

Students, Alumni Plan Pitt Weekend

A student committee for the Pitt weekend festivities consisting of Jack Cameron, Joseph Pugh, and Raymond Kelly is working in co-operation with Pittsburgh alumni to plan a celebration for all students and alumni who will attend the Pitt-Penn State football game November 22.

In a letter received from the Penn State alumni in Pittsburgh it was learned by the committee that a Penn State party is planned at the William Penn Hotel after the game. Dancing and table reservations, and refreshments, will be provided in the Urban Room, Silver Room and Adonis Room of the William Penn Hotel.

There will be a cover charge of $3.60 per couple. Further details regarding the purchase of tickets will be released at a later date.

Cabinet Rejects --

(Continued from page one)

Student Union Committee. Cabinet declined that the remaining two vacancies should be filled by sophomores.

Acting on last week's motion, Cabinet appointed a food-savings committee consisting of Edward Banyal and Harris Gilbert, co-chairmen; Albert Lichtman, Janet Lyons, and Floyd Rose. The main task of the group is to investigate possible ways of organized student help in the international food shortage.

A supplement to the complimentary ticket list of the Junior Prom was passed to include visiting delegates of the Pershing Rifle convention at the College, after the request of Bernard Rudnick.

Alan Hack's Tribunal report; Harris Gilbert's community forum report were approved. Eugene Fulmer announced that the Student Government conference and National Student Association dates were December 20-21.

Lines from the Lion . . .

enroute to State College (the hard way)

Dear Gang: I am writing this from Cave Inn, a stop-over used exclusively by traveling lions.

After submitting my final scouters report to the Hig, he gave me orders to return to the campus. Ordinarily, I would be traveling by train, but I used my expense money to buy an interest in the future. Security, you know.

I bought a still located in the mountains of West Va. I have plenty of "proof" . . . that it was a good deal.

I hadn't owned the establishment more than a hour when some men came to visit me. I thought they were customers.

"See you're doing a landoffice business here," said one of them. "No sir," I told him, "I've got nothing to do with real estate. I operate a still."

"We're revenuers," they said. "I won't hold that against you," I told them. "I'm not exactly 100% American myself. I do business with foreigners."

At that point I slipped quietly away as only a lyn' man could. See you at the game.

For the Glory, The Lion

Graduates' Book To Be Published

"The Leftovers," a book written by Larry Chervenak, a 1944 graduate of the College, will be published in a British edition by the Mitre Press of London.

In "The Leftovers," a story of the Pacific war theatre, Chervenak tells of Penn Staters who met there. He describes them singing Penn State songs and reminiscing.

While a journalism student, Chervenak, whose home is in Portage, was president of his fraternity, Theta Xi; on the Collegian staff; president of Sigma Delta Chi, men's professional journalistic society; a member of Phi Eta Sigma, scholastic honorary for freshmen men; and was active in debating, riflery, fencing, and dramatics.

Harris Addresses Literature Club

Dr. Brice Harris, head of the department of English literature, will give the first in a series of talks sponsored by the Belle Lettres Club in the northeast Atherton lounge at 7 p.m. Tuesday, said Barbara Jelen, vice-president.

"Restoration Period" and "Predatory Authors" have been selected as topics for this first meeting of the club.

Dr. Harris came to the College this year from Illinois University. Previously he had taught at Vanderbilt University, Clemson College, and Cornell University.

Educated at Erskine College, Vanderbilt University, and Harvard University, Dr. Harris has had wide experience in research as well as teaching.

In 1924 he received a "grant-in-aid" from the American Council of Learned Societies for study in Europe and in 1936 a fellowship for research in Huntington Library in California.

Numerous articles and book reviews by Dr. Harris have been published in various scholarly periodicals. Among his works is "Charles Sackville, Earl of Dorset."

Miss Jelen stated that the club is primarily for English literature majors, but that it is open to all who may be interested.

Political Writer Speaks

An outstanding Pennsylvania political writer, L. R. Lingrin, Harrisburg correspondent for the Pittsburgh Press, will speak on political news in the Journalism 1 class Monday.

Students and faculty interested in the subject are invited to the meeting, 10 Sparks, 11 a.m., Prof. Franklin C. Banner, head of the journalism department, said today.

Professor Banner added that Mr. Lingrin will be the guest of Sigma Delta Chi, men's national journalism honorary, at a luncheon after the talk.

Chant

Let's give 'em the old—
Fight in there
FIGHT!

Eastern Educators Discuss Rural Life

Educators from New York, New Jersey, Delaware, and Pennsylvania will take part in the North Atlantic Regional Conference on Rural Life and Education at the College, Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday.

M. R. Trabue, dean of the School of Education, will be official host to the group, it was announced yesterday.

Presiding at the general sessions, at 8 p.m. Tuesday, will be Dr. Willis E. Pratt, head of the Department of Education.

The theme of the conference is: "Education for an Enduring Community Life in Rural America."

Other members of the College faculty who will participate are:

Miss Doris Ekstrom, Home Economics department; C. O. Williams, head, Teacher Recommendations and Credentials; Robert A. McCall, Rural Sociology Extension; M. E. John, Agriculture Extension and Rural Sociology; Grace M. Henderson, director of Home Economics; William Smith, Home Economics department; and William G. Mather, Rural Sociology.

IFC Distributes Newsletter

First issue of the IFC Newsletter, a publication sponsored by the Inter-Fraternity Council will be distributed Monday, Willard Agnew, IFC president said today.

The issue will feature introductory articles by Arthur R. Warnock, dean of men, and Thomas Lannen, All-College president. In addition a feature on the big Houseparty Weekend and an article by Agnew, "Should IFC Adopt a Hell Week Code," will highlight the paper.

The newsletter will be published bi-weekly, and issued every other Monday. All local fraternity news, sports, and features will be included. Of interest to sororities will be the column on sorority activities.

Copies will be mailed to all fraternities, but other students may pick up issues at the Student Union desk.

It's Not Fertilizer It's Not Sewers It's a Bush

The bushes around Sparks are raising a big stink—actually.

The cause of the unpleasant odor that has been wafting through the clear Nittany air between the Liberal Arts building and Carnegie Hall recently has at last been solved.

A member of the College faculty, Robert P. Meahl, and Walter W. Trainer, of the Grounds and Buildings department, have traced the cause to Penn State's outstanding specimens of virburnum sieboldii bushes.

The bushes, noted as some of the finest in the country, have been suffering under the recent spell of warm weather. It seems that the humid atmosphere pervading Sparks' proximity has caused the leaves to fall—all of which in Horticultural reasoning adds up to a lot of pungent odor.

But the bushes are not going to be removed. Mr. Trainer, in answer to a query if they would be torn out, exclaimed: "You wouldn't throw a boy out of a fraternity, because his feet smelled, would you?"

All of which leaves us anxiously awaiting cold weather.

Church Calendar

St. John's Evangelical United Brethren Church, Beaver avenue fellowship 6:15 p.m.

University Baptist Church, Burrowes and Nittany avenue—student discussion 9:40 a.m. Sunday: Roger Williams Fellowship 5 p.m., guest speaker Rev. R. E. Slaughter.

Friends Student Fellowship, Atherton street between Foster and Nittany. Hike to Nittany Mountain. Transportation provided at the Meeting House at 2:30 p.m. Sunday. Further information call Larry Gara, 6998.

Bible Study—200 Carnegie 7 o'clock tonight.

Bible Fellowship—Leave engineering parking lot 1:30 p.m. Saturday for fall conference.

Lutheran Student Association—Atherton and College avenues—6:30 Sunday; Twilight hike 7:30 tonight.

The Three Suns —reading down: Morty Dunn Artie Dunn Al Nevins

"Sleepy Time Gal" Whatta Gal! Whatta RECORD!

...latest disk by The Three Suns for RCA Victor

BACK in '25 everybody was humming 'bout that "Sleepy Time Gal." Now "Gal" is back in a new and wonderful record.

And here's another favorite with a great record: cool, mild, flavorful Camel cigarettes. More men and more women are smoking Camels than ever before.

Why? The answer is in your "T-Zone" (T for Taste and T for Throat).

Try Camels. Discover for yourself why, with smokers who have tried and compared, Camels are the "choice of experience"!

I LEARNED BY EXPERIENCE THAT CAMELS SUIT ME BEST!

Al Nevins

More people are smoking CAMELS than ever before!