

Ag School Host to Visitors From 8 Foreign Countries

During the past few months the College has been host to visitors who have come from eight countries to look over the Agriculture School and experiment station.

These men were representatives of all fields of agriculture and also represented many of the major nations. Among these visitors, those from the British Isles were Thomas Barton Mann and William Werrett, dairy specialists; Dr. K. L. Blaxter, representative of the British Ministry of Agriculture; and E. T. Jones, geneticist, Wales.

Also present were Dr. E. K. Van-Dallan, inspector, Hague, The Netherlands; and Gregor Bendz, agricultural attache for Swedish legation, Stockholm, Sweden.

Other distinguished guests include Marcel Chevalier, entomologist for French Agronomic Research Center of Paris, France; Pieter Vorster, government horticulturist, Union of South Africa; S. P. Raychaudhuri, government soil scientist, India; and Dr. D. N. Mullick, animal nutrition expert, India.

Another group of foreign visitors included Dr. Knut Brlerem, staff of Royal College of Agriculture, Norway; Dr. Joel Axelson, representative of Agricultural College of Sweden; and M. J. Thirumalacher, mycologist, Bangalore, India. Dr. Thirumalacher has had the title of Scholar of India conferred upon him, a title which only a few noted men of that country can receive.

Flying Club Wins College Charter

When the Penn State Flying Club started two years ago it was made up of a small group of men who lacked even a plane. Today it has a charter granted by the College recognizing the club as an activity, and boasts two planes, a Piper Cub and a Taylorcraft. The enrollment has increased to 40 members, three of whom are women.

The organization is non-profit and was designed primarily for those who want to learn to fly but who cannot afford the exorbitant prices charged by airport managers. With an increase in membership, the cost of flying time goes down so that for those who want to learn to fly at a small cost, this is their opportunity.

The club is now secure because of the few pioneers who spent time, money and energy so that more and cheaper flying would be available for Penn State students.

Vocalist Praises State

Stopped by a Collegian reporter after the Fred Waring broadcast Tuesday morning, Joan Wheatley was asked for a statement.

The tall brunette vocalist hesitated a moment and then said, "If I come back to school, I'd like to come here. I went to school in California, and I've seen some beautiful colleges, but Penn State is the best yet."

TO FIND THAT

"WHITCH" YOU HAVE LOST

USE COLLEGIAN CLASSIFIED COLUMNS FOR RESULTS

Charlie Pleads Need Of Date to Knit Argyles

WANTED: Date who knits argyles.

Ever since this ad appeared in Collegian, coeds have been curious . . . and knitting furiously. Some say that Charlie was probably knitting argyles himself and merely wanted his date to show him how to slip a stitch. Others say that Charlie had a new angle to combat Penn State's current woman shortage.

Charlie, however, insists that he really likes argyles. He likes the colors—reds, green, and blues. Besides he is gradually depleting his supply of Navy socks and is now trying to alternate the black ones with the more colorful argyles.

"I usually change socks at noon," said Charlie. "I wear the black ones in the morning because I have 8 o'clocks, and the gayer ones in the afternoon."

His girl back home used to supply him with argyles, but lately she's been forgetting him. "She must be knitting for other guys," he said regretfully.

Since his classes are all in the chemistry and engineering buildings, Charlie claims he has never seen a girl knit argyles. His roommate, a liberal artist, is much more successful, Charlie says.

Charlie finally confessed that the ad was someone's practical joke, but it turned out to be a profitable one. At least six coeds have answered the ad.

State Poultrymen's Group Changes Name at Confab

The 25th annual Poultry Convention of the College is being held in White Hall from Monday through Friday of this week.

At this conference the State Poultry Association voted to change its title to the Pennsylvania State Poultry Federation.

Officers will be elected and the annual business meeting will be held during the course of the week.

Interested students are invited to attend any of the sessions.

Fraternities to Start Little Brown Jug Tradition

One of the fraternities on campus has made the first move toward the establishment of a "Little Brown Jug" for Penn State.

Phi Sigma Delta has made a wager with its West Virginia chapter on the outcome on Saturday's game. If the home team wins, the Morgantown branch of the Greek-letter organization has agreed to buy a cup inscribed with the results of the contest.

This trophy will be held until the next meeting between the Nittany Lions and the Mountaineers, when its holder for the next year will again be decided by the outcome of the tussle.

Phi Sigma Delta will be host to 20 members of the West Virginia chapter who will be here to witness the game.

Penn State Club to Give Dance for Independents

Independent coeds will have a chance to meet the men of the Penn State Club, independent men's organization, at a dance to be held in 321 Old Main 8 o'clock Saturday night. Al Lukas, president, reported.

A committee composed of Bill Beitle, Jim Sentz, Ernie Sladies, and Al Stoback, will make the arrangements for this informal mixer.

Another project planned by the group is an all-college talent show to be held December 5. This show will be similar to the one held last year and prizes will be awarded for the best presentations.

College Publishes Book To Aid Minor Judiciary

To assist members of the minor judiciary in Pennsylvania, the Institute of Local Government at the College has published a book entitled, "Criminal Law for the Minor Judiciary."

The book, prepared by the Public Service Institute, Harrisburg, contains sections on the definition of crimes, motives and factors of crime, types of evidence, investigations, arrests and prosecutions.

Other sections deal with the procedure for the one-man court, the hearing, the witness, bail, subpoena, docket, and transcripts. Crime prevention and juvenile courts also are discussed.

Former Airmen to Fly

Former air crew members interested in getting flying time at Reserve Base Unit in Johnstown are asked to contact Lt. Elmer C. Wareham, Room 19, Dorm 36. Postal cards to him should include name, rank, air crew rating, local and home address and telephone.

Faculty News

Talk at Juniata

Four members of the College faculty will present papers at the meeting of the Pennsylvania Conference of College Physics Teachers to be held at Juniata College, Huntingdon, tomorrow and Saturday.

Dr. Henry L. Yeagley, associate professor of physics, will speak on "Pigeon Navigation" and Dr. Marsh W. White, professor of physics, will discuss "Statistical Survey of Numbers of Physicists in Training."

George Castore, assistant in psychology, will speak on "A Preliminary Report on Aptitude Tests for Incoming Physics Students" and Dr. Isadore Rudnick, instructor in physics, will discuss "Ultrasonics Research at the Acoustics Laboratory."

Simons Speaks

Dr. Joseph H. Simons, director of the College fluorine laboratories, will speak on "Fluorine Chemistry" tomorrow before the Virginia section of the American Chemical Society, at Hopewell.

Faculty Plays Host

Faculty of the department of agricultural engineering will play host today and tomorrow to the annual Fall meeting of the Pennsylvania Society of Agricultural Engineers. R. E. Patterson, instructor in agricultural engineering, is secretary-treasurer.

Hacks Presents Paper

J. E. Hacks, Jr., research associate in electrical engineering, presented a paper yesterday at the joint meeting of the Institute of Radio Engineers and the International Scientific Radio Union in Washington, D. C.

The paper was titled "An Approach to the Approximate Solution of the Ionosphere Absorption Problem."

Marin Attends Meeting

Dr. Joseph Marin, professor of engineering mechanics, is serving as chairman of one of the sessions and presenting a paper at the annual meeting of the National Metals Congress in Chicago this week. His paper is titled "Some New Testing Machines for Combined Stress Experiments."

Addresses Teachers

Dr. Viktor Lowenfeld, professor of art education, addressed the Delaware County Teachers' Institute at Swarthmore, Tuesday. He spoke on "The Relation of Mental and Creative Growth."

BILL McMULLEN
FLORIST

2434

4755

Led by a Nose?

by Elizabeth Woodward

America's foremost authority on young people's problems

You've picked yourself a side-kick . . . and from her you are seldom parted. Wherever she is . . . there you are also. As thick as thieves, you share your thoughts, your secrets . . . sometimes your dates.

Maybe you're birds of a feather. But usually unlikes attract each other. Contrasts in coloring and inner fire make you good foils for each other. When one is low, the other high. When one is bold, the other shy. When a cat has the tongue of one, the other talks enough for two. Whatever is the tie that binds . . . you two girls compliment each other.

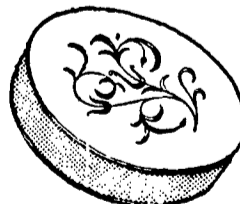

Which is a lovely thing . . . until one of you turns copycat. You started off trying to agree on everything . . . just to keep your friendship smooth. So you choked down your differences . . . and got to thinking, looking and liking alike.

Not necessarily because you both went for the same things. But one of you did . . . so the other had to. Copycatting carries teamwork too far. It's tough on the one who sets the pace . . . and the one who follows through.

Partners should carry equal shares of the load. If one has to dream up all the ideas, think out all the plans, take all the initiative . . . while the other trots meekly along . . . it gets to be a wearing chore. That's dragging dead weight.

And being led by the nose . . . dancing to somebody else's tune . . . can pall too. It's grim to be the beastly burden.

If you want your friendship to be a thing of beauty and a joy forever . . . don't cling to it like the drowning man's straw. Learn to live with it . . . and without it. Have fun together . . . have fun separately. Put in even more stimulation and steam than you get from it. And don't let anybody call you a weak sister!

Complexion Drama

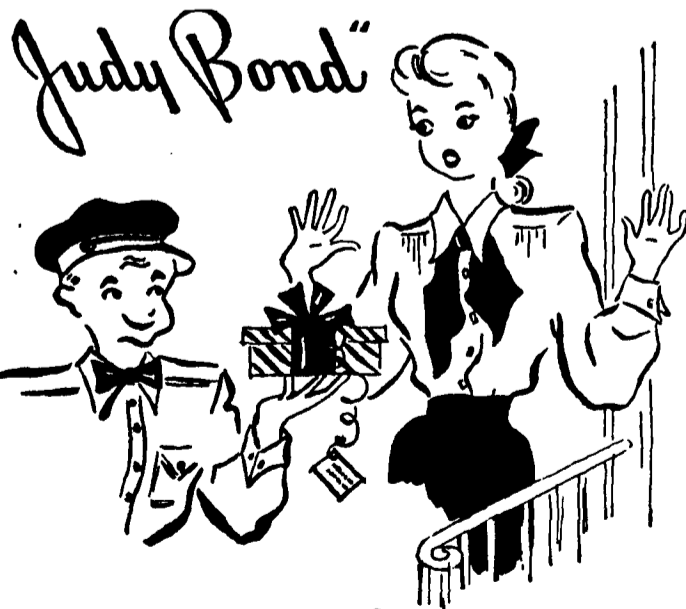

If you want your complexion to be a thing of beauty, here's a friend to cling to—like mad! Box holds exactly the same super-screened, velvet-textured Roger & Gallet Powder as the $4.50 compact. Hand-pressed to release right amount at a puff stroke. Four skin-true shades.

1.50
plus tax

ROGER & GALLET POWDER
Lipstick • Perfume • Dry Perfume • Eau de Cologne

It says, "FOR THE GIRL IN THE

JUDY BOND BLOUSES ARE SOLD AT BETTER STORES EVERYWHERE

See them in Altoona at WM. F. BAGLE CO.

Free booklet: "WARDROBE TRICKS." Write Judy Bond, Inc., Dept. N, 1375 Broadway, New York 18