Foreign Aid Proposal

WASHINGTON—A special subcommittee is considering a proposal to form a new government agency to regulate one phase of the aid to Europe program. The new agency would be controlled by Congress and would have the say in the distribution of food and fuel to needy nations under the Marshall plan.

Hughes Case Reopened

WASHINGTON—Senator John Williams, a member of the Senate War Investigating Committee, demanded that millionaire Howard Hughes be charged with nearly $6,000,000 in additional tax assessment. He asserted that a study of tax records of Hughes and the Hughes companies showed a tax deficiency of that amount. Committee chairman Ferguson has emphasized that the tax issue involves no crime or fraud on the part of Hughes or the planemaker's companies.

Dewey on Aid Plan

NEW YORK—Governor Thomas E. Dewey asserted yesterday that the United States has no choice except to assist nations standing with it in the world. He expressed the opinion that the Russians are depending on failure of the United States to help needy countries as a way of bringing about communist revolutions.

Poles Indict Embassy

WARSAW—The Polish government said last night that one of the embassies in Warsaw assisted in the escape of opposition leader Stanislaw Mikolajczyk from his homeland, but refused to identify the embassy. The arrest in Czechoslovakia of three members of the group that escaped with Mikolajczyk was also announced. Pg. 5m top

Hall and McAllister Hall. Additional pledge blanks will be available at Student Union.

With a statement of the pledge total, the Cooperative Store outline will be submitted to the Board of Trustees Wednesday night. Realization of the store hinges on approval by this board, Brown said. The pledges, he asserted, will demonstrate live student interest, and financial soundness. The committee hopes for a minimum total of $1,500.

If passed by the Trustees, the Co-op Store will be realized by February 1. Temporary Union Building is the proposed location. Using the existing Student Book Exchange as a nucleus, the store will also sell paper, pencils, note books, and other incidental supplies. Eventually a toilet article counter will be included.

Eliminating middleman profits is the chief aim of the store, Brown declares. Articles will be sold at cost price plus a minimum overhead charge. Any accumulated profits will be returned to students in the form of lower prices on future sales.

The Co-op Store will be entirely student managed. At the helm will be a student elected board of directors.
