Hard Luck Plagues Yount In First Pro Pitching

Ken Yount, leading pitcher on Joe Bedenk's Lion baseball team for the past two years, is having tough luck in his first year in professional ball.

Signed last month by the Cleveland Indians, Yount pitched five hit.ess innings with the Indians against their farm team at Harrisburg and then dropped two heartbreakers in his first two appearances on the mound for Harris burg.

The tall right-hander, who was sent to the minor league team for experience, gave up only two hits in his first game but lost 1-0 on an unearned run. In his second mound tour, he lost a 4-3 tussle. THIRD TO TURN PRO

Yount now joins Joe Tepsic and Orient Martella as Joe Bedenk's contributions to Organized Base-ball in the past year. Tepsic sign-ed with Brooklyn and is now with Fort Worth while Fort Worth while Martella is now with the Philadelphia Phillies' farm team at Utica.

The Kittanning youth played at first base and in the outfield when not pitching for the Lions and ended the season with a .314 average. He connected for a long sin-gle in his first four times at bat for the Senators.

Coach Bedenk, who changed Yount from an outfielder into his most dependable hurler, believes that his protege has "the stuff to make the big time" in spite of his two setbacks and reports that Indian officials are pleased with his Bitching. In addition to baseball, Yount participated on the varsity rifle team at the College and was listed as one of the All-American selections for 1947.

Golf Tourney Opens; 69 Entries Quality

The Summer All-College Golf Fournament started Friday afternoon with a record entry list of students and faculty.

The Tournament is match play and is divided into six flights with sixteen players in a flight. Each flight will have a champion by the end of the tournament. Prizes will be awarded by the College.

The first matches were to be played by Monday and the second by Friday. Several of the better golfers on campus who are playing in the tournament are Jerry Smith, Don Hart, Chick Werner, Jack Har-oer, Bill Gross, Bob Higgins, and Dave See.

Higgins Expects Wartime Talent To Aid '47 Lions

Wartime talent from the fresh-man-dominated teams of 1944 and 1945 will be the source of at least a dozen players when Penn State's 1947 football squad assembles for pre-season drills late in August.

Among the 65 players whom Coach Bob Higgins expects to invite to the early drills are Johnny Chuckran of Lansford, Larry Cooney of Pittsburgh, and Al Bellas of Kingston, all outstanding backs who are now returned to civilian status.

Of the linemen with prior experience, the more outstanding are Charles Drazenovich, center, of Brownsville, and his brother, Joe, who plays either guard or blocking back: Bob Hick of Lancaster and Don Miltenberger of Easton. both ends: Johnny Simon guard, of Brownsville, and Negley Norton, tackle, of Altoona. LUTHER BACK

Although he was called to service Lefore he had an opportunity to play college football, Coach Higgins anticipates great things from Bill Luther, prospective triple threat, who was outstanding as a schoolboy back at nearby Osceolo Mills. Luther showed to ninety-six qualifiers, including advantage in Spring drills, and is expected to prove a capable replacement for Chuckran in '47. EXCHANGE MOVIES

Penn State and Washington State are launching their homeand-home football series on a cooperative note.

The rival coaches, Bob Higgins and Phil Sorboe, have agreed to exchange motion pictures of their 1946 games. Neither team had an opportunity to scout the other in 1946, since the 1947 game wasenot arranged until early this year. Already, the two coaches have exchanged their first set of pic-now taking graduate Ag work on campus. The Athletic Association is still looking for a swimming coach to replace Lenny Diehl, who died last month....Bob Galbreath, who instructed the tankmen before the war, has his hands full as veterans' advisor.

A Break for Little Joe

The College has worked out a solution to the Hawthorne problem of what to do with the sports candidates who don't make the varsities. In the establishment of junior varsity teams they have the ideal answer. Without the pre-war freshman teams, the only chance an athlete had of participating in inter-collegiate competition was making the inner circle of the varsities.

Now the boys who play "for the love of playing" can see action and who knows, there may be a few stars developed who have poten-tial greatness. With the limited facilities available before, coaches had to pass over many likely prospects. Now Little Joe, the average guy, has a chance.
