Lannen Succeeds Foote as Cabinet Banquets Tonight

Thomas Lannen, newly-elected All-College president, will be sworn in as the new head of All-College Cabinet, succeeding Robert Foote, when old and new members of the student governing body meet for a business meeting and banquet in the State College Hotel at 6 p.m. today.

Voting on the disposition of surplus funds will constitute the main business to be conducted by the retiring Cabinet.

Following this, John Branigan, chairman of the All-College Elections Committee, will swear into office Lannen, and Robert Troxell and Eugene Fulmer, who will occupy the vice-president and secretary-treasurer posts formerly held by Russell Smiley and Albert Greene.

Edward Banyal and Martin Baum, senior and junior class presidents, respectively, also will be installed.

WASHINGTON—The Senate responded overwhelmingly to administration pleas that America must pour $350,000,000 into foreign areas to ease suffering. By a vote of 79 to 4, the chamber voted for the measure. Previously, the House okayed $200,000,000 for the program. A committee of members from both houses will work out a compromise on the final amount.

LAKE SUCCESS—Solution of the Palestine problem comes to two possible alternatives in Russian eyes. Soviet Gromyko told the United Nations Assembly that the Holy Land might be divided into separate Arab Jewish states. But he prefers a joint government, independent of Britain. The Arab countries replied that this plan would be unacceptable unless immigration restrictions were continued so as to maintain the current Arab 2-1 majority.

WASHINGTON—President Truman's message to Congress stands out as top domestic news. Mr. Truman signed the bill to outlaw most portal claims in the interest of economic stability. But the President called for extension of the Wage-Hour Act and told Congress to act if the Portal Act proves detrimental to fair labor standards.

WASHINGTON—War Secretary Patterson announced that 400,000 tons of food will be sent to Germany this month, the same amount in June and even more in July. Patterson added that Hoover's recommendations for sending food to Germany have just about been met through May 1.

VA Bars Jobless Pay For Vacationing Vets

Veterans attending school under the GI bill are not to use unemployment allowances as summer vacation pay between terms, according to the Veterans Administration.

The agency said that only veterans actively seeking and willing to take any suitable work may legally accept the allowance. Even then the veteran is not eligible for unemployment during any period for which he receives subsistence allowances under the education and training provisions of the GI bill.

Veterans who knowingly accept readjustment allowances to which they are not entitled forfeit further rights to such benefits and commit a fraud punishable by fines and imprisonment, the agency warned.

Artist Series Sells by Mail

Artist Course tickets will be sold by mail between May 22 and June 10, announced Dr. C. E. Marquardt, chairman of the Series committee today.

The committee expects to eliminate the traditional break-of-dawn waiting lines by this method, he said.

In addition, all numbers on the Artists Course Series will play for two nights to enable more people to attend the programs.

The spring mail order sale has been arranged to give faculty, students, and townspeople first choice of seats by a more convenient method, Dr. Marquardt said.

Application blanks for Series tickets, priced at $6.90 and $8.10, tax included, will be available next week at the Student Union office, in Old Main. All envelopes containing applications must be postmarked between May 22 and June 10.

No reservations will be made in any other form until the regular (Continued on page two)

Sign Now For Riding Course

All veterans and non-veterans who wish to take riding during the summer session must make arrangements immediately, according to Marie Haidt, associate professor of physical education.

In signing up for riding one of the following courses must be added: Phys. Ed. (S. S.), 2, 3, or 4, code 76, Section R for men students; Phys. Ed. (S. S.) 11, 12, 13, or 14, code 76, Section R for women. The "R" for section denotes riding while "S. S." indicates summer session. Both "R" and "S. S." must be included when registering. One credit is received for riding.

In signing up for riding class, Miss Haidt emphasizes, "Do not duplicate a course number which you used this present year. See your adviser and dean at once for special permission to carry extra credit. Then see Captain Gagarin or me immediately for class assignment."

Riding instruction during the summer will be confined to the first six weeks of the session, from June 30 to August 9. The periods will be 80 minutes long instead of the regular 50 minute periods offered during the winter semester. All riding classes will meet four times a week for lecture and practical. Classes will be arranged according to riding ability.

Honor Women Voting

Voting will end today for Senior Honor Women, said Janet Lyons, committee chairman. All graduating coeds may cast their ballots in the Dean of Women's office until 5 o'clock.

Because of ties, the twenty top contestants from a previous voting are listed on the ballot. The top six women in today's polling will receive traditional honor titles at the Class Day exercises. The next ten will be recommended for All-College Cabinet awards.

Hyslop, Fine Arts Prof, Translates French Book

Prof. Francis E. Hyslop, assistant professor of fine arts, has recently translated "When the Cathedrals Were White," a book by the famous French painter and architect, Le Corbusier.

The author, whose real name is Charles Edouard Jeanneret, is a member of the designing committee for the construction of the United Nations Building and is now in New York.

The book, released in February, is an account of a Frenchman's impression of the United States, which he describes as a "country of timid people." It deals mainly with the possibility of our entering a great building period today similar to the one in the Middle Ages when some of Europe's outstanding churches were built.

Prof. Hyslop became interested in the book several years ago and when a translation didn't appear over a period of time, he decided to attempt it himself.

The venture proved successful and will be followed by an anthology of LeCorbusier's work consisting principally of pictures and photographs, to be published in October.

Hyslop, a Princeton graduate, spent several summers abroad studying at Paris and Brussels. A member of the faculty between 1934 and 1942, he left here in 1942 to assume a position at the University of Illinois, but returned in December, 1945, when Professor J. Burn Helme died.

Players Repeat 'Skylark'

The Penn State Players, under the direction of Mr. Kelly Yeaton, are giving a repeat performance of "Skylark" at 8 o'clock tomorrow night in the State College Hotel Banquet room.

The performance of last week was to conclude the season, but because of popular request the Players are giving one more presentation of this comedy play.

There are still about 50 or 60 tickets left priced at $1.10 which can be secured at Student Union, said Mr. Yeaton.

Campus Leaders

Pictures of campus leaders will be taken in front of Old Main, 12.45 o'clock today, weather permitting. In case of rain, pictures will be taken tomorrow.

PA Films Study Juvenile Problem

Juvenile Delinquency will be the subject of the Public Affairs Films which will be presented in 10 Sparks at 10, 2:20 and 4:20 o'clock today.

"Boy in Court," which has been filmed by the National Probation Association will be the first of the movies presented. This will be followed by a production of the British Information Service entitled "Children of the City."

The films deal with the problems of underprivileged children both in this country and in England, and various methods of solution are presented. These movies have been obtained through the efforts of the College Film Library.

Scholars to Speak During Class Day

Fred Kecker and Joan Harrington have been chosen Valedictorian and Salutatorian respectively for the Class of 1947.

Kecker was chosen from the top fortieth of the class and Miss Harrington from the top twentieth. Both will speak at the Class Day Exercises, June 8.

Selected on the basis of activities and contribution to the College, as well as scholarship, Kecker, a political science major, is Men's Debate manager, Liberal Arts Student Council president, and a member of All-College Cabinet.

He belongs to Phi Beta Kappa, Delta Sigma Rho, Pi Lambda Sigma, Skull and Bones, Lion's Paw, and Phi Kappa Psi. Valedictorian last year was Marilyn Globich, a Physical Education major.

Miss Harrington, who is majoring in Arts and Letters, is Mortar Board president and Liberal Arts Student Council secretary-treasurer. She is a member of Treble Singers, Penn State Players Board of Control and the La Vie Art staff.

She belongs to Phi Kappa Phi, Pi Gamma Alpha and is Alpha Chi Omega vice-president. Alex Kotch, Chemistry, was Salutatorian last June.

News Briefs

Who's Who

Publication of "Who's Who in the News" will be delayed for about a week due to printing difficulties. The book was expected to come off the press by mid-May, but shortage of printers' help has delayed work on the book, according to Stephen Siniak, editor.
