Plastering Nears Finish On Faculty Housing Project

Plastering on the new College faculty housing project, now under construction on East Campus, is nearing completion, a representative of the Steel Bilt Construction Company reported recently.

The 36-pre-fabricated buildings have already received the first coat of paint, however, the final coat will not be applied until College officials approve the color scheme. At present, various pastel shades are being used on the exteriors.

Three different types of units are under construction, according to the builders. Type A consists of an individual bedroom, living room and kitchen unit while Type B includes an extra bedroom. The third type unit contains three efficiency apartments of three rooms each.

Each of the 76 family units will be complete with bathroom, individual oil furnace, solid plaster walls, and asphalt-tile floors and are expected to be ready for occupancy by Jan. 1.

Only an unusually heavy amount of rain will delay the completion of the project, company officials stated.

Steel Bilt, a new Pittsburgh company specializing in pre-fab construction, also erected the Nittany Dormitories on East Campus.

Puckle, Smith Discuss Colonial Policy Tonight

Robert A. Smith, head of the New York Times foreign desk, and Sir Frederick Puckle, advisor to Lord Inverchapel, British ambassador to the U. S., will open the 1947-48 Community Forum lectures in Schwab Auditorium at 8 o'clock tonight. They will discuss colonial policies of England and America.

During the war, Mr. Smith, a former Rhodes scholar, served as chief of the India-Burma division of the Office of War Information and as leading commentator on Far Eastern developments for "The Voice of America" broadcasts.

N. Y. Times newsman Smith has acted as political consultant to the National Broadcasting Co. and has written radio scripts on foreign affairs for Columbia Broadcasting Co.

Sir Frederick Puckle has headed the Department of Information and Broadcasting for India and served at other posts in the Indian Civil Service. The ministerial advisor has also served as counselor for the British delegation of the United Nations General Assembly.

Tickets for six lectures, including Harold E. Stassen, GOP candidate for the Presidential nomination, are still available at Student Union for $3, according to Dr. Bruce V. Moore, head of the psychology department and chairman of the Community Forum. Single admissions for each of the lectures will be sold at the door of Schwab Auditorium for 75 cents.

Nittany Council Names Chairmen

Three committee chairmen were appointed by Nicholas Supron, president of the Nittany Dorms Council, at the Monday night meeting.

Robert Wine, who has been serving as chairman of the welfare committee since the forming of the council, was officially appointed; George Land was named head of the scholarship committee; and Wesley Eckanfelder was appointed social chairman.

Ward Haupt, chairman of the athletic committee, reported that dorm basketball teams interested in engaging in the intramural league should have their team names in to him by Thursday night.

Haupt also said that only one football game has been played so far in the elimination tournament among the dorms.

Copies of the newly-drawn constitution will be distributed among the dorm presidents at the next meeting. They will then be submitted to the men for their approval at meetings in the individual dorms.

'Belle' Editor Asks IWA Women for Photos

Betty Schiffer, chairman of the La Vie Belle photo committee for IWA, has asked that the independent senior town women submit their entries of independent senior town women for the Belle section of the La Vie.

All photographs must be turned into Student Union not later than Friday noon. The entries will then be included in the final judging along with the independent entries from the campus living units.

Miss Schiffer has requested the cooperation of the town independent women because she has found it impossible to reach all of them individually before the Friday night deadline set by the La Vie staff.

State College Electors Reject Sunday Movies

The referendum on the question of Sunday movies in State College was decided "No" by a small majority in unofficial returns last night.

Less than fifty votes determined the majority on the movie question. In unofficial figures, the North Precinct showed a slight edge in favor, with 289 voters responding "Yes," and 252 "No." In the East Precinct, 570 favored Sunday movies with 546 opposed, while the West Precinct voters defeated the measure, with 539 opposed and 439 in favor.

Fairly heavy voting was evident in the elections despite a heavy rain in the morning and a steady drizzle throughout the afternoon. Unofficial returns last night indicated that a total of 2,664 citizens voted from a registration of 4,116.

The expected close race for the county judgeship between Judge Ivan Walker, Democrat, and John G. Love, Republican, in addition to the Sunday movie referendum in State College, were credited with bringing the unusually large turnout to the polls.

Bulletin

In the last unofficial figures available before the Collegian went to press, Democratic candidate for County judge, Ivan Walker, led his Republican opponent, John G. Love, by 1038 votes, 40 precincts out of 65.

In one State College precinct, John H. Ferguson, associate professor of political science, was running fourth in a field of seven vying for four borough council seats. Mrs. Arthur K. Anderson was leading in the precinct in a contest for school director.

For the glory,
The Lion.

Lines from the Lion . . .

Dear Gang,
Am down here at Temple hooting the Owls. Tell Hum Fishburn that I've picked up a little combo in South Philly with a washboard, jug and guitar to handle the music on Saturday.

Got a "lion" on this ball-carrier Slosburg this afternoon. He'll be the fellow with the ball. He's been ordered by Coach Morrison to stop drinking Philly water to be in shape for the game.

Tell the gang I've checked on Section NH between the 10-yard and goal lines where some of them will be sitting. There's a great view from there. You can almost see the roller coaster at Willow Grove Park.

And, Al, change my address for delivering the Collegian to the fourth field light-stand on the south side of the stadium. Gotta keep it out of Temple hands. They're reading the sports page to the football team for morale purposes.

Cabinet Considers Hetzel Book Fund

All-College Cabinet will consider adopting the Hetzel Memorial Fund from its original sponsorship under the Interfraternity Council in order that it may become a campus-wide project, tomorrow, said Willard Agnew, IFC president.

The fund, which will be used to purchase books to be placed on a special shelf in the College library, is currently being supported by individual fraternity donations.

The goal for collections from each fraternity has been set at $15. Donations should be turned in to Robert Hirsh, IFC secretary-treasurer, as soon as possible Agnew said.

Navy Tickets

Tickets for the Penn State-Navy football game will go on sale at the AA window Thursday morning, said Harold R. Gilbert, graduate manager of athletics.

Thirty-five hundred tickets, of which 1000 are on the 50-yard line, will be available at $3.75 each.

Coeds Reorganize Chemical Society

Iota Sigma Pi, women's chemical honorary, will hold a reorganization meeting at the home of Dr. Pauline Beery Mack, 425 E. Hamilton avenue, at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, according to June Currie Lathrop, president.

Corresponding secretary Annette Lanning called the proposed meeting a "suggestion social." She said that members would be asked to recommend guest speakers for programs this semester as well as for the Currie Lecture, ISP's annual spring event.

The women's chemical honorary will meet regularly on the first Thursday of each month, Miss Lanning declared. Faculty advisor for the group is Dr. Mary L. Willard. Dr. Pauline B. Mack is national president.

Members Sought For Ed Council

Nominations for the School of Education Student Council close today at 5 o'clock, said Jack Bohm, chairman of the organization committee.

All students in the School of Education who are interested in serving on a student council are urged by Bohm to give their names, semester, activities and average to the head of their respective departments.

Every 100 students or major fraction thereof in each department of the school will be represented by one councilman.

According to present enrollment figures, Bohm pointed out, the secondary and elementary education departments and the home economics department will each have five representatives, psychology will have three and the music and industrial education departments will have one each.

The department head will nominate three times the number of representatives necessary. Councilmen will be chosen in a school-wide election next Wednesday.

Ag Council Pictures To Precede Meeting

Immediately following, the regular business meeting will be conducted in 109 Ag.

Plans for the Harvest Ball will be made, with Neil Gingrich and Emory Brown, co-chairmen of the dance committee, in charge. A new business chairman, publicity chairman, and treasurer will be named. The latter office was recently vacated through the resignation of Robert R. Pennington.

The Council will also name a committee on elections, which will take place next February.

NLRB Enforces Law

WASHINGTON — The National Labor Relations Board has made its first move to enforce requirements of the Taft-Hartley law in connection with bargaining elections. The NLRB threw out three cases involving unions of John L. Lewis and Philip Murray and the CIO furniture workers.

Under the Taft-Hartley law, union leaders must file non-Communist affidavits to use NLRB facilities. But the deadline for affidavits passed without non-Communist vouchers from Lewis, who heads the United Mine Workers, or the furniture workers.

Chinese Relief

WASHINGTON — The State Department disclosed today that China is scheduled to receive more than 27-million dollars in relief supplies from a 332-million dollar American relief fund.

Chinese communists will not get much of the rice and wheat, because most of it is scheduled for distribution in coastal cities.

One-Man Strike

ROME — The village of Selva, Italy, was dark last night because of a one-man strike for more pay. The striker, Luigi Bellini, wants more money for throwing the switch that supplies electrical power to Selva.

How much more does he want? Ten cents a year!
