Films Show Work On US Democracy

"How does American democracy actually work?" This question will be discussed tomorrow by Public Affairs Films, Jean Moore, chairman of the Public Affairs Film committee, said.

The featured film will be "The Gallup Poll." This film shows the method by which public opinion, on which so much of our democracy is based, can make itself known, said Miss Moore.

The showings will be in 10 Sparks, as usual, at 10 a. m., 2:20 p. m., and 4:20 p. m. The committee, according to Miss Moore, has decided to eliminate the 7 o'clock screening.

Public Affairs films are selected by a committee from PSCA, the School of Liberal Arts, the School of Education, and the College film library.

At tomorrow's showing, it is also planned to sample opinions of students and gather suggestions for future films.

Tydings Wants Confab

WASHINGTON—President Truman should call an immediate world disarmament conference, according to Senator Millard Tydings (D-Md.) He termed the United Nations as presently constituted impotent to deal effectively with international affairs.

War in Paraguay

ASUNCION, Paraguay—All of Paraguay is described as in a state of war by the government of President Higinio Morinigo. Brazilian dispatches picture the rebels as meeting with considerable success in the fighting. An NBC report from Buenos Aires says that civilians, fearing a rebel fifth column attack within the city, are evacuating Asuncion.

House Votes on Relief

WASHINGTON—A bill allocating $350,000,000 for foreign relief is being voted on by the House today. Chairman Charles Eaton of the Foreign Affairs Committee predicts approval of the measure which is intended to continue relief in Austria, China, Greece, Hungary, Italy and Poland after UNRA finishes its operations in the Spring.

Greek Aid Causes Ado

WASHINGTON—President Truman's proposal of $400,000,000 for Greece and Turkey was a partisan shuttlecock yesterday. A Democratic suggestion that Republicans join them in backing the policy was called by Representative Henry Dworshak (R-Idaho) a cheap political trick.

Arthur Vandenberg, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said that bi-partisan backing for America's foreign policy will die in revolt, if "party managers attempt to dictate it."

X-GI's Ask Windcresters To Woodman Hall Dance

An informal dance sponsored by the X-GI Club will be held at Woodman's Hall at 8 p. m. Saturday for all residents of Windcrest, according to Gene Fulmer, president.

Admission will be by membership card for members of the club and by matriculation cards for Windcrest residents. Music for the dance will be provided by records.

A similar dance was held last Saturday with residents of Pollock Circle and their dates as guests.

Continue Investigation

State Police continued their attempts to determine why the unconscious body of G. William Henninger, associate professor of music, was found in a wheat field near Autoport early Monday morning.

Henninger is now resting in the Centre County Hospital. Authorities say he is not in condition to

Lingnan Graduate To Talk on China

Sz-to Wai, graduate and member of the faculty of Lingnan University, will speak on "Art, Education, and China" at a dinner given for him at the Nittany Lion Inn at 6:00 o'clock tonight.

Following the dinner Mr. Wai will give a gallery talk at 7:30 p. m. on the exhibition on contemporary Chinese art he brought with him and which is on display in the Mineral Industries Gallery. The exhibition is open to the public today and tomorrow and consists of water-colors and paintings by Mr. Wai and his students.

Sz-to Wai is a pioneer in elementary education in the Orient and has solved many problems facing him in that field. In 1911, while still a student in Lingnan, he and several other students established a small school in an abandoned wooden bungalow.

This school filled a vital need and soon there was a waiting list for children of the wealthiest Canton families. By 1922, the Lingnan elementary school expanded into six brick buildings. Mr. Wai went from there to Hong Kong where he developed a system of five elementary schools. Next he went to Shanghai and began eight more schools.

During the war his school flourished unmolested in the International Settlement. He is visiting this country in hopes of raising money for purchasing equipment for his schools.

Rabbi Views 'East River'

Morris Kertzer, former Army chaplain and associate rabbi of the Park Avenue Synagogue in New York City, will review Sholem Asch's "East River" at 8 o'clock tonight in the third of a series of book forums sponsored by the Hillel Foundation.

Kertzer was formerly professor of religion at the University of Iowa and was also Hillel director at the University of Illinois.

He was awarded the Bronze Star during the war and participated in campaigns in North Africa, Italy and France. He served on the Anzio beachhead and officiated at the opening of the synagogue in Rome when the city was liberated.

He has written a book, "With an 'H' on My Dog Tag," to be released shortly.

Chinese Correspondent To Discuss Democracy

Dr. Shou-chang Pu, Chinese correspondent, will speak on "China's Struggle for Democracy" in 110 Home Economics at 8:15 on March 27, according to Mrs. Donald W. Davis, president of the American Association of University Women.

His talk will be sponsored by WSGA, the Dean of Women's Office, and the AAUW.

Need a Band? We Have 'Em

A large number of bands are available for musical entertainment here on the campus. There are four large bands ranging in size from eleven to fourteen men and six small bands with five to seven men.

The large bands are the Owls, led by George Washko, Pat Patterson's orchestra, Dick Berge's orchestra and a large band fronted by "Sunny" Roye which is a combination of two small bands led by Roye and Johnny McKean.

Other small bands are led by Gene Sprague, Paul Grove, Les Stine and Nick Ghezzi. The usual instrumentation for the small bands is three saxes, three rhythm and a trumpet.

Of the large bands, the Owls are the oldest and largest. They have been in continuous existence for over ten years. Betty Platt is the featured vocalist.

Dick Berge has the second largest band on campus. Vocals are handled by Benny Pullis.

Pat Patterson's orchestra is an example of the trend towards smaller bands. He has eleven men, as contrasted to the Owls' fourteen and the usual seven for the small bands.

In the small band field, Gene Sprague follows the pattern of seven men. The band was organized in the spring of 1946. Sprague himself is featured on the trumpet.

Paul Grove's band uses the same seven-man instrumentation. Grove is featured on the trumpet. The band has been in existence for about a year and has kept the original personnel all that time.
