Senate Committee Revokes Disputed Date Regulation

Revoking the regulation set earlier this Summer, unchaperoned dating will be permitted in fraternity houses, the Senate Committee on Student Welfare said today.

The action complied to a petition sent to the Committee by members of Inter-Fraternity Council attending Summer Sessions.

In making the announcement, Dean Arthur R. Warnock, secretary of the Senate Committee, issued the following statement:

"After consideration of your petition by the chairman of the Senate Committee on Student Welfare, the Dean of Men, and the Dean of Women, it was decided to grant the privilege of unchaperoned dating as requested."

The petition for dating at fraternity houses was initiated due to the intensive lack of social and recreational facilities at the College, said Willard F. Agnew, IFC president.

Fraternity dating during Summer Sessions must conform with the Inter-Fraternity Council code for unchaperoned dating during regular semesters, Agnew said.

Publication Change

Publication date of the last issue of the Summer Collegian has been changed from Tuesday, August 5, to Thursday, August 7, so that official announcements, official procedure, and late schedule changes for the Post-Session can be included. Next week's issue will be published Tuesday, July 9, as scheduled.

Banker Analyzes Graduates' Faults

Inaccuracy is the worst fault of our high school graduates, said Robert N. Hilkert, vice-president and personnel director of the Philadelphia Federal Reserve Bank. He spoke before the Pennsylvania Workshop to a group of elementary and secondary school teachers yesterday.

Other fields in which high school graduates fall down when they enter business include inconcise memorandums, to listen abilities to read, to write short, carefully, and to be considerate and courteous with other people, Hilkert said.

"Another fault," Hilkert stated, "is that many youngsters are not familiar with the word 'order.' In business they immediately come under the supervision of bosses, and must become used to authority."

"High school graduates must also become accustomed to a lack of variety, for the modern office is a highly specialized and mechanized place," the personnel director declared. "Offices are just filled with unglamorous, dead-end jobs."

PSCA Schedules Steelmen Forum

Representatives of the Steelworkers' Institute at the College will discuss "What's Right and Wrong About the Taft-Hartley Labor Bill" in 304 Old Main, 7:30 p.m. today.

The forum is one of a series of programs sponsored weekly by the Penn State Christian Association for Summer Sessions students, said James T. Smith, director of PSCA.

Harold K. Wilson

Dr. Wilson Takes Ag Post in Japan

Dr. H. K. Wilson, vice-dean of the School of Agriculture at the College, left recently for Japan where he will assume the head of the agricultural branch under the Supreme Command of the Allied Powers.

Dr. Wilson, also head of the agronomy department at the College, will sail from Seattle next week for his office in Japan where he will remain for one year.

Since coming to State College two years ago, Dr. Wilson was elected a Fellow of the American Society of Agronomy and also named vice-chairman of that organization's entire crops division.

In addition, he is a member of the American Society of Plant Physiologists, American Association for the Advancement of Science, Alpha Zeta, Gamma Sigma Delta, Gamma Alpha, Phi Kappa Phi, Sigma Xi and the American Legion. He is also national secretary-treasurer of the Farm House, professional agricultural fraternity.

A graduate of Iowa State College, Dr. Wilson received his master's and Ph.D. degrees at the University of Illinois. Before coming to the College he served on the faculty and also as research worker in agronomy at the University of Minnesota.

A variety of pieces selected by Professor Gullo will be featured at this sing which continues the tradition of community sings each summer at the College. Three people present at the sing last week have been attending the summer session sings for at least twenty years. Dr. Fishburn and Dr. Palmer C. Weaver, assistant director of the summer sessions at the College, started attending the group sings in 1927.

Miss Anna L. Laub, a school teacher in Lewistown, has not missed a single community sing at the College for over twenty years.

1000 To Attend 4-H Convention

One thousand rural boys and girls from all parts of Pennsylvania are expected to attend the 23rd Annual 4-H Club Week at the College August 11 to 14, according to Allen L. Baker, state leader.

County agriculture and home economics extension representatives as well as local leaders will join the delegates in the four-day program. All those attending the convention will be housed in campus living quarters.

New Extension Centers Receive Fall Freshmen

Two new campuses, Dickinson Jr. College in Williamsport and Swarthmore College, have been added to the list of colleges which will be hosts to an estimated 3100 Penn State freshmen this fall.

Over 400 College freshmen from the Philadelphia area will receive off-campus instruction this September at Swarthmore College, said Ralph D. Hetzel, president of the College.

The 20-room Swarthmore building leased by the College is the former administration building of the Mary Lyons School, whose physical plant was taken over by Swarthmore College last year.

In addition to an auditorium and gymnasium facilities, the structure will provide 14 classrooms, several laboratories, and considerable office space. Only those freshmen who are able to commute from their homes will be assigned to the new center. They will be able to secure lunches at a cafeteria on the Swarthmore campus.

The freshman center at Swarthmore will be administered by the Extension Services of the College. According to J. O. Keller, assistant to the president in charge of extension, the building will be used also for other phases of extension work.

The Veterans' Guidance Center of the College, formerly operated in Chester, will move its offices to the Swarthmore building in August. The Evening Technical Institute, also formerly operated in Chester, will transfer its location from Smedley Junior High School in September. In addition, full-time day technical institute classes will be established in September to provide training in engineering for residents of the Philadelphia area.

A full-time staff of faculty members for the freshman class will be assigned to the new center, and the class schedules will follow the regular calendar of the College. All the cooperating colleges where Penn State freshmen were enrolled last year are expected to participate again this year.

Freshmen were also enrolled at the College's undergraduate centers at Altoona, DuBois, Hazleton, and Pottsville. Freshman foresters were assigned to the State Forestry School at Mont Alto.

Senator McCarthy, U. S. Senator from Wisconsin, will discuss universal military training in Schwab Auditorium, 7:30 p. m. next Tuesday.

Senator McCarthy's lecture, scheduled by the Superintendents and Principals Conference at the College, will be open to the public.

At the age of 36, Senator McCarthy is the youngest man in the Senate. He took his seat last January after defeating Senator LaFollette. During World War II, Senator McCarthy served as a Marine Aviation Aviator, having enlisted in the U. S. Marine Corps as a private.

Dorita and Valero

Tickets for this feature, the third program of the Artists' Course summer series can be obtained on the night of the program at the door for 75 cents. Natives of Andalusia, Dorita and Valero have danced with Argentinia's Company in New York, and have scored as a team at Paris, Havana, Mexico City, and Washington.

The couple have also appeared in movie short-subjects for RKO Radio and Universal Co.

In the Flamenco form of choreography, according to Dorita and Valero, dancers clap hands rapidly, snap fingers, and stamp heels in staccato fashion to accent the varied tempos and rhythms instead of the more popular method of clicking castanets.

Flamenco dancers shade their whirling, whip-like motions to convey the spirit and story of each dance. Although each dance has a set form, the performers may interpret the movements of a dance to convey emotions.

Individual and dance team numbers by Albeniz make up the largest part of the program, and in the team category include: "Seguidillas," "Cordoba," and "Triana." Individual Albeniz include: "Asturias" by Valero and "Puerta de Tierra" by Forita.

Selections of popular origin for Dorita and Valero include: "Los Cuatros Muleros," "Bulerias y Sevillanas," "Farruca," and "Jota Aragonesa." The composer Granados is represented by "Zapateado," for Dorita.

The piano accompanist, A. Thevenet, will play de Falla's "Fire Dance."
