Home Ec. Club Collects Clothing for Dutch Family

Home Economics Club is sponsoring a clothing drive, which will end November 7, for their adopted Dutch family, according to Margaret Paxton, advisor of the social service committee. Boxes for donations have been placed in the Home Economics Building and in Atherton Hall.

Last year the club sent to the family five boxes, which contained, in addition to garments and shoes, canned foods and milk, candy bars, chewing gum, and toilet articles.

This year the girls are donating note books, paper, pencils, sewing essentials, a shoe repair kit, hankies, adhesive tape, yarn and knitting needles. Members of the group sign up for these and other contributions and are responsible for putting them in the boxes.

A professor, two medical students, and a student of the English language and literature are included in the Dutch family, who have expressed their gratitude by sending their benefactors a box of tulip and narcissus bulbs. Grounds and Buildings has given permission to the club to plant them in the rear of the Home Economics when they arrive this month.

Members of the social service committee are: Katherine Peters, chairman; Edith Ann Cope, Ruth Brown, Margaret Alexander, Beatrice Kaufman, and Barbara McCracken.
