

Booters Romp to 4-0 Win Over Cornell Soccermen

Displaying a slashing offensive style reminiscent of the great pre-war Penn State soccer teams, Bill Jeffrey's rejuvenated Blue and White booters romped to a 4-0 win over the Big Red of Cornell Saturday.

A brace of final period paydirt shots by fleet Freddie Kretzer plus second and third period goals by Ted Lieb and Dean Witmer accounted for the four Lion markers and the Statemen's fourth win of the season.

In a vengeful mood after their 2-1 setback at the hands of Navy October 25, Jeffrey's chargers took the offensive early in the opening quarter and drove deep into the invader's backfield territory to threaten the Cornell net with repeated goal shots.

CORNELL DEFENSE

Fine defensive play by Cornell goalie Bruce Care and fullbacks Schwencke and Sheinkman stymied the first Lion advances, however, and it wasn't until the second period that Penn State was able to connect for its first marker.

With six minutes of the second stanza gone, speedy Hal Hackman, taking possession of the ball a few yards inside the midfield stripe, raced down the right sidelines and lofted a scorching boot from the far corner to outside left Ted Lieb who netted the ball with a spectacular head shot a few feet from the Cornell net.

The Big Red bounced back during the latter part of the second quarter with several goal line rushes but, despite a leftside corner kick and a close net try that careened off the top of the Lion goalposts, the Cornell attack wilted before the blanketing defensive work of goalie Gene Graebner and fullbacks Frank Taucher and big Chuck Margolf.

WITMER TALLIES

The Lions tallied their second marker late in the third period when, with one minute of play remaining in the quarter, speed merchant Hackman boomed a center punt to inside right Dean Witmer. Dean dribbled once and then shot a high rebounding boot off the shoulders of goalie Care into the cords to send the Jeffrey-men into the lead, 2-0.

With 15 minutes of the final period passed, the Jeffrey-men registered their next tally. Fred Kretzer, dribbling fast, took a center pass from halfback Ralph Hosterman and scooted through

Breakfast Clubber

The large oilcloth which decked part of the fence in front of the east stands at New Beaver Field Saturday, publicized the representation of the Breakfast Club from Evans City. A large delegation of citizens from that Pennsylvania town witnessed a home town product, Jennings Marburger, cavort in the safety position for the Maroon.

A maze of Big Red defensive men to chalk up the Lions' third score of the afternoon.

The final Nittany tally came a few minutes later as Kretzer, emerging from a net territory melee of crimson turfmen, again scored on a payoff boot from short range.

Higginsmen Notch 6th Straight In 46-0 Slaughter Over Maroon

The Nittany Lions left Saturday's honors behind them as they went back to work yesterday in preparation for the Temple tilt next week.

The powerful Blue and White chalked up its sixth straight win this season and its 300th in 61 years of intercollegiate football when it downed the Colgate Raiders 46-0 Saturday before 15,000.

A stubborn Maroon defense held the Lions to only 13 points in the first half, but an endless stream of Nittany reserves scored five touchdowns in quick succession to run the score up to within three points of Colgate's all-time high tally made against them by Yale in 1914.

EMPTY BENCH

Coach Bob Higgins used 42 men against the Raiders in an effort to hold down the score, which, however, topped the all-time high made between these two teams during their 36 year rivalry. The previous record was a 40-0 Colgate victory in 1930.

The Bixler-coached team netted a total of minus 15 yards against the Lion "stone" wall, marking the second time this season that a Penn State opponent has retreated more than it has advanced on the ground. Syracuse was thrown back for a minus yardage of 117 yards.

In keeping with their national first place in total rushing, the Higginsmen trampled the Raiders and had traveled the length of the gridiron a little over four times when the final whistle blew.

The Penn Staters piled up a total of 412 yards on the ground, the highest this season, and 103 yards passing. The top individual ground-gainers were Jeff Durkota, who toted the pigskin 98 yards, and Bill Luther with 55. Each had two touchdowns to his credit.

Although full examinations were not complete yesterday, team injuries seemed slight, according to Dr. Alfred H. Griess, team physician.

FIRST TALLY

The Lions' first score came late in the first period, when wingback Jeff Durkota took a handoff from Elwood Petchel on the 21 and raced around right end to the goal line.

The Raiders tried hard to get past the Lion forward wall, but could get nowhere, losing the ball on a fumble once and then kicking on second down.

Penn State's second tally came after five minutes of second period play, set up by a short pass from Bobby Williams to Chuck Drazenovich, who went out of bounds on the Colgate 22.

Williams then cut through center for seven yards to the 16. Aogel, on the next play, bulled through the middle, was caught, then broke away for a piece of spectacular running for the touchdown.

MORE SCORING

Touchdowns came fast and often in the second period. Jeff Durkota, making his second tally, started the parade early in the third period. Two minutes later, Bill Luther, on a reverse from Gorinski, cut off right tackle and went 40 yards to the end zone.

Gorinski finished the third quarter off by plunging over from the Raider two. The last two scores followed close upon one another when Luther again went over on an off tackle slant, and fullback Lee Henry tossed a lateral to Clarence Hummel who raced over from the 14.

Ed Czekaj brought the score total to 46-0 with his fourth successful placement kick in seven attempts.

Is Yours a Fickle Eye?

by Elizabeth Woodward
America's foremost authority on young people's problems

You've reached a point where you wonder if you ever will know what you really do think! This time last week you blew dead south. But so many things have happened since then to change your direction to due north. Right now you feel rudderless... and wishy-washy!

Somebody asks you to go somewhere. You can't make up your mind. You answer "maybe" or "I'll see"... vaguely putting off the chore of coming to grips with a decision. You don't know what you want to do. You can't decide what to eat... what to wear... who to call... what to think. You have moments when you feel completely unstrung.

And for some of you those moments last for years. You never quite get yourselves collected. You keep blowing hot and cold. Going overboard for things one minute...avoiding them like the plague the next. Falling head over tincups for people one week...blithely ignoring them the next. You wear your emotions lightly on the sleeve. And people think yours is a fickle eye.

They could put their finger on you more readily if your pros and cons stood lined up in plain sight. If you'd make it known which foot you stand on. If your opinions and interests were definite. You'd be easier to cope with...and to catalogue...if you weren't so changeable.

When you were twelve you were positive you'd grow up to be a missionary. When you were fourteen you were equally sure you'd have separate rooms when you got married. When you were fifteen you knew you'd found the love of a lifetime. You may not now agree with your former self. You've accumulated information, experience, new points of view to color your thinking.

So think as straight as you can right now. Be flatfooted in your convictions—but keep on learning new ones. Have reasons for your tastes. Make sharp decisions. It's not a fatal operation to change your mind!
