Young Man's Fancy Doesn't Turn To Love—Yet

Contrary to the hopes of coeds who slush through the melting snow to classes, winter is not over—not by a long shot, according to Hans Neuberger, associate professor of meteorology.

Mr. Neuberger consulted the weather man's Bible, which is a climatic summary of past years, and proceeded to dampen the spirit of any young maiden who is waiting patiently for March 21 to turn her young man's fancy to thoughts of love.

One Cold April Day

According to the average, he said that there will be at least one day in April when the temperature goes as low as 22° above zero. The average temperature for this time of year within the last 60 years is 33°.

"Long range forecasting can only be made on information from the past," the professor said. Button up your overcoats—Spring is not just around the corner.

Dairy Club

The meeting of the Dairy Science Club announced for March 20 has been postponed until March 27 at 7:30 in 117 Dairy Building. Students drawing entries for the dairy show should report to this meeting.

Coeds Try For Aquacade

Coeds interested in trying out for the WRA Swimming Aquacade are asked to report to the White Hall Swimming Pool at 7:30 o'clock tomorrow, said Mary Margaret Barnett, president of the swimming club.

Routines used for the aquacade will be based on degrees of skill to enable more, and less-experienced swimmers to participate, said Miss Barnett.

The theme for this year's aquacade, which will be held in May, is "Waltz Time," and most of the numbers will be done to popular waltzes, she said. The show will

Expert to Discuss Roll-Making Process

A demonstration on making a variety of yeast rolls will be conducted in 110 Home Economics from 2:20 to 4 o'clock by Pauline M. Girard, representative of the Wheat Flour Institute, Chicago.

Sponsored by the commercial demonstration class, the demonstration is open to all students, faculty, local or Windcrest home-makers.

The exhibit was brought to the campus from the Museum of Modern Art, New York.

Debate Squad Wins Seton Hill Tourney

Competing with four other eastern colleges last week-end, the women's debate squad placed second in the labor-management orthodox debate tournament at Seton Hill College.

Top honors were given to Grove City College who remained undefeated throughout the tournament. The Penn State affirmative team won three out of four debates. The negative won two out of four.

The schools represented included Grove City, Westminster, Saint Vincent, and Seton Hill.

Room Photos Exhibited In Main Engineering

Photographs showing modern rooms for the last 50 years are on exhibit in 307 Main Engineering. The exhibit will continue until March 30.

Sponsored by the division of fine arts of the department of architecture, the series is accompanied with explanatory notes to show the development of modern architecture as applied to interiors.

The exhibit was brought to the campus from the Museum of Modern Art, New York.

Russian Chorus

All Russian Chorus members who plan to sing at the Episcopal Church on Sunday are requested to meet in 800 Carnegie Hall from 7 to 9 o'clock tonight.
