Production Board, heads a staff of nine in charge of this year's institute. These faculty members are being assisted by visiting lecturers from other universities and from the union itself.

Job standardization, collective bargaining, and the labor movement are some of the major topics under discussion.

Study Taft-Hartley Act

Although the course of instruction was mapped before the Taft-Hartley Act became law, Luchek and his staff anticipate considerable curiosity about the specific provisions of this bill. The labor expert said his staff is studying the legislation carefully and that its provisions will come under classroom scrutiny.

For the duration of their stay, the men will live in fraternity houses, while the women will live in college dormitories. Women represent about ten percent of the total enrollment. Ray Conger, famous miler of a quarter of a century ago, is in charge of the daily recreational period.
