

Tanguy Passes Foreign Exams

Charles R. Tanguy, former student at the College, was one of the few men to pass the State Department Foreign Service examinations, given recently.

Only 14.2 per cent of the men taking the examination passed, according to Dr. Edward A. Acheson, director of the Foreign Service review course.

Tanguy, a native of Philadelphia, also attended Swarthmore. During the war he served in the Pacific theater. Just before taking the examination, he attended the Foreign Service review course.
