Housing Bill

WASHINGTON — The Senate Banking Committee heard several witnesses yesterday urge speedy action on a long-range housing bill. One of them was the former New York City Mayor—Fiorella LaGuardia. Declaring that chaos will set in on this country unless we start building homes, LaGuardia added that there is nothing in this problem that money cannot cure. Then the former mayor explained that it will cost a lot, but it must be done, for "in-laws just cannot live together."

Floods in England

ENGLAND—In England, motor launches have been able to get food to the Yorkshire mining towns of Bentley and Arksey where 2,000 people are trapped by spring floods. The launches ferried bread and milk to inhabitants leaning through upper story windows, and army amphibious vehicles helped in the rescue work. Officials say they believe the flood waters are beginning to recede at Bentley. There have been no casualties so far.

US Lacks Defense Plan

WASHINGTON — At another committee hearing, Secretary of War Robert Patterson said that the United States lacks any overall plan for defense of the nation, and will continue to lack one until Army, Navy and Air Forces are unified. The secretary also told the Senate Armed Forces Committee that the Japanese sneak attack at Pearl Harbor was a death blow to the old idea of voluntary cooperation between the War and Navy Departments.

Bumper Crop

WASHINGTON—The Agriculture Department had bright words for the world yesterday. The department forecast another bumper crop production year, topped by what may be the largest wheat crop ever. The good news is in a report showing that the nation's

Council Seeks Dating Code

A committee to investigate dating privileges for Pollock Circle residents was appointed by President Albert Honig at a recent meeting of Pollock Circle Council.

Consisting of William Steiner and John Stevenson, the committee will look into the possible regulations which will be applied when a recreation building is erected between the present Pollock Circle and the proposed new veterans' housing area this summer.

President Honig also appointed Bernard Pollack to take charge of a Pollock Circle Lost and Found department. Notices of lost articles and all items found should be brought to Pollock Circle in Room 8, Dorm 10, said Honig.

Blindfold Chess Champion Challenges College Players

Chess playing Penn Staters will have the chance to test their skill on an international master when George Koltanowski, the world's champion blindfold chess player, visits the College tomorrow.

Extending an invitation to the students, faculty members, and townspeople, William Nucker, secretary of the Chess Club, announced that Koltanowski will meet all comers in the northeast lounge of Atherton Hall at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

Koltanowski, said Nucker, is a master at the game. In Edinburgh, Scotland, in 1937, he broke all existing blindfold chess playing, "Scotch Whiskey," as he is known in Scotland, played 34 games in

Campus Owls Provide Music For IMA Ball

IMA Ball, an informal sport dance sponsored by the Independent Men's Association, will be held at Recreation Hall, from 9 to 12 tomorrow night. Dancing will be to the music of the Campus Owls.

Admission to the dance will be free to all IMA members upon showing their membership cards, said Benjamin Levy, chairman of the dance committee. Non-members may buy tickets for $1.20 at Student Union.

Independent men may, however, join the IMA at any time by paying 50 cents at Student Union, Levy added.

The Campus Owls, led by George Washko, will have a 14-piece band for the dance. Featured are Betty Platt, vocalist; Robert Mulligan on trombone, and Creston Ottenmiller on trumpet.

The Independent Men's Association is an organization which gives non-fraternity men some of the advantages of organization. A revised constitution for the IMA was discussed at a meeting Wednesday. President Eugene Fulmer presided.

Seasonal Research

Technically this is the first day of Spring and the gentlemen pictured above seem to have caught the fever.

Looking more like a fugitive from the Spirit of '76 than the spirit of Spring, the professor claims he merely is making a tarsi-litical research of the feminine ankle for his forthcoming book entitled "Practical Uses of the Atom."

Confidentially we think he is just waiting for a gust of wind to come along!

Record Concert

Compositions by Alec Wilder and Gustave Mahler's "First Symphony" will feature the second in a series of record concerts in the Grange Dormitory lounge 2 p. m. Sunday. The public is invited.

Common Sense Continues Free Movie Project With Two Films

Free movies, sponsored by Common Sense Club, will be shown in Schwab Auditorium at 7 o'clock tomorrow night.

A program lasting more than two hours has been arranged, with a Spanish documentary film and a replay of "The Thirty Nine Steps" comprising the schedule.

"The Spanish Earth," filmed in Spain, will display a commentary written and narrated by Ernest Hemingway, author of "For Whom the Bells Toll" and other novels.

Depicting the issues behind the Spanish Civil War, this movie dramatizes the effect of the Fascist uprising on the ordinary citizen and shows the defense efforts of the Loyalists, according to Leo Troy, president of the Common Sense Club.

Alfred Hitchcock's "The Thirty Nine Steps" stars Madeline Carroll and Robert Donat. Troy stated this mystery thriller has received much popularity through its fine plot, notable acting, and suspense.

The showing of "The Spanish Earth" will initiate the Anti-Franco Week program which the Common Sense Club is sponsoring. An address to a mass meeting in Schwab Auditorium at 8 p.m. Wednesday by Milton Wolff, National Commander of the Veterans of the Abraham Lincoln Brigade, will feature the week.

WGSJ and WRA final elections will be held in the girls' dormitories and at SU from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. today.

Girls living at practice houses, town dorms, and town girls will vote at SU.

Girls from Grange, Woman's Building, Chi Omega, Delta Gamma, Alpha Omicron Pi, Theta Phi Alpha, and Phi Mu will vote at McAllister Hall.

The Kappa Kappa Gamma house will vote at Jordan Hall; and the Kappa Alpha Theta house will vote at Atherton Hall.

Hetzel Names Tenure Group

A committee to study the problem of faculty tenure at the College has been appointed by Dr. Ralph D. Hetzel, president, it was announced today.

With L. S. Rhodes as chairman, the committee of 16 faculty men and women was named to study the problem and to make definite recommendations to the Board of Trustees as to whether a more exact statement of tenure policy is desirable, and if so, what form it should take.

Others appointed include W. C. Branable, Julia G. Brill, M. A. Farrell, H. P. Hammond, N. A. Hedden, L. M. Jones, M. N. McGeary, J. H. Olewine, E. H. Rohrbeck, F. M. Swartz, G. N. Thiel, P. C. Weaver, Marsh White, C. C. Wright and Mary J. Wyland.

X-GI Club Sponsors Children's Egg Hunt

An egg hunt for the children of all married students will be held by the XGI Club on March 30, according to Eugene Fulmer, president.

On the committee are Jack Hayes, chairman, Charles Bushnell, Roderick Cook, Theodore Pstrak, and Martin Veater. Co-operating with the XGI Club will be the Junior Service Board which will decorate eggs for the affair.

Euwema Address Opens Debaters' Convention

A short welcoming address by Dr. Ben Euwema, Liberal Arts School dean, will open the 11th Annual State Debaters Convention in 10 Sparks at 10 a.m. today.

Selection of a "Committee on Medical Care" and two on "Labor-Management Relations" will follow immediately. The three committees will go into session between 11 a.m. and 1 p.m. and will reconvene after lunch to complete their reports.

Critique Publishes After Holidays

The inaugural issue of Critique, new literary magazine, will be published soon after the Easter holiday and will sell for ten cents, Malcolm White, promotion manager, said today.

The magazine will feature in addition to its regular literary material, critical articles of campus and national topics, art, drama, music, and motion picture reviews.

The staff includes David E. Cummings, editor; Joseph Peters, managing editor; Bernard Oldsey, assistant managing editor; George I. Purnell, business manager.

Spence, M. Scheckter, advertising manager; Edward A. Hinkle, assistant advertising manager; Malcolm A. White, promotion director.

News Briefs

Town Meeting

"What Should Be Done About Germany?" will be the topic of the last in the current series of town meetings at the Hillel Foundation, 8 p. m. Sunday. The speakers will be Dr. C. R. Carpenter, professor of psychology; Dr. Alfred G. Pundt, associate professor of history; and Norman R. Sparks, head of the mechanical engineering department. A question period will follow. The public is invited.

Dram Lab

Drama Laboratory will present Wilbur Daniel Steele's "Luck" over WMAJ 2:30 p. m. Sunday. Portman Paget will direct the production.

Philotes

Philotes, independent women's organization, will entertain prospective members in the White Hall Playroom, 7:30 p. m. Monday, according to Mary Lou Harmon, president.

Home Ec

Sophomore home economics students who are interested in child development will meet at the Nursery School at 4:20 p. m. Tuesday, Dr. Winona L. Morgan, associate professor of home economics, said today. "Requirements for Nursery School Work as a Profession" will be discussed.

Phi Epsilon Kappa

Prof. Fred Coombs discussed the need for better recreational facilities in industry, community, and college at a meeting of Phi Epsilon Kappa, men's physical education honorary, in the home of Dr. Lloyd M. Jones, Tuesday. Twenty members attended, according to Reid McCloskey.

International Cabin Party

All foreign students interested in the International Cabin Party March 29 should sign up at the PSCA office before Tuesday. Reservations and details can be gotten there.

C. S. Wyand

C. S. Wyand, administrative assistant to President Hetzel, will speak on "Prospects for the College" at the meeting of the Faculty Luncheon Club at Hotel State College noon Monday.

An average of six delegates from each of the 18 schools represented will dine at the banquet room of the State College Hotel from 6 to 8:15 p.m. Joseph F. O'Brien, professor of speech, will act as toastmaster.

John H. Frizzell, professor of speech emeritus and former chaplain of the College, will greet the delegates at dinner.

Mr. Roy Wilkinson, manager of the first state debaters convention, will speak briefly on "Debate as it looks from here." Wilkinson is a Bellefonte attorney who served as a field artillery major during World War II.

All delegates will reassemble in 10 Sparks at 8:15 p.m. The report of the "Committee on Medical Care" will be heard, discussed and acted upon in the manner employed by committees in the U.S. Congress.

The committees on "Labor-Management Relations" will present their reports Saturday morning and will follow a similar procedure.

Between 12 and 12:30 p.m. Saturday, a report from the nominating committee will be heard followed by an election of convention officers for 1947-1948.

Bar-3 Boys, Glass Head Skytop Show

The 3-Bar-3 Boys will top the entertainment card, and Henry Glass will do the em-ceeding at AVC's Skytop house-warming tonight, Melvin Katinsky, AVC publicity director said yesterday.

First prize winners at the Penn State Talent Show, last week, the 3-Bar-3 Boys, consisting of Marvin Fisher, Howard Kleidman and Herbert Rossmann, will be backed up by William Walker who took second prize.

Free transportation has been provided, and the buses will leave from Co-op corner at 7:45, 8:30 and 9:00 o'clock. They will return from Skytop at 11:30, midnight, and later.

Skytop will remain open over the weekend, and transportation will be made available for those wishing to make the trip. AVC's transportation arrangements for Saturday and Sunday will be announced sometime during the party tonight.

Colonel Speaks In Chapel

Colonel Charles I. Carpenter, Chief Air Chaplain of the Army Air Forces, will present the challenge, "Can We Do It?" at Sunday morning chapel services in Schwab Auditorium.

During the war years Carpenter spent two years in the Canal Zone with the armed forces. Later he became Chief Chaplain in charge of E.T.O. under General Mathew Arnold. He visited all major air installations of the AAF and was awarded the Legion of Merit for his services.

Col. Carpenter was graduated from Bucknell University in 1927 and from Drew Theological Seminary in 1931.

The recent Religion-in-Life week at Bucknell featured Col. Carpenter as one of the convocation speakers. He is a member of the Kappa Delta Rho fraternity of the university.
