

Between the Lions

By Den French

Ken Yount's brilliant one-hit shutout over Western Maryland was the finest pitching exhibition Penn Staters have seen in college baseball for a long time. The Lion right-hander faced only 29 batters—just two more than the 27 putouts—in the nine inning 9-0 Penn State victory. Yount seemed to be lacking his usual good control in the second inning as he walked the first two batters, although he had struck out two of the first three men in the first.

Both walks were nullified when catcher George McWilliams shot the ball to second to catch the runner off base, and the next man up hit into a double play.

In the third inning leftfielder Petit dropped a fly into rightfield that went for a two-base hit, the only safety Western Maryland could collect. Yount walked one more in the third but retired the side on two straight strike outs.

20 Straight Putouts

From that time on, not a Western Maryland batter reached first base as Yount set down 20 batters in a row.

Hal Hackman and Johnny Potskian each connected for three hits in five times at bat and between them they had more than half of the Lion hits. Potskian stole three bases during the afternoon but he'll never work as hard to steal a base as he did in the third inning.

Potsy started for second but saw the second baseman waiting for him with the ball. He turned around and streaked back for first, but by then the first baseman had the ball.

Safe at Last

The game of catch continued for seven or eight throws with poor Potsy dashing back and forth between first and second. Finally a high throw by the first baseman pulled the second baseman off the sack just enough for Potsy to slide in safely.

Don Stark, who has led the Lion nine at the plate all season, dropped to second place behind Bob Gehrett as the little leftfielder went hitless in four times at bat in Wednesday's game with Temple. Gehrett connected for one hit in three times at the plate.

All of the leading hitters dropped several points in their averages in the Temple game. Hal Hackman, who pushed into third place after three hits last Saturday, dropped to fourth with a .310 average behind second place Ken Yount with .333.

Gehrett's .389 represents only 18 trips to the plate while Stark's .375 was compiled in 40 times at bat. Catcher George McWilliams winds up the top five batters with a .289 mark.

Varsity Soccer Team Faces Alumni Booters

In a game postponed from last week, the 1947 Varsity soccer team will meet a team of alumni and graduating seniors on the golf course soccer field at 2:30 o'clock tomorrow.

Coach Bill Jeffrey will lead an H man squad against his charges as soccer fans get a spring preview of the sport.

Playing for the Alumni will be, in addition to Jeffrey, Walt Hosterman, Paul Bender, Remzi Gursay, Lloyd Black, John Hamilton, Boyd Eiters, Bill Dietrich, Richard Nicholas, Charles Taylor, Dick McKibben, and Joel Crouch.

Dean and Jess Hartman, Dean Witzner, Tim Petroff, Jim Kline, Jim Eiters, Frank Taucher, Herb

Riders Give First Show

Captain Gregory Gagarin's riding team will present a riding show for Penn State riders at the team's show ring east of Windcrest and opposite McClellan's garage at 1:30 p.m. tomorrow.

With the object of the show being the demonstration of riding ability, only horsemanship will be judged. There will be four classes of competition, two novice classes, intermediate class, and advanced class. Riders will enter the class for which they are qualified by virtue of riding experience.

Jung, Ken Simon, Fritz Holmquist, Pete Buzad, Fred Kretzer, Marcel Carbello, Red Pavliki, and Claude Kissen will see action on the "Up and Comers" squad.

Golf Match

For the second time this season, the Lion golf team will meet the Pitt Panther wood and ironers in a dual match at Pittsburgh.

The Lions upset the Panthers 8½-1 on the College course earlier this season. Coach Rutherford will start the same team that won third place last week in the EIGA tournament at Atlantic City.

After Six Straight Wins . . .

Bedenkmen Battle Colgate Meet Syracuse Under Arcs

Licking their chops over six straight victories, Joe Bedenk's Lion baseballers take to the road today for the toughest two days of their schedule.

Today and tomorrow, the Bedenkmen play a total of three games including a night double-header at Syracuse.

The Lions roar into Hamilton, N. Y., today to meet Coach Eppy Barnes' Colgate club. The toothpaste boys lost two games to the Lions last year but have a much stronger outfit on deck for today's game.

The former Pittsburgh Pirate first baseman will probably use Carl Heidel, southpaw captain of the team, on the mound. Lion coach Bedenk will most likely counter with Warren Pyer, who will be making his first mound appearance of the season.

NIGHT DOUBLEHEADER

The Lion club will move over to Syracuse tomorrow where they will meet the Syracuse Orange in a nocturnal double-header, the first games the Bedenkmen have ever played under the lights.

Bedenk is saving his two top moundsmen, Ken Yount and Bob Gehrett, for the twin bill in the Syracuse Chiefs' International League stadium. The games will probably draw the largest crowd to see the Lions play this year, as the annual regatta is being held in the afternoon.

Yount goes into the game with a 5-1 record while Gehrett's mark stands at 3-2.

Two games remain on the Lions' schedule this season. That twice-postponed game with the Bucknell Bisons will be played on the New Beaver Field diamond at 4 p.m. Tuesday and the Villanova Wildcats will meet the Bedenkmen at 2:30 p.m. Friday in the season finale.

Schoolboy Athletes Here For PIAA Championships

Four individual champions will be in the starting field when more than 500 schoolboy track and field athletes vie for Class A and Class B title honors in the annual P.I.A.A. championships at the College tomorrow.

Each of the twelve P.I.A.A. districts will send the individual winners and runners-up in each event from the district meets. Class A and Class B schools will compete in separate brackets.

Only defending titlists in Class A competition will be Johnny Triplett, Abington's Negro sprint star, who won the century in 10.1 last year, and Johnny McCall, of Bethlehem, who ran away from the mile field in 4:37.6. Triplett, third in the 220 last year, also is rated a strong contender in this event.

CLASS B DEFENDERS

In Class B competition, the defending titlists are Dick Hazard, of Springfield, Delaware County, in the broad jump, and Emanuel Poet, of North York, in the discus throw. Poet, second in the shot put last year, will try for a double again this year.

New Castle, winner of the Class A one mile relay in 1946, will be entered in this event again tomorrow, while Springfield Montgomery County and

The cream of Pennsylvania scholastic golf and tennis players are on campus today for the annual PIAA Golf and Tennis tournaments.

Arnold Palmer, of Latrobe, defending champion, leads a field of 30 entries in the golf play to be held on the College course today and tomorrow.

Players from six districts will comprise the participants in the tennis tournament that begins this morning at 10 o'clock. No defending champions will compete this year.

Entries in the tennis play will be Norristown, District 1; Reading, District 3; Williamsport, District 4; State College, District 6; Edgewood, District 7, and South Hills, District 8.

Glenn's Son

Bill Killinger, who's batting in the clean-up slot for the Lafayette College baseball team, is a son of Glenn Killinger, one of Penn State's all-time greats, and now athletic director and coach at West Chester State Teachers College.

Sewickley both will strive for repeat victories in the Class B half mile and mile relays, respectively.
