SU Starts Sale Of Lion Coats

Senior Lion Coats have arrived and will go on sale today at Student Union, said Charles Pfeleger, senior class vice-president. Seniors who have already ordered their coats should bring their receipts.

Five hundred extra coats were ordered by the Lion Coat Committee for the many seniors who failed to place orders. They may be purchased for $1.90 as long as the supply holds out.

The wearing of Lion Coats during the last two months of school is one of the oldest traditions on campus. Comic characters, campus scenes and pin-up girls are painted on the coats. Seniors also have their friends scrawl their signatures on the backs of the coats.

Acacia Wins IFC Tourney

Acacia won the Interfraternity Council's bridge tournament. The team scored 140½ points, to capture the IFC trophy.

In the East-West match Sigma Pi's Jack Smith and Pat Golightly won while Acacia took second with David Sims and James Short playing.

The North-South winner was Acacia, represented by Charles Kenyon and Harry Kutz. Second place went to Jack Strange and John Sidersky playing for Sigma Chi.

WASHINGTON—The Republican high command in the House has stamped its approval on a new labor bill designed to check strikes and outlaw the closed shop and industry-wide collective bargaining. The agreement on the bill was reached in a meeting among House leaders, the GOP policy-making steering committee, and the Republican members of the labor committee.

LONDON—Former Vice President Henry Wallace says that Europeans are watching the United States and Russia get ready for a death struggle. Wallace believes that World War III is inevitable unless the two countries reach an understanding. In a broadcast over the BBC, Wallace was highly critical of President Truman's proposed aid to Greece and Turkey.

LAKE SUCCESS—The United Nations Security Council has decided that the British-Albanian minefield dispute should be judged by the International Court of Justice. Russia and Poland did not vote on the question, and Soviet delegate Andrei Gromyko made it clear that he did not like the British resolution.

Thespian Play Runs 3 Nights

"Varsity Sweetheart," Thespian's new show, will begin on Thursday, April 17, and will continue over Interfraternity house-party weekend, April 18 and 19.

This Spring review, which is the first Thespian show to run three nights, will be extended because of the capacity crowds expected, according to Richard Frontman, production manager.

Tickets for "Varsity Sweetheart" will go on sale at Student Union at 8 a.m. Monday, it was announced, and seats will be reserved upon purchase of a ticket. Performance will start at 7 p.m. so that persons planning to attend the IFC Ball will have enough time.

Frontman announced that the leads would be taken by Adele Yablon, James Milholland, and Virgil Neilly, all Thespian veterans.

In what will be the Thespian's 49th production, "Varsity Sweetheart" will typify college life with the emphasis on a houseparty weekend.

The book was written by Pepper Birchard and Richard Frontman with music by Ray Fortunato.

Army Week Ends In Mil Display

Army Week, April 6 to 12, will be culminated with a display of military equipment in the Armory from noon to 4 p.m. Saturday, Col. Ben-Hur Chastaine, professor of military science and tactics at the College, said yesterday.

The Signal Corps will exhibit Army radio and equipment ranging from the famous "Walkie-Talkie" to equipment which provides world wide radio communication. Most of the items will be operative and can be used by people at the exhibit. Those who desire to make their own recordings may do so with the Signal Corps recorder.

The Air Corps will have a special trailer open for inspection which contains a Link Trainer, air craft radio equipment, and flight control instruments.

The Corps of Engineers will have a complete portable water purification set, map and compass training kit, and mine detectors. The Infantry will display all the standard infantry weapons.

The military department will continue to show slides in the Leitzell building tonight and tomorrow evening.

Dr. Thorpe Resigns; Joins Health Institute

Dr. William T. S. Thorpe, head of research work in animal pathology, will submit his resignation to the College effective June 1. His new position will be head of the Veterinary Pathology Unit for the National Institute of Health at Bethesda, Maryland.

Dr. Thorpe's new work will be in borderline material between medicine and veterinary medicine, studying diseases of animals in relation to diseases of man. Isotopes from nucleonic stockpiles will be utilized in some of these studies.

Films Portray Far East Life

"China" and the "Philippine Republic," both March of Time reels, will help provide the background necessary to understanding recent news about those countries, said Jean Moore, announcing today's Public Affairs Films.

Public Affairs Films are shown in 10 Sparks at 10, 2:20 and 4:20 today and every Thursday.

The two films have been selected, said Miss Moore, because of the thorough manner in which they cover two little known countries. The news from the Philippines, for instance, she added, is full of accusations and counter-accusations of collaboration between different governmental groups, on which the film, "Philippine Republic," will throw some light.

"Public Affairs Films are presented by the School of Liberal Arts, the School of Education, the PSCA and the College Film Library, in the interest of a better informed student body.

College Marks Latin Holiday

Classes will be dismissed Monday at 11:40 a.m., Dr. Ralph D. Hetzel, president of the College, said today to enable faculty and students to attend the Pan-American Day flag raising ceremonies in front of Old Main.

The Penn State Pershing Rifle Company will act as the guard of Honor and will also provide the color guard. The American Legion Drum and Bugle Corps will furnish music.

Flags of 21 Pan-American nations will be raised on a line between the two flag poles in front of Old Main. As each flag goes up, the country's national anthem will be played on the organ by Hummel Fishburn, head of the department of music.

The public is invited to attend a dinner at the Maple Room at 6 p.m. Monday given by the Inter-American Club, according to President Marcelle Carvallo. Tickets at 85 cents per person will be sold at the Student Union desk in Old Main.

An exhibit of Pan American articles is on display at the Library and will continue until April 19.

The celebration will have special meaning to the 20 South American students enrolled at the College.

Thorlief Iolster, an Argentinian of Scandinavian descent, is a seventh semester student at the College, majoring in commerce and finance. According to Iolster, attending college outside one's homeland is an education in itself.

Students To Pay $10 Fall Deposit

A $10 deposit must be paid April 24 by all full-time and part-time students, who plan to be readmitted as full-time students or part-time next fall, said William S. Hoffman, registrar.

Application for readmission will take place in Recreation Hall, between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m., April 24.

Students who fail to return for the fall semester will forfeit the $10 deposit unless they notify Registrar Hoffman before September 13. Students who return will have the amount credited to their fees, and veterans will have the money refunded next fall.

"Failure to apply now for readmission," Hoffman said, "will subject the student to the same priority system employed in granting admission to new students."

The deposit is necessary according to Hoffman, to enable the admissions office to determine the number of vacancies for the fall semester. Sophomores and veterans will be admitted to fill these places.
