Estelle Hetzel Loan Funds 'Worn Smooth Doing Good'

Always ready to serve the students, the Estelle H. Hetzel Fund for Emergencies offers loans that be made quickly and quietly in a time of crisis. Named for Mrs. Hetzel, wife of the late president, the fund allows students to borrow small amounts of money, without interest, to be repaid over a period of a month.

During the past seven years the Fund has been in operation, a total of $12,289 has been loaned to 1125 students who have promptly repaid every penny of it.

"Every dollar of the Fund has been loaned five times," said Mrs. Hetzel, "so the money has been worn smooth doing good."

Visit Brings Idea

The idea for the Emergency Fund was conceived when a student called on Mrs. Hetzel in the fall of 1939. "During the evening I discovered that he would have a job soon," she said, "but in the meantime he was living on one meal a day. I knew that he would not accept money as a gift, but I saw there was a need for a fund from which students could borrow for such emergencies."

Mrs. Hetzel had recently read about a Mothers Club at Stanford University which had organized such a plan. With her own contribution and that of a few friends as a nucleus, she went to the women student leaders who incorporated her idea for the fund into the 1939 WSGA Christmas drive. On March 20, six years ago, the first loan was made.

Money Donated

"We never asked for money," Mrs. Hetzel said. "Donations are voluntary and come in small amounts from WSGA and WRA events, and money left over after certain projects have served their purpose. Sometimes interested students contribute a few dollars. One of the trustees frequently donates money because during his college days he had received help from such a fund."

During the war the Emergency Fund has aided the war-student groups. Today it is helping the veterans.

"The Fund has made it possible for a number of boys who have no other source of income to attend school until delayed subsistence and pension checks arrive," stated Robert E. Galbraith, Faculty Counselor of Veterans. "Part of the benefit of the loan is that the transaction is simple and entails little red tape. The fact that the boys are repaying their loans as soon as their checks arrive shows that they appreciate their responsibility."

Bursar Administrator

To get an emergency loan, the student should present a note from either the Dean of Women, the Dean or Men or the Veterans Counselor, to Russell E. Clark, the College Bursar and administrator of the Fund. Only three questions are asked of the applicant: What do you need the money for? How much do you need? When will you repay the loan? The whole transaction is very simple and is kept confidential.

"Mr. Clark's handling of the Fund has contributed greatly to its success," Mrs. Hetzel added. "for he has taken a personal interest in the students' problems."
