The Lions will be out after their third home victory against the Biscns who will field one of their strongest teams in several years. Bison coach Bil. Lane will probably choose co-captain Herman Bloom, change of pace artist to do the hurling for the visitors.

LIONS '46 VICTOR Last year the Lions pounded out a 9-0 victory over Bloom and George Bellak, another Bison mound ace, who worked out with the Brooklyn Dodgers this spring.

Yount won last year's game, holding the Bisons to two hits.

The Lions now have two straight wins behind them—their longest winning streak this season. Sloppy fie.ding has hampered the Bedenkmen all season but they went through the first Pitt game without a miscue and seem to have

A Big Red tennis team from Cornel handed Coach Sherm Fogg's outfit an 8-1 lacing on the varsity courts yesterday. However, many of the matches were close, and the final score doesn't tell the complete story.

Herb Beckhard scored the only Blue and White point when he subdued local product Dave Potter, the Cornel number five man. Beckhard's fine net game meant the difference as he went on to win 8-6, 6-3.

EIGHTH WIN

Cornell's victory was the eighth in ten meets, having racked up decisions over Columbia, Duke, Virginia, in addition to lesser known schools. Both of their defeats were dealt them by the powerful North Carolina netters.

Captain Walt Stenger of the Lions dropped a tough 6-4, 6-4 decision to the highly-rated Hollis Young as Stenger's backhand again proved his Waterloo.

Bombarding Young with his cannon-ball serve, Walt played his experienced opponent evenly all the way, only to lose out when Young changed to a long, driving game and out-steadied the steady

The Browse

During the war THE COLLEGE BOOK STORE considered that one of its functions to the Col-lege and the Community was to attempt to educate the public on the background and meaning of World War II. In order to do this we sponsored a series of movies which dealt with our various allies and related sub-jects. We received national publicity for the idea, and we were pleased that a great number of people attended the series of visual education programs. However, we found—like all other book stores—that the public was not just interested in reading about the war. For the most part, war books were a flop, and today they can be bought as publishers remainders for next to nothing, and they still go begging.

The same situation is true today with books which deal with the peace and questions of the atomic age. The public is not interested. People say that they have enough to worry about have enough to worry about without trying to find something to keep them awake nights. In the current issue of PUBLISHER'S WEEKLY, Mr. Raymond Hosken, of The Hampshire Bookshop, writes in regard to a new book which is coming out called WORLD AFLAME which is an imaginary report on the Russian-American War of 1950, that the authors run "the risk of sounding like the most melodramatic ing like the most melodramatic of Mr. Hearst's editorial hench-men," and that in the writer's opinion, "these worthies' anxi-ety to embrace the Almighty Dollar, to the detriment of nations taut with a twin burden of misunderstanding and distrust, makes a noise which is not unlike treason." Mr. Hosken then goes on to say that the booksellers of the country should refuse to touch this book because of the ill-will it will

The publishers, The Dial Press, write that if the probable facts of a new war are brought to the attention of the American people, that the people might understand just what will happen, and therefore do something to prevent it. "This is a story of a war that has not happened . . . that may happen . . . that must not be permitted to happen."

The publishers advertising agency writes that they "have watched with grim amazement the pathetic efforts of many frightened men to stir up a people stunned to lethargy and indifference by the awful fact of the atomic bomb"; and that they have been wondering "what can be done to warn a blundering world against it-

Can anybody tell "Browser" why people are not interested in books on the peace and the atomic age?
