offices will be voted on today. Pictures of all candidates are at SU.

After today's primaries, the two girls receiving the highest number of votes for each office will be on the ballot for the final elections tomorrow.

All coeds may vote for president, vice-president of WRA and WSGA, treasurer of WSGA, and intramural chairman of WRA. Only present sixth and seventh semester coeds may vote for the office of senior senator of WSGA, and only fourth and fifth semester girls may vote for junior senator of WSGA.

Activity lists of WRA nominees for president of WRA are as follows:

Claire Parks, vice-president of Lakonides, editor of Discobolus, Junior Service Board, intramural chairman of WRA, first semester secretary-treasurer, all intramurals, Modern Dance Club, dance concert group.

Lee Ann Wagner, present vice-president of WRA, Lakonides, Swimming Club, telegraphics, Riding Club, president of Watts Hall, Modern Dance Club, dance concert group, and all intramurals.

Nominees for vice-president of WRA are Claire Lee, Renee Mowles, Dolores Piccone, and Jacquelyn Wengert.

Nominees for intramural chairman of WRA are: Pauline Globish, Aletha Potteiger, Nancy Romig, and Betty Vanderbeck.
