

2000 To Register In Post Session Bursar Office Receives Student Fees August 9

Approximately 2000 students will attend the three and six-week courses of the Post-Session, according to Marion R. Trabue, director of Summer Sessions.

Students who have already registered for the six-week post session during main session application period will attend Monday morning classes as scheduled. First meetings of three-week courses for students who have already registered are scheduled for Monday afternoon.

Post-session registration for those students who have not already filled out the necessary forms will be in 1, 2, and 3 Carnegie Hall, 8 a. m. to 12 noon, Monday.

Fees for the two post-sessions beginning Monday will be paid at the Bursar's office, 8 a. m. to 4 p. m., Wednesday August 13.

Women attending the first three-week session will obtain living accommodations in Women's Building. Six-week students will reside at Grange Memorial Dormitory.

The final three-week post-session is listed for September 2 to September 20. Students planning to attend who have not previously registered should enroll at 102 Burrows or 207 Buckhout, 8 a. m. to 12 noon, Tuesday September 2. Fees for these courses are payable at the Bursar's Office, 8 a. m. to 4 p. m. September 4.

Students Operate Book Exchange

The Student Book Exchange will open in the basement of Irvin Hall, at 1:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, Jane Weigle, chairman of the Book Exchange committee, said today.

The exchange is operated for the benefit of the students, Miss Weigle stated. Each student determines the price for which he will sell his book, usually 60 percent of the purchase price. Veterans may purchase books at the exchange as book cards are accepted.

Books will be accepted for sale from 1:30 to 4:30 p. m. tomorrow, and 1:30 to 4:40 p. m. Saturday. Books will be sold from 9 a. m. till noon and 1:30 to 4:30 p. m. Monday and Tuesday.

The Student Book Exchange is located in the East end of the dormitory. Students are to enter the door opposite Beecher House.

La Vie Photos

All graduating seniors are reminded that they must make arrangements for a La Vie photo and fill out activities cards before they leave campus. Roberta Hutchison, editor, stated yesterday.

Photos must be taken at the Photo Shop or else glossy prints must be turned in. Activity cards may be picked up at Student Union.

Debaters To Meet Oxford University

Penn State will renew debating relations with Oxford University for the first time since before the war when the English squad comes to the United States next Fall for a three-month tour.

A tentative date for the debate which will be conducted in Schwab Auditorium has been set for the evening of October 22, according to Harris Gilbert, forensics council president.

The Men's Debating Team, coached by Joseph F. O'Brien, professor of public speaking, will take the affirmative on the subject: Resolved—that an era of war can best be averted by an all-purpose Anglo-American alliance.

One of the three English debaters, David K. Harris, will give a talk on Oxford University in Schwab Auditorium in the afternoon of October 22.

The other members of the team are Anthony Wedgewood Benn, son of Viscount Stansgate who was the first secretary of state for air for the labor government, and Sir Edward Boyle, 23-year old viscount who served in the Foreign Office during the war.

Fun Night Heads Activity Program

A Fun Night, tennis, and golf are the recreation activities listed for post session.

Fun Night at Recreation Hall, 8:30 to 11 p. m. August 22, will feature dancing to recorded music, games, cards, and badminton. Admission is free.

Students who purchased main session golf tickets may secure a post session ticket for $5. Tickets for other students are $10. A single day's play is seventy-five cents.

Advance tennis reservations will not be made during the next six weeks. "First come, first served" will be the rule according to the court manager.

246 to Receive Degrees In Schwab Commencement

Degrees will be conferred on 246 main session graduates at commencement exercises in Schwab Auditorium, 10 o'clock Saturday morning, by Marion R. Trabue, director of Summer Sessions and Dean of the School of Education.

The principal address at the graduation, "What Road Are We On?" will be delivered by Judge Harold C. Kessinger, of Ridgewood, N. J.

Degrees will be conferred on 134 bachelor candidates, including 50 bachelor of arts and 84 bachelor of science awards. Master degrees will be presented to 103 students, and doctorates to nine applicants.

Bachelor of arts degrees will be awarded to 43 students in liberal arts and seven in education. Bachelor of science diplomas include seven in agriculture, 16 in chemistry and physics, 15 in education, 40 in engineering, two in mineral industries, and four in physical education.

Graduation Procedure

Graduates will assemble on Old Main terrace at 9:40 a. m. Saturday, and the procession will move promptly at 9:50 a. m.

Faculty members participating in the program will meet at the south side entrance of Schwab Auditorium at 9:40 a. m.

In case of rain, graduates will convene in the second floor lounge, Old Main, and faculty members in 104 Old Main.

Costumes in Burrows

Academic costumes should be picked up in the basement mailing room, Burrows, Friday afternoon or Saturday morning and should be turned in when the exercises are completed.

Plans for post session graduation exercises have not been completed, according to the Summer Sessions office.

Batchelor Wins Water Color Prize

"Bird Heaven," a water color painting by William A. Batchelor, was awarded first prize in the 20th annual exhibit which will be open to the public in 303 Main Engineering, 8 a. m. to 10 p. m. for the last time today.

Second and third winners were "Moonlight" by William G. Faddis and "Slow Freight" by Charles R. Reynolds. Honorable mentions went to "Willow Tree, New Jersey" by E. L. Pagenstecher and "Blue Tanks" by Morton I. Cohn.

Judges included Milton S. Osborne, head of the department of architecture; Harold E. Dickson, professor of fine arts; and M. Dean Ross, assistant professor of fine arts.

The paintings were products of the summer water color painting class of Andrew W. Case, associate professor of fine arts. The canvases, which portray all directions of contemporary art, are for sale.

Dorms to Exclude Married Women

Married women will not be permitted to live in College dormitories, Pearl O. Weston, dean of women, said today. The ruling goes into effect in September.

Married women students now living on campus were notified in May that they would have to find new accommodations before the Fall semester. Two of these women had expected to return to dormitory rooms.

The ruling, which was in effect since women students were admitted to the College, had been set aside during the war when marriages of women students sharply increased, the dean explained.

Insufficient room accommodations for unmarried women seeking entrance to the College and a steady decrease in undergraduate women's marriages have brought about the recall of the regulation, Dr. Weston said.

The office of the Dean of Women will aid married women already registered to find rooms in town. Married woman may still be admitted to the College if they do not expect to live in College dormitories, she added.

Delegates Attend NSO Convention

Four delegates from the College will convene with students from almost every college and university in the United States when they attend the Constitutional Convention of the National Student Organization at the University of Wisconsin, August 30 through September 7.

The delegates who were elected by All-College Cabinet are Jane Fouracre, Eugene Fulmer, Allan Ostar, and Robert Troxell. Troxell is acting head of the Penn State delegation.

Purposes of the Convention will be:

1. To establish basic purposes of the NSO, and to plan various national, regional, and campus activities to achieve these purposes.
2. To approve a constitution for the NSO.
3. To elect national officers of the NSO, and to provisionally elect regional officers.
4. To establish a budget and fix assessments of participating student bodies.

Herald Tribune Publishes 'Freshman Farm' Article

An expert's estimate of Penn State's "freshman farm" plan will be published Sunday in the education section of the New York Herald-Tribune.

The author, William G. Avirett, was a visitor to the campus during the past week and he interviewed Dr. Ralph D. Hetzel, president of the College, William S. Hoffman, registrar, Arthur R. Warnock, dean of men and other administrators interested in this program.

Avirett, who is education editor of the Herald-Tribune won the Helms Foundation Award this year for "distinguished service in the interpretation of educational trends."

Burns, Robb Families Attend Classes Together

Two more family combinations on campus (once called "rare coincidences" by the Summer Collegian) were revealed this week.

Mrs. Blanche Burns, a teacher for nearly ten years, is studying this summer with her son, Murray. Taking education courses, Mrs. Burns is working on a BA degree.

Murray Burns, a senior majoring in pre-law, will enter law school in the Fall.

Mrs. Philemon Robb is attending psychology classes in Burrows while her son, Richard, studies ceramics. The Robbs are planning a trip to California following Richard's graduation Saturday.

Other family combinations on campus this Summer are Mrs. Doris Von Neida and son "Whitey," basketball star, and Ray V. Laudenslager and daughter Jill.

Catalogs Needed

All students who no longer have need for their copies of the 1947 Summer Sessions Catalog or the Announcement of the Graduate School are asked to leave them at the Student Union desk in Old Main.

McCarthy Sees War Peril; Opposes Universal Training

United States is now "at war" with Russia, but the shooting will be avoided if we can get cooperation from the Soviet Union, declared Joseph R. McCarthy, U. S. Senator from Wisconsin, in his Schwab Auditorium address on Universal Training.

McCarthy, Marine veteran, addressing members of the superintendents and principals conference, vigorously opposed universal military training as being inadequate for present warfare.

"Instead of training masses," he said, "we should devote our money to scientific research to learn about guided missiles, bacteriological warfare, and defenses against modern weapons."

No "Human War"

Stressing the fact that future wars would be won through bacteriological warfare, the senator declared that we cannot have a "human war."

Passage of the Universal Military Training bill, according to McCarthy, will mean either an appropriation of an additional four or five million dollars for the Army or taking some of its present much-needed funds.

The number of men do not indicate military strength, McCarthy said, pointing out that experts declared France powerful because of her large land army, yet she was weakened in 70 hours in the last war.

"These same experts," said the (Continued on page eight)
