Central American Revolt

WASHINGTON—According to a diplomatic official, the three Central American governments of Costa Rica, Nicaragua and Honduras have reported to the State Department a plot to overthrow their respective governments. The plot is said to involve the overthrow of two of the three countries, and the State Department has declined to comment on the reports.

Ambassador Resigns

WASHINGTON—The United States ambassador to Poland, Arthur Bliss Lane, resigned yesterday. He said the situation in Poland was a tragedy and he felt he could do more for relations between the two countries if he were a private citizen.

US Protests

WASHINGTON—The United States has protested strongly to Sweden that new Swedish import restrictions discriminate against American products. The State Department said that Swedish regulations violate the reciprocal trade agreement with this country. The note of protest was delivered in Stockholm Monday.

Back to Palestine

JERUSALEM—Palestine Jews, 300 in number, have been returned to the Holy Land after they were mistaken by the British for illegal immigrants and deported to Cyprus. Those who were returned were among the 800 persons rounded up by the British on March 12 after the refugee ship "Susanna" had run aground in southern Palestine. In order to hinder the British search for the immigrants, many legal residents mingled with the newcomers and were taken into custody.

Library Lists Holiday Hours

During the month of February, the College Library acquired 1,144 books. W. P. Lewis, librarian, reported today.

Circulation of books totaled 21,692, bringing the total circulation of books since July 1, 1946 to 161,727. The monthly report also listed the number of books in the library at 275,321.

The following hours will be observed by the library during the Easter holidays.

- Thursday, April 3: 7:50 a.m. to 5:00 p.m.
- Friday, April 4: 9:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m.
- Saturday, April 5: 9:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m.
- Sunday, April 6: CLOSED.
- Monday, April 7: 9:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m.
- Tuesday, April 8: 9:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m.

Norman To Speak On Plant Growth

"Applications of Plant Growth Regulators" will be the subject of Dr. A. G. Norman, United States Army Chemical Warfare Service, when he speaks at the monthly meeting of Sigma Xi, science honorary Thursday 7:30 p.m. The lecture will be in 119 New Physics and is open to the public.

Born in Birmingham, England, Dr. Norman earned his Doctor of Science and Doctor of Philosophy degrees at English universities. Before the war he was professor of Soils at Iowa State College. The speaker belongs to the Royal Institute of Chemistry, the Biochemical Society, Soil Science Society, Society of Agronomists, and Society of Plant Physiologists in this country.

Adoption of revised by-laws will be considered at a business meeting of the society following the lecture.

Town Seeks Housing Aid

The newly organized Borough-College Coordinating Committee yesterday proposed that State College residents, business men, faculty members and others invest "about $2000 apiece" in a syndicate that would build, as quickly as possible, low-cost housing, of single unit construction.

Several committee members suggested that as many as 300 homes be built. They would be offered first to veterans.

The committee, composed of three College representatives and five Borough members, was formed to integrate the expansion programs of the College and the town. R. Adams Dutcher, head of the department of agricultural chemistry, was recently elected chairman.

Dr. Ralph D. Hetzel, president of the College, who proposed the joint group, previewed the Penn State enrollment picture as 8000 students in the Fall of 1947; 9000 in 1948; 10,000 in 1949; and 12,000 to 14,000 within the next four or five years.

He reminded the group that growth of the student body would swell the borough, commenting: "If we don't have 12,000 students in four or five years, it will be for one reason solely—that we cannot take care of them. And that is an admission of failure that would lose support that we would otherwise get."

Speech Group Elects Officers

Charles Diehl was elected president of a recently organized group for speech correctionists and students of speech correction. Other officers are: Meg Meyers, vice president, and Frank Varva, secretary-treasurer.

Sponsored by Dr. Eugene T. McDonald, director of the speech clinic and Miss Margaret Raabe, assistant director of the speech clinic, the group will meet regularly for discussions in the field of speech correction. At its first meeting, the organization observed a demonstration of the kymograph by Dr. McDonald.

Dr. Bates, from the University of Pennsylvania, will be guest speaker at the next meeting scheduled for Tuesday, April 1.

Coughing and Sneezing Spreads Influenza

Covering the mouth and nose when sneezing or coughing were among the preventative measures Dr. Herbert Gellar, director of the College Health Service, said today, that students might take to avoid infection in the current period of respiratory diseases.

Dr. Glenn said the College was experiencing a mild epidemic which has not demonstrated a tendency to serious complications.

Influenzal vaccinations are still available at the dispensary, he said, but with the large number of infected students, each case must be considered individually before inoculation.

The inoculation is a form of infection in itself and under the circumstances it will be necessary to take particular precautions, he said.

The Service treated 338 students Monday and of this number, 138 were treated for mild influenza. The infirmary reported the largest number of admissions for the academic year with 14 women and 10 men students hospitalized yesterday.

X-Gl Discusses Franco Threat

MILTON WOLFF

Milton Wolff, Spanish Civil War veteran and Commander of the Abraham Lincoln Brigade, will feature the Anti-Franco Rally in Schwab Auditorium at 8 o'clock tonight with an address on "Fascist Spain—A Threat to World Peace."

Circle Announces Food Improves

Complaints in the food situation in the Pollock Circle Dining Commons are being met with definite action by the Health and Sanitation committee according to a report at a recent Council meeting.

Members of the committee meet every Wednesday night to go over master menus with Miss Hazel Fall, supervisor. Some of the improvements accomplished in the last week include arrangement of breakfast menus to include fruit twice a week and juices twice a week. Frozen foods will be served occasionally.

Donald Mitchell, chairman of the committee, requested dormitory presidents to check on silverware in the dormitories. He also asked the committee to check the preparation of food with a view towards improving it.

Several suggestions were made for the improvement of cultural and entertainment facilities. Daniel DeMarino, assistant to Dean of Men, and Wilmer Kenworthy, executive secretary to the President, have arranged a series of informal talks in the dormitory lounges. Mr. Kenworthy was the first speaker last week.

Musical programs in the Dining Commons on Sunday afternoons were suggested by Albert Honig, Council president. These programs would be composed of guests from the music department or record sessions.

Delegates Chosen For Model UNA

Delegates chosen to represent the College in the model United Nations Assembly being held at Swarthmore College, April 3, 4, and 5, are Theresa Cohen, Jane Fouracre, Charles Miller, and Ernest Nagy. The group, one of forty participating, will represent Yugoslavia.

Dr. Henry Janzen, faculty advisor, is aiding the delegation to understand Yugoslavian policies and viewpoints. All delegations must act "in character" with the country they represent.

With 175 other delegates, the group will attempt to follow the exact procedure of the United Nations Assembly. Issues of international scope, such as the Iran question, will be considered. Dr. (Continued on page four)

Weather Man Orders Snow For Sixth Spring Day

According to the weather forecast it's going to continue snowing today, but it's not the least bit unusual for Old Man Weather to do a complete about-face this time of the year.

From Glyn Yerg, a graduate student in Meteorology, the Collegian received this explanation of why you shouldn't have sent your winter clothing home.

According to Yerg, "A low pressure area centered around Buffalo, N. Y., yesterday morning at 7:30."

"Strong winds are blowing around the low pressure area, and State College lies in the path of strong westerly and northwesterly winds. As a result, 50-mile-an-hour winds were recorded here yesterday, with gusts reaching as high as 80 and 85 miles an hour."

"The snow is a result of the moisture which the winds picked up from lake regions. The low temperature froze the water and it was deposited in the form of snow."

"The temperature of the ocean and land varies most at this time of the year, so it is possible to have a day of winter weather followed by a day of spring climate."

Members To Give Tickets

Tickets for the annual Modern Dance recital may be obtained from any member of the Modern Dance Club or at White Hall, Miss Dorothy Briant, director, has announced.

The recital, given by twelve coeds, and accompanied by Mrs. Jane Francis, will be held in White Hall at 8 p.m. tomorrow, Friday, and Saturday nights. There is no charge but tickets must be presented at the door.

Featured dances will be Bach's "Fugue" and an interpretation of five verses from Carl Sandburg's "Good Morning, America," narrated by Richard Frontman.

The group will also portray in dance scheme a country "hick" who is awed by the size, crowds, and excitement of the big city, Miss Briant said.

Lee Ann Wagner and Gladly Lou Miller will dance a duet, "Alaguena" by Lecuona, and Miss Briant will dance to "Sarabande, Guga, and Badinerie," a suite by Corelli. Each dance of the suite depicts a different mood: meditation, complacency, and joyfulness.

The final selection in the recital will be a "Roundup" in Western style, danced by all members of the Modern Dance Club.

PA Films Feature Greece, Palestine

Greece is one of the subjects of this week's edition of Public Affairs Films announced Jean Moore, chairman of the PA Film Committee. Two March of Time movies, "Greece" and "Palestine" will compose the program.

These films will be shown, Miss Moore said, because of our vital need to understand the corner of the world into which the United States has recently projected its foreign policy.

"Public Affairs Films are shown in 10 Sparks at 10, 2:30 and 4:20 every Thursday. The movies are sponsored by a joint committee from the School of Liberal Arts, the School of Education, the PSCA, and the College film library.

The films, according to the aims of the committee, are designed to acquaint students with issues of current public interest through the medium of the motion picture.

ASME Slates Speaker, Film

The American Society of Mechanical engineers will meet in 117 New Physics at 7 o'clock tonight, according to Henry Benet, publicity chairman of ASME.

Samuel K. Hoffman, professor of aeronautical engineering and former chief engineer of the Lycoming Aeronautical Corporation, will speak on the new 5,000 horsepower liquid-cooled Lycoming Aircraft engine.

Also included in the program will be a film entitled "Flames of Progress" from the Ethyl Corporation. The public is invited.

La Vie Sets Deadline For 'Belle' Photos

Deadline for submitting entries for the Belles Section of La Vie is 5 o'clock tonight, according to Seymour Rosenberg, editor.

The contest is open to senior women students and all women's organizations may submit entries, said Rosenberg.

A 5x7 photograph of each entrant must be submitted to Student Union by tonight. Members of the La Vie staff will choose six women from the group of contestants to appear in the Belles Section.
