

Gridders Seek to Continue Mastery over Fordham Ram

In their only road game this month, the Nittany Lions will meet the Fordham Rams at the Polo Grounds in New York Saturday. This game will mark the second meeting of the two teams. In last year's contest, the Lions piled up more than a point a minute to wallop the Maroon, 68-0.

Coach Higgins will probably start the same team against the Rams that was on the field facing the Bisons when the opening whistle blew.

Unlike many Eastern coaches this year, Higgins has a large and powerful reserve to call on. Every man on the Blue and White squad, excepting casualties, has seen plenty of action in both games already played.

TAILBACK LUTHER

Shaping up as a second Larry Joe is sophomore Bill Luther of Osceola Mills. He played against Washington State and in the last game against Bucknell, showing up well as he operated from his tailback position.

Luther, who is big and fast, can find holes in the line even when there are none. His specialty is picking up five or ten yards on delayed off tackle slants or around the ends.

Another newcomer to the Blue and White squad, also a tailback, is Clarence Hummel who starred as a freshman at California State Teacher's College last year.

Hummel, who weighs 185 and is six feet tall, is the first big tailback on the Lion team for quite some time.

END TAMBURIO

Sam Tamburio, lanky 185-pound junior end from New Kensington, continues to impress with his fine terminal work. His aggressiveness and ability to snag aeri-als matches his spirited defensive play.

Our line this year has looked just as good as the 1946 Nittany Lions when we rated third in the nation in total defense, yielding an average of less than 159 yards per game in eight starts. Only Notre Dame and Oklahoma rated higher than the Blue and White.

This year, in the first two starts against Washington State and Bucknell, the Lions yielded a total of 228 yards by land and air for a defensive average of 114 yards per game. The Penn Staters gave only 64 yards to the Cougars and 26 yards to Bucknell through the line.
