

Education Institute Offers Summer Passage to Europe

Opportunity to go to Europe this Summer will be provided to many students who had abandoned their plans as hopeless. Two converted troopships of the C-4 class have been made available for eight eastbound and eight westbound crossings by the U. S. Maritime Commission at the request of the Division of International Exchange of Persons of the State Department.

The Institute of International Education, 2 West 45th street, New York 19, N. Y., is acting as coordinator in the allocation of space for academic and cultural persons on these ships.

The two ships have space for women in multiple bed cabins and for men in open holds. They will be much less crowded than troop transports but are otherwise essentially unchanged.

Passage rates vary, depending on class of accommodation and port of destination in Europe, from $117 to $200 each way. All ships call at an English and a French port and, on two or three sailings, also call at Oslo.

Priorities for passage will be handled by the Department of State and tickets issued by the U. S. and Moore-McCormack lines.

Passengers will be both members of sponsored groups and individuals. They can secure full information on the different sailings from the Institute of International Education. The first sailing is scheduled for June 6.

Want Opportunity To Rise? Talk to Flag Pole Painter

To the graduating seniors who are looking for a job that takes them up in the world, Grounds and Buildings employee, Don Coble, has a solution even though it's a little temporary.

Coble is the man who paints the two flag poles in front of Old Main. Yesterday afternoon he completed the first painting of the flag poles since the outbreak of the war.

Quoting a few statistics, the painter said that it took him an hour and a quarter and two quarts of aluminum paint to cover each of the two 100 foot poles.

All is not routine in the life of a flag pole painter, Coble emphasized. His most thrilling experience was back in 1937 when student pranksters lifted a Nazi flag to the top of one of the poles on the eve of Alumni Weekend.

It was a very windy day when excited College officials issued a call for Coble to release the flag which was caught at the top. With the pole weaving back and forth, Coble climbed up, untangled the flag and saved the College's face before the Alumni arrived.
